Illinois Sure to Set Road Building Record This Year

With several weeks to go in which it will be possible to push the work of pouring concrete as a part of the state highway system, construction work in Illinois is nearing the record for 1924, when 1,230 miles of concrete pavement were constructed. The record to date exceeds that of the same period for 1924, with indications the yearly total will be considerably above that of four years ago, when a world's record was established.

Reports received by the Division of Highways from the various contractors indicate additions are being made to the concrete slab comprising the state highway system at a rate of approximately ten miles a day.

Official figures of the Division of Highways show Illinois now has 7,700 miles of hard roads comprising the state highway system, a mileage more than double that of any other state in the union. This mileage includes 218.62 miles widened or replaced.

Horse-Drawn Vehicles Scarce in Big Cities

The one-horse shay, the aristocratic means of transportation in bygone days, is a rare sight on the highways today and attracts almost as much attention as an airplane did a few years ago. The adjutant general of the army has a valuable collection of historic carriages, some used by Presidents, as a reminder of the days when the horse-drawn vehicles were the thing in the transportation life of the nation. In many of the larger cities, including Washington and New York, there are a few horse-drawn carriages operated for the benefit of sightseers. But there is no more significant indication of a motorized age than to see these carriages with their faded upholstery, driven by an aged negro in tattered livery.

Autumn Plans Keep Keith Family Busy

Mrs. Carl Keith of 310 Warwick road, Kenilworth has as her guest, her sister, Miss Elizabeth Alling of New York, who will be here for a fortnight.
Many informal parties have been given for her since her arrival.

Miss Jean Keith has entered her first year at the Emma Willard School at Troy, N. Y. and Carl Keith, Jr. is again at Illinois university where he is a junior this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Hughston McBain (formerly Margaret Keith) until now of Evanston, have bought a house in west Kenilworth into which they expect to move within the next week.
Mrs. C. M. Larsen, the former, Cornelia Keith, is moving to Geneva this week.

Charles A. Howe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Howe of Kenilworth has returned to Knox college at Galesburg, Ill. He is entering his sophomore year.
