Nelson L. Greene to Talk on "Movies"

Woman's Club Opens Meeting
November 20 for Lecture on
"Movies and the Home"

The civics and philanthropy committee of which Mrs. Gross Williams is chairman, announces that Nelson L. Greene will be the speaker at the regular meeting of the Winnetka Woman's club, Tuesday, November 20. Mr. Greene will speak on "Movies and the Home," a subject which should make a great appeal to every family with children interested in the movies.

Mr. Greene was an instructor in Princeton and Brown universities for nearly fifteen years, leaving that work to go to France and serve under the French army during the World war. It was at this time that he became interested, more or less by accident, in the vast possibilities of motion pictures in education work. After his return to this country he gave up teaching to go into the "visual field."

Since 1919 Mr. Greene has edited magazines devoted to the subject of educational pictures and as the work has grown the importance of its has become more evident. Obviously the motion picture is an enormous factor in the field of education and the theatrical film even more than the non-theatrical one deserves study and consideration because of its close bearing on the conduct and lives of our young people. Since 1922 Mr. Greene has been the editor of "The Educational Screen," the only magazine in the country devoted exclusively to this subject.

Because this subject has been of especially vital interest to all parents for several years past, the meeting on Tuesday is to be an open meeting to which all members of the community, both friends and those who are yet strangers, are most cordially invited.

Last of Homemaking Talks Given in Winnetka Nov. 21

(Contributed)

The last of the very interesting course of lectures upon the Art of Homemaking offered by the art and literature committees of the Winnetka Woman's club will be given Wednesday morning, November 21, at 10 o'clock. The lecture will be given in the club rooms by Professor Mary Koll Heiner of the home economics department of the University of Chicago.

With the advent of the automobile, life suddenly became most complex, and some one was inspired to help that generation through a book upon "How to Live on Twenty-four Hours a Day." The problems of that yesterday now seem but child's play as compared with the speed of today, and we welcome gladly an opportunity to learn how to be more efficient in the organization of our daily programs.

Professor Heiner will talk upon the "Organization of Our time."

TO BROADCAST

Miss Miriam Brubaker, director of the junior kindergarten in the children's school, National Kindergarten and Elementary college, will speak on "What We Should Expect of the Pre-School Child in the way of Abilities and Habits," over WMAQ, the Chicago Daily News broadcasting station, on Monday afternoon, November 19, at 4:30.

At Woman's Club

BY M. L.

For most women, financial management is confined to the simple field of housekeeping, but for so many, there comes a time when the greater responsibilities of financing a family, determining investments, providing a future, must be borne alone and then without adequate training, the burden is found exceedingly heavy. In the past ten years that burden has been heavier than ever because of the complexity of our taxes which effect investments in such diverse ways.

With this in mind it was deemed of inestimable value to include in the general course on homemaking, offered by the art and literature and the education committees of the Winnetka Woman's club, one lecture on the management of finances. Wednesday morning, November 14, therefore, Mrs. James Fentress, who is chairman of the education committee, presented to the class, A. B. Hussander of the Illinois Merchants Trust company who gave a most enlightening talk on trust service and explained how a woman's financial burdens may be lightened and how safe provision may be made for the future.

Although there has been trust service for practically a hundred years, it has been only five years since that helpful agency developed into the usefulness we now recognize today. Now, that service not only enables a man to relieve his widow and children of financial responsibilities, but also he may relieve himself of as much care as he chooses, through what is termed "living trusts."

Before explaining the various types of trust service to be found, Mr. Hussander first spoke of the advisability of wills. He defined the offices of executor, administrator, and trustee, and then advanced to an explanation of the "trust under will," the "trust by agreement," "insurance trust," and "custodianship service." Each of these various forms of trust service is meeting the peculiar needs of estates, estates of those who have gone and estates of the living, meeting their problems with the sincere earnest study, conservative policy, and efficiency of a group of trained advisors. Under such direction, investments and incomes are safely guarded from indiscreet, improvident individuals and their safety is assured.

Mrs. William Collins, vice-president of the district, presided at the afternoon session. The musical program deserves the highest possible praise. It embodied all the beauty, quality, and charm befitting a program devoted to the art of music.

Mrs. Walter L. Vance, director of the Highland Park Music club chorale, has a beautifully trained voice of natural lyric quality and has been most successful in training and directing this group.

The "Woodland Vignettes," by Berenice Bentley added great charm to the afternoon. These are to be published soon. Her compositions are filled with unique originality and inspire her listeners to a deeper love of nature.

The speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. J. Marc Fowler, state president of the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs, gave an interesting address on "Federation Work," stressing particularly its power for good in the small community.
