

Chicago Industries Are Represented in Employment Bureau

All types of Chicago industries and commercial houses are represented in the Business Men's Advisory committee for the employment bureau of the Y. W. C. A., according to the announcement made this week by Mrs. Robert DeGolyer, 850 Auburn road, Hubbard Woods, chairman of this service program. Crushed stone for buildings and railroads, advertising, a steel corporation, a bank, a bond house and the vocational department of the University of Chicago are represented in the appointment of William Press Hodgkins, Walther Buchen, Clarence Randall, Herman D. Smith, Scott Bromwell and Robert Woellner.

"The advantage of an employment placement service having the benefit of the employer's own point of view is evident in this committee," says Mrs. DeGolyer. "Business houses which are not yet calling Miss Harriet Houghton, our employment secretary, when in need of any kind of office help, will be interested in our service through the personal work of this new committee.

"During the past year 14,107 interviews were given girl job seekers in addition to 342 who were given definite vocational guidance. The total number of girls registering for jobs was 6,117, including 1,374 newcomers to the city. Jobs filled include bookkeepers, cashiers, clerks, institutional workers, secretaries and stenographers, social workers, telephone operators, typists and part time workers," says Mrs. DeGolyer, in summing up the service of the department.

"Our purpose is to make every girl happy in her work, sending out the best girl for each job after a careful analysis. The placement and vocational counselling is being directed by Miss Harriet Houghton, who has had wide experience in New York, Richmond, and other cities. A special employment service for industrial and domestic workers is maintained at the West side branch, 101 S. Ashland boulevard," the chairman adds.

Mrs. Alfred Runnefeldt, 1037 Spruce street, was hostess at a luncheon for thirty-five guests at her home last Monday in celebration of her birthday which is on Armistice day.

Music School Teacher in Recital at the Playhouse

Mieczyslaw Ziolkowski, one of the artist-teachers of the Columbia School of Music, gave a piano recital on Sunday, November 11, at the Playhouse, Chicago, under the direction of Bertha Ott. Mr. Ziolkowski is a new member of the faculty of the Columbia school, who is highly indorsed by the celebrated Polish pianist, Mr. Paderewski. Mr. Ziolkowski is a great artist and a real musician, who showed in his playing the same beautiful tone quality and command of the keyboard Mr. Paderewski has. The Chicago musicians extend a hearty welcome to this new artist.

Dr. Rosanna McKenney of 916 Spanish court gave an afternoon tea last Wednesday in honor of her sister, Mrs. William P. Hogan of Minneapolis, who has been her houseguest for the past week.
