Women Voters' News

The Winnetka League of Women Voters, due to its very large membership, is entitled to a very large delegation at the Annual State Convention to be held in Moline November 12 to 15. Mrs. A. Montague Ferry, president of the Winnetka League, would like to know of those members who would be interested in attending in order that they may receive delegates' credentials. Among those who have signified their intention of going are Mrs. Ferry, Mrs. William G. Hibbard, Mrs. W. L. Ninabuck, Mrs. E. W. Morehouse, Mrs. Walter Benson, Mrs. John Van der Vries, Mrs. R. C. McNamara, and Mrs. A. J. Boynton. Information as to the special busses which will be chartered by the league for the trip to and from Moline may be obtained from Mrs. Ferry. Mrs. John Van der Vries will speak on Tuesday evening to the Young Woman's auxiliary of the Glencoe Woman's club. It will be a pre-election talk from the League of Women Voters viewpoint.

The membership campaign of the Winnetka League of Women Voters under the direction of Mrs. Dudley K. French, membership chairman, will close on Saturday evening. During the past week block captains have been allowed to work outside of their own territory in securing memberships and renewals. Prizes will be given to the block captain in each precinct who secures the most new memberships and renewals. The prizes will be subscriptions to the Woman's Journal.

Mrs. Hymen Raclin, treasurer of the league, will be assisted in the strenuous work incidental to the membership campaign by Mrs. Lee Walker.

Through the courtesy of the Winnetka Public library the Winnetka League of Women Voters has been given a space in the library which will contain the publications of the national and state league, together with such literature as relates to the political and economic subjects in which the league is interested.

It is interesting to note that General Motors, the Department of the Interior and the League of Women Voters have something very much in common. Leaves of absence have deprived them all of valued leaders.

We are in no position to reconcile this sort of conduct with the customs, by-laws, or policies of the first two institutions. We are, however, well equipped to cite chapter and verse for this behavior on the part of League members. Section two of Article II of the National By-Laws while stressing the non-partisan character of the League urges the individual members to become party members.

When officers of the League undertake active party work a safeguarding procedure must be found so that no slightest doubt may be cast on the non-partisanship of the League as an organization. What the procedure should be is a matter for the officer herself and her board to determine.

The campaign year finds an unusual number of League leaders active in party work. The National Executive Committee in September voted leaves of absence to Mrs. Maud Wood Park, counselor on legislation, and Miss Gertrude Ely, counselor on new voters. Mrs. Park is now campaigning for Mr. Hoover while Miss Ely is speaking for Mr. Smith. Another interesting parallel exists in the case of Mrs. Casper Whitney and Mrs. Arthur Ringland. Both were members of the National Board last year but did not stand for re-election, and both are members now of the radio committee of the National League which has arranged the well-balanced programs of the "Voters' Service" since January 1. Mrs. Whitney in addition is chairman of the Women's Independent Committee for Smith, and Mrs. Ringland is an active worker in the Women's Committee for Hoover. The chairman of the latter committee is Mrs. F. Louis Slade, former officer of the National League of Women Voters, who was granted leave of absence from her duties as vice-president of the New York League of Women Voters when she entered upon active campaign work. A similar case with somewhat different treatment is that of Mrs. William G. Hibbard, vice-president of the Illinois League of Women Voters and former member of the National Board. The Illinois Board is reported to have accepted the resignation she submitted in order that she might be free to campaign for the Democratic candidate. Two former National League staff members, Miss Josephine Schain and Miss Marguerite Woolley, are also campaigning, Miss Schain associated with Mrs. Slade's committee and Miss Woolley with Miss Ely.—From the October Bulletin of the National League of Women Voters.

GUIDE LECTURE TOURS

"Man at the Dawn of History" and "The Moon and Meteorites" at 11 and 3 o'clock, respectively, Monday, October 29, are the subjects of the first of next week's guide-lecture tours at Field Museum of Natural History. Other days subjects are: Tuesday, "Palms and Their Uses" and "Marine Animals"; Wednesday, "American Indian Dwellings" and "Chicago Birds and Animals"; Thursday, two general tours, and Friday, "The Eskimo" and "African Game Animals." These tours conducted by the museum staff are free. Parties assemble inside north entrance.
