JOURNALISTS CONVENE

Sigma Delta Chi Holds Its Annual National Convention in Evanston

Northwestern university was host this week to 75 visiting delegates of the 40 chapters of Sigma Delta Chi, national journalistic fraternity, who assembled for their annual convention.

Men active in the newspaper world of Chicago and surrounding states, some of whom are alumni of the fraternity, were speakers at the convention sessions. James A. Stuart, national president and editor of the Indianapolis Star, presided, and among those who addressed the gathering were:

Karl A. Bickel, president of the United Press, who stressed the importance of news coming from Latin America; Harry F. Harrington, director of the Medill school of Journalism of Northwestern; S. J. Duncan-Clark, chief editorial writer of the Chicago Evening Post; William S. Hedges, radio editor of the Chicago Daily News; Clyde C. Hamilton, aviation editor of the News; Arthur G. Sheekman, column conductor, Chicago Daily Journal.

President Walter Dill Scott addressed the assembly at luncheon Tuesday noon. Among the affairs arranged by the local chapter to fete the visiting journalists were a luncheon Monday which Mayor Charles H. Bartlett addressed; a tea given by Theta Sigma Phi, women's national journalistic fraternity; a smoker at the Press club of Chicago, dinners at the university fraternity houses and a dance at the North Shore hotel last night.

Katherine Stolp, 336 Warwick road, left Wednesday evening to visit her former roommate at Pine Manor, N. Y., Mrs. John C. Nelson of Cincinnati, Ohio. She expects to be gone until Thanksgiving.

Mrs. Alfred McDougall, 325 Abbottsford road, Kenilworth, motored to Peoria last Wednesday to spend a week with her cousin, Miss Sally Jack.

Portrait and Mural Artist Entertained in Kenilworth

Elsa Jemne, well-known portrait and mural artist, is the guest of Mrs. Paul T. Gilbert, 554 Brier street, Kenilworth. She has been giving a one man exhibit of Indian portraits this week at the Indian Trading post in Chicago. Fred Leighton of the trading post gave a reception for Mrs. Jemne on Wednesday night. Among those who attended was Mrs. Harold Ickes of Winnetka.

Mrs. Jemne was here last year to paint the portrait of the Louis Swifts' son in Lake Forest. She is being extensively entertained while in town.

Mrs. Clayton B. Burch, 163 Abingdon avenue, Kenilworth, entertained her bridge club at her home this week.

Mrs. Bruce MacLeish, 85 Wentworth avenue, returned Wednesday evening from the east bringing with her her daughter, Jean, who has been attending

Wellesley. Miss MacLeish who made her debut this fall before leaving for college will be home until after the Christmas holidays.
