Yule Lane Holiday Shops Open Dec. 4

Thirty-Eight Days Are Busy Ones for Shops, Managers, Chairmen

By L. B. B.

*There are shops that make you foolish;
There are shops that make you sad;
There are also shops that please you,
Shops whose service make you glad.
There are shops that make you feel in clover,
'Till their prices moderate your glee,
But the shops to make you smile all over
Are the Holiday Shops, you'll see.*

There are only fifty-nine days until Christmas, but don't do your shopping too early. It is safe to wait at least thirty-eight days until the Yule Lane Holiday Shops open in Community House on Tuesday, December 4, at 1:30, continuing through Wednesday evening. At this time one may be able to solve every gift problem easily and economically. At a recent meeting of the various chairmen, it was learned that many Winnetka women have been busy all summer fashioning exquisite and unusual articles while others, who have spent the summer abroad, have collected many interesting objects for the Shops. And the men—but what they are doing is to be announced later.

Following is a list of the Yule Lane Shops and their managers:

Arts and Crafts, by Winnetka men—Dr. James O. Ely.

Aprons and Utilities — Mrs. David Lasier, Mrs. Dudley French.

Bags and Baskets — Mrs. Rudolph Matz.

Books and Cards—Mrs. Austin Jenkins, Mrs. Sherman Aldrich.

Boudoir and Closet—Mrs. Morris Wilson, Mrs. Edmund Bartlett.

Candy and Flowers — Mrs. Lawrence Norem.

Children's Requirements — Mrs. J. M. Winscott, Mrs. Warren Agry.

Country House—Mrs. Frederick Scott, Mrs. John Scott.

Dolls—Mrs. William Ayer McKinney, Mrs. Stephen Foster.

Fancy Boxes—Mrs. Montague Ferry, Mrs. John Cadmus.

Fancy Work—Mrs. Percy Bradstreet, Mrs. Landon Hoyt.

Pictures—Mrs. J. W. F. Davies, Mrs. William E. Davis.

Stop and Shop—Mrs. D. W. Poff.

Traveling Accessories — Mrs. Arthur Barrett, Mrs. William Triesdale.

Mrs. Lee Adams and Mrs. William Groene are directing the Old English Street vendors. Mrs. Fletcher Marsh and Mrs. Sidney Bartlett have ideas for a Puppet show and Children's entertainment which probably adults, also, will wish to attend. The Tea room is in charge of Mrs. Heber Smith and Mrs. I. B. Connor. Mrs. Royal Hoagland and Mrs. Robert Smith will serve the luncheons. The dinner on Wednesday evening, at the Yule Lane Inn, is to be a happy holiday affair under the management of Mrs. James White and Mrs. John L. Hamilton. Mrs. Roger Ballard is planning the decorations.

The proceeds of the Shops are to go towards the building fund of the new Congregational church. As this church aims to serve the whole village whenever possible, it is hoped that the whole village will take an interest in the Yule Lane Holiday Shops.

The Order of the Eastern Star will give a food sale beginning at 10:30 o'clock this morning in Eckhart's hardware store. The organization will have all kinds of cooked foods on sale including cakes, pies, jellies, and jams.

Art of Needlework Explained at Talk at the Woman's Club

On Wednesday morning, October 24, the third of the series of six lectures on the "Art and Science of Homemaking" was given at the Winnetka Woman's club. Mrs. E. V. L. Brown, chairman of the Arts and Literature committee, introduced the speaker, Mrs. M. I. Perkins, who is a foreign buyer for Marshall Field and Company and at the head of its art needlework department.

Mrs. Perkins has made an intensive study of needlework at home and in European countries for many years and was unusually well qualified to speak with authority on her subject, "At the Point of the Needle." She brought with her a large assortment of handwork which she exhibited, answering questions, explaining the methods required in making the different kinds and the approximate cost.

Mrs. Perkins opened her talk by asking, "Why have we not done more needlework?" She said there were many reasons, but the principal one was that everyone felt that she had not much time to spend on it. She showed some Cluny tapestries and explained with what difficulty their designs are obtained since no one is allowed to sketch in a European museum. The artist must study the tapestry there, then strive to reproduce the design elsewhere. She also brought beaded centerpieces, sweaters, bed spreads, towels, afghans and hook rugs, with samples of the newest ones, the clipped hook rugs.

Mrs. Perkins had a most interested and appreciative audience to whom she gave many valuable ideas for needlework of all kinds that could easily be done at home at a nominal cost.
