

Purple Pry Open
Grid Season With
Butler's Finest

The largest opening day crowd in the history of football at Northwestern university is expected to attend the Butler-Purple game this Saturday, according to the present brisk demands for ducats.

Over 15,000 season books have already been sold which is several thousand in excess of last year's mark. Loyola university varsity which meets the Purple reserves will bring several thousand students and alumni which added to the Northwestern student body and season ticket holders is expected to boost the total attendance well over 30,000.

Butler university is also sending over a thousand rooters in a special train to see the Bulldogs in action against Coach Hanley's proteges. The Indianapolis school is entertaining fond hopes to slipping over a win over their Big Ten opponents and according to the dope they stand a good chance of succeeding.

Several thousand Boy Scouts from Chicago and surrounding towns will also be in attendance at the opening game as guests of the university.

Butler is especially well fortified this year with a strong backfield. Coach Patsy Clark has the veteran "Red" Fromuth at quarterback. Hubert "Curley" Hinchman, one of the hardest hitting fullbacks in Butler history is expected to give the Purple plenty of trouble. In John Cavosie, the Bulldogs have a sophomore halfback who is reputed to be unusually adept at the passing and kicking game as well as carrying the ball. Other ball carriers are Francis Royce, 175 pound letterman; Oral Hutchins, good left handed passer and Edwin Allen, member of the track team who steps the 100 in 10 seconds flat.

The line also stacks up well with such hefty veterans as George Fredenberger, William Bugg and Jim Nicely at the jobs. William McCarthy, 190 pound sophomore guard candidate is expected to be in the starting lineup. Tackles are Willard Warth, Robert Schopf and George Haftzger, all lettermen.

Coach Roger Kiley's Loyola eleven will bring a tough eleven Evanstonward. Good men in nearly every position have come up from the Frosh ranks to fill vacancies through graduation. The most promising of the backs are Tony Lawless and Bob Burke, fullbacks; Jack Downs, Harry Faul, Les Malloy and Emmet Etu, halfbacks and Corney Collins and Ellis Durkin, quarterbacks.
