News of the Theaters"Drums of Love" Is on Teatro del Lago Program Next Week

"The Thirteenth Hour," the last of the Teatro del Lago's Revival Week pictures, will be shown this Saturday, September 15. It is a Lionel Barrymore picture in which that famous actor plays the part of a mysterious professor. The police dog, Napoleon, also plays a prominent part in the picture. In spite of trapdoors, secret panels, and underground passages, this crafty canine outsmarts the villains.

Jack Mulhall, celebrated stage and screen actor, is featured in the title role of "The Butter and Egg Man," coming to the Teatro del Lago this Sunday. He has strong competition in his supporting cast. The Swedish beauty, Greta Nissen, enacts the leading feminine role. The picture adheres closely to the famous stage play by the same name.

It is with justifiable pride that the Teatro del Lago announces D. W. Griffith's new United Artists picture, "Drums of Love," for screening next Monday and Tuesday, September 17 and 18. Adapted from the historical incident of Francesca da Rimini, Griffith's new independently produced spectacle is heralded by those who have seen it as his greatest achievement since "The Birth of a Nation." Mary Philbin, the adorable heroine of "Merry-Go-Round" and "The Phantom of the Opera," makes her debut as a Griffith player, as do Don Alvarado and William Austin.

"Home, James," the story of a department store clerk, played by Laura LaPlante, will be the Teatro attraction for next Wednesday. Miss LaPlante has an unusually good vehicle in this picture, better even than most of her past successes. The blonde star is able to show her genius for comedy throughout the picture. There are many scenes that are outstanding, notably that in which she pantomimes her boss behind the frosted glass door of the office.

SIGNS NEW CONTRACT

Emil Jannings, famous character actor who is now working on "Sins of the Fathers," has signed a new contract. Jannings has made four pictures in America—"The Way of All Flesh," "The Last Command," "The Street of Sin," and "The Patriot."

REVIVE STAGE COMEDY

James Gleason, author and star of "Is Zat So," will revive the famous stage comedy in Hollywood as soon as his motion picture activities permit.

Bubbles Steifel, the future Mrs. Reginald Denny, will appear opposite him again in "Red Hot Speed."

Harold Lloyd is scheduled to appear soon in "Butterfly Chaser," wherein he plays a bespectacled scientist.

Mary Nolan will have a leading role in "Come Across."

VITAPHONE INSTALLEDVarsity Theater of Evanston Books "The Jazz Singer" As First Sound Picture Presentation

The Varsity theater of Evanston in announcing the installation of new improved Vitaphone equipment states that it has booked Al Jolson's famous starring picture, "The Jazz Singer," for next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, September 17, 18 and 19. Jolson plays the son of a Jewish rabbi who leaves home after his father has punished him for singing at a cabaret, and who, after making a success on Broadway, returns home only to find his father determined to keep him out of the house.

Throughout the picture the steadfast loyalty of the jazz singer's mother in spite of the rebukes of his father furnishes Jolson ample opportunity to sing his mammy songs with the same perfection that has made him so popular on the stage. There is a touching scene as the jazz singer's father on his deathbed finally forgives his son and gives him his blessing.

"Glorious Betsy" Next

The sound picture which will follow "The Jazz Singer" into the Varsity is "Glorious Betsy," which will be shown there Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week. It is a charming tale of the early nineteenth century. Jerome Bonaparte, masquerading as a tutor in old Marse Patterson's Baltimore mansion, falls in love with the beautiful daughter of the household. He wins her love, reveals his identity, and marries her. The two go to France where the Emperor Napoleon is highly indignant. He wanted Jerome to marry a princess. Betsy is shipped back to Baltimore. There is a happy, but uncompany.

The picture is a pretty one, with the lovely Dolores Costello lending beauty to the role once played by Mary Manning.

Al Kvale Coming Back as Norshore Director

Al Kvale, fresh from triumphs at the Oriental theater, is coming back to the Norshore theater, starting Sunday, September 16, as permanent conductor, once more associated with his famous jazz collegians.

Al Kvale, the jazz clown, defines the word "close-ups" in the following manner: a snapshot revue of fashions, modes and events. So, with this original definition, Al has prepared a gala show entitled "Close-up." Milady fair will parade in gala array, surrounded by a galaxy of dazzling dancing girls, in the very ultra-modern fashions, and talent will abound in this latest Kvale caper.

Al will offer to his many fans a rapid series of close-ups, alternating his many novelty acts with his incomparable merry gang who will offer the latest popular hits of the day. Dancers, singers, and an unusual chorus of beauties will flash on the stage in a dazzling array, to delight the ear and eye.

John Gilbert and Joan Crawford will be seen on the screen in their latest co-starring picture, "Four Walls," taken from the stage play of the same name. Also included in an all star cast is Carmel Myers. The film has elaborated on the stage play in such an extensive manner as to be a wholly delightful entertainment.
