

CONG'L CHURCH BIDS FAREWELL TO PASTOR

he stood, his usual modest smiling self, while the moderator presented him with the resolutions.

Dr. Richards replied in his own gracious way, with deep feeling but with a touch of humor that for the moment relieved the pent-up emotions of his audience. Referring to the resolutions, he said that while he could not believe all the generous things their affection had led them to say of him, nor believe he was the kind of minister they described, he could say from his heart that that was the kind of minister he wished he might be.

At the close of the meeting ample opportunity was given for a farewell hand-clasp, and the congregation, one by one, availed themselves of it.

Community Players to Give Play Here November 14 and 15

Husky Triangle Teams in Search of Competitors

The season's activities of the Winnetka Triangle club which are now getting well underway are branching out into bowling, as well as indoor baseball.

The four teams of the club are bowling every Friday night at the Glenview alleys, the contest being for individual high scores, first, second and third team honors.

The Triangle athletes readily admit their rapid development of stellar material indicates an early challenge to some good teams, provided strong competition can be found.

Two indoor games have been tentatively booked, one being with the Bowman Dairy team. The Triangle indoor organization is open for match games. This challenge is open to any team, regardless of size or previous record. Indoor baseball games are played every Wednesday evening at 8:30, at Community House.

The club will give a card party at Community House Thursday evening, October 25. There will be "500," whist and bunco, dancing, and refreshments.
