Coast Champ Takes Woman's Western Title Second Time

Indian Hill's big splash of the year in golf, the Women's Western championship, was featured by sterling play, large galleries of north shore notables and a triumph by Mrs. Harry Pressler of Los Angeles, who achieved the notable feat of becoming a "repeater," having captured the title last year. It was a north shore golfer who survived the hectic early rounds of the tournament to meet the Los Angeles star, this being Miss Virginia Wilson of Glenview. The score was 7 and 6.

Among the starters in the championship which finished last Saturday were several north shore players, but all fell by the wayside as Mrs. Pressler and Miss Wilson survived round after round. Among these stars was Mrs. Austin Pardue, the former Dorothy Klotz, who put up a great battle, but was eliminated.

The final was a great contest. Mrs. Pressler came from behind and displayed impressive golf; while Miss Wilson, after a brilliant start, seemed to tire in the second round and found many of the traps.

Offer Liberal Arts Night Courses at N. U. This Year

The college of liberal arts of Northwestern university will offer for the first time next fall a group of courses at night on the McKinlock campus, Dean R. A. Kent announced this week. Classes in English, French, history, political science, psychology, sociology and zoology will be conducted by regular members of the college faculty. The courses will carry credit toward a liberal arts degree, Dean Kent announced. The classes will be held in the Montgomery Ward memorial building.
