Al Kvale Is Back; Norshore to Show Colman-Banky Film

Al Kvale, popular orchestra director at the Norshore theater, will be back this Saturday, Nov. 17, to direct the Jazz Collegians in a gala stage show called "Pickin' Peaches." Al has been spending the last week as guest conductor at the new Paradise theater on the west side.

The screen offering for the week will be "Two Lovers," ranked among the best by both local and national movie critics. "Two Lovers" is said to be the final co-starring picture of Ronald Colman and Vilma Banky. It is a fascinating story of princes and lost thrones, of a tyrant's oppression and the spectacular feats of a masked swordsman who seems to be always on the spot when a good deed needs doing.

The work of Vilma Banky and Ronald Colman in "Two Lovers" is smooth, romantic, and pictorially satisfying as usual. The mob scenes are impressive, and sometimes unusual, as when the loyal sons of Flanders go through a swamp up to their teeth in mud to reach the castle and protect their prince. The picture is exceptionally well done from every point of view.

Mackaill, Mulhall Star in Picture at Varsity

Dorothy Mackaill and Jack Mulhall have the principal roles in "Waterfront," picture now showing at the Varsity theater in Evanston. Miss Mackaill, as the daughter of a tugboat captain, lives with her father and grandfather in a house at the end of a pier and young Mr. Mulhall comes along as oiler on a tramp steamer. His courtship of the captain's daughter is tough and heady and much beset with storms and treacherous calms. The lady has a set idea that she wants to live at the sea side. Father and lover, who hate each other cordially at first, bury the hatchet and unite for the purpose of making Miss Peggy Ann want what she doesn't want, that is, to settle down on a farm. They concoct a truly masculine plan that works out as the picture will show you.

"Women They Talk About" will be shown at the Varsity next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. The picture has been called "the best talkie yet." It boasts a cast including Irene Rich, Audrey Ferris, William Collier, Jr., and Claude Gillingwater. One of the best things about the picture is Irene Rich's excellent vitaphone voice. Claude Gillingwater proves that an ex-stage actor, though effective on the silent screen, is much more so in a sound film. He gives a charming characterization of an irritable old gentleman who enjoys his enemies. The picture is well directed.

Theater Ticket Service Launched in Evanston

The North Shore hotel in Evanston has opened a theater ticket service for north shore residents under the management of Mildred D. Roche. Seats for the big musical comedies, operettas, plays and similar entertainment in the loop and outlying theaters can now be obtained in the lobby of the North Shore hotel, or by calling Greenleaf 6684. The announcement concerning the new theater ticket service states that special attention will be given to matinee and evening theater parties.

D. A. R. Recommends That You See These Pictures

The following films are recommended by Mrs. Newton D. Chapman of the better films committee of the Daughters of the American Revolution:

"The Patriot"—Paramount. Emil Jannings in a thrilling story of Paul I of Russia. Adult entertainment.

"The Dragnet"—Paramount. George Bancroft and Evelyn Brent in a story of the underworld. Not for nervous women and children but for the tired business man.

"A Certain Young Man"—Metro. A drama of English society life the whole family will enjoy.

"A Ship Comes In"—Pathe. Immigrant life in America. For the family.

"Finders Keepers"—Universal. An amusing story of army camps at the beginning of the war. Again the whole family may go.

"The Yellow Lily"—First National. Billie Dove and Clive Brook in an adaptation of Lajos Biro's famous stage play. For adults.

"Varsity"—Paramount. Buddy Rogers in a picture stressing the evils of drink. For adults.

"The Mysterious Lady"—Metro. Greta Garbo as a Russian spy. For the family.

"Street Angel"—Fox. Appealing love story with Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell. Adults.

"White Shadows"—Warner. Monte Blue in a beautifully photographed picture of the South Seas.

"Show Folks," Theatrical Picture to Be at Granada

"Show Folks," another yarn about the struggles of the theatrical people, will be shown at the Granada for one week beginning this Saturday, November 17. It is a talking picture of backstage life. The personality kid, Eddie Quilan, who has one of the principal roles, proves amusing. Lina Basquette plays opposite him. Others in the picture are Robert Armstrong, Bessie Barriscale, and Carol Lombard.

Charles Kaley and his orchestra will have a new stage creation ready for Granada patrons.

Robert N. Lee has been engaged by Universal to adapt and scenarize the Leonard Praskins and Ernest Pascal play, "The Charlatan," which was produced in New York at the Times Square theater by Adolph Klauber.

Alcyon to Get Complete Sound Picture Equipment

Definite announcement comes from the Alcyon theater in Highland Park that vitaphone, movietone, and complete talking picture equipment will be installed within the next few weeks. This will make the Alcyon the first motion picture house in the north shore villages having sound picture equipment.

Meanwhile, the Graeme Players, who continue to delight capacity Friday night audiences at the Alcyon with their excellent presentation of well known plays, will present the youthful three-act comedy drama, "Mama's Boy," with Joe Driscoll in the leading role. The picture for the evening will be Glenn Tryon in the comedy, "How to Handle Women."

LUNCHEON FOR ACTRESSES

Mrs. Harland Fankboner, formerly of Winnetka, and now of Chicago, entertained a number of her Winnetka friends at a bridge luncheon Friday at her home in honor of Miss Gladys Hansen of "The Queen's Husband" company and Miss Mary Helen Nash of "The Command to Love" company now playing in Chicago.
