

he educated himself by "burning the midnight oil." He returned to Germany from the "Port of Missing Men", secretly took the examinations and was given his certificate as a German naval officer before anyone knew he was the missing Felix von Luckner, long given up for dead.

Forebear Aided Washington

Field Marshal Nickalus Luckner of France was the great grandfather of Count Luckner and the man who was responsible for sending Lafayette to America to help George Washington fight for American independence. It is an interesting fact that "The Marseillaise", national anthem of France, was dedicated to Field Marshal Luckner.

Count Luckner's remarkable fighting record in the World war has been briefly summed up in the following paragraph: "He ran the triple blockade of the Allies during a veritable hurricane. He roamed the Southern Seas in his Ghost Ship; he sank fourteen Allied boats, captured hundreds of prisoners, fed them on champagne and cake—and never killed a man. He lived adventures that outthrive the wildest dreams of fiction. But, best of all, he learned the secret of waging modern warfare without taking human life!"

Mitzi in Opening Show at Apollo December 16

The Messrs. Shubert announce that their new Apollo theater, on the site of the old Olympic at Clark and Randolph streets, Chicago, will open Sunday night, December 16, with Mitzi in her new musical comedy, "Lovely Lady," as the attraction. The Apollo has been built along the most modern lines of theatrical architecture with convenience and safety the first consideration. In giving Mitzi the honor of opening the new Chicago playhouse, the Messrs. Shubert feel that the quality of both the star and the offering is such as to make the opening noteworthy in Chicago's theatrical history. "Lovely Lady" follows in line "Naughty Riquette" and "The Madcap," the two previous successes Mitzi has had since working under the direction of Messrs. Shubert. "Lovely Lady" is adapted from the French book by Gladys Unger. The lyrics are by Cyrus Wood and the score by Harold Levy and Dave Stamper. In the supporting cast are such well-known names as Jack Sheehan, Doris Patston, Frank Greene, Clarence Harvey, Pierce and Harris and Jack Squires.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Holland, 679 Hill road, left Wednesday with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Holland, to drive to Beaver Dam, Wis. The Holland grandchildren, Barbara and Virginia, are attending Hillcrest school there and the two families went up to spend Thanksgiving with them
