

Hobby Show Is Set for Scouting Units Early in January

Something entirely new in north shore Scouting is planned, to be held during the early part of 1929, a Hobby Show, to demonstrate to parents and friends, the various things that boys are interested in. The displays will by no means be limited to Scout work, but will attempt to picture the all-around interests of boys in connection with school and home and church.

Each troop exhibit will be separate and various Scoutmasters are endeavoring to have some one article from every boy in his troop included in the exhibit.

It is expected that such hobbies as printing, leatherwork, handicraft, craftsmanship in the various metals, drawings, cartoons, literary efforts, etc., will be fully demonstrated.

Each local troop is working out its own exhibit with a great deal of pride and will display it early in the forenoon on January 25, removing it at the close of the program that evening.

It is planned that a feature of the evening program, will be the awarding of Life, Star and Eagle Badges.

The Electrical Gift is the Gift for a Modern Woman

Unless a home is completely equipped to the last detail, there's usually an electrical convenience that somebody's set her heart on having for Christmas! For instance—any of these:

A Coffee Urn Set

A two-handled samovar-type percolator in a perfectly simple Colonial design, with a sugar bowl and a cream pitcher and tray to match. The set is made by the makers of Universal appliances, and is priced specially at $23!

The Toastmaster

An impressive toaster that will toast your bread exactly as long as you want it toasted—and then snap the slice up automatically so there's no possibility of its scorching. $12.50.

Other Toasters

of practically every well-known make, from $3.75 up to $12.50.

Rose Glass Lamps with Swiss Shades $8.50

A tall colonial lamp of rose-colored glass, with a shade of rose-colored dotted swiss, finished with hand-hemstitching. $8.50. May be bought in pairs if desired.

Candlelight Lamps $9 Complete

A small candle lamp to set in hall, on buffet or in any odd corner where you need a bit of glow and color. Wrought iron base in bronzed color, overlaid with pewter-colored leaves. The candle-part is antiqued and mellow, and the shade of dull rose pleated silk. The base itself, $5. The shade $4.

Curling Irons $1.50 - $1.95

Colored handle and cord to match.

Heating Pads, $8.50

Universal make—in colors to match the bedroom—lavender, pink, blue.

Universal Heater $4.50

College size — finished in olive green, brown or rose—with a copper reflector. Larger sizes $5 and $7.50. A brass oil-stove type, for the Colonial room, $8.75.

Round Waffle Irons

On pedestal bases, or footed. Prices begin at $7.75—with good variety up to $16.50, which is a quite elaborately etched waffle-iron. With green or red handles, $13.60.

Universal Percolators $10.50

With colored handles and cords to match—in red or green. 6 cup size. The Thermax 9-cup percolator, $9.

Hotpoint Irons, $3.95

An unusually good value. Six-pound size—well-finished.

Universal Traveling Irons, $5.95

A compact five-pound iron in a steel case.

Colored Irons, $3.85

The Glad Iron, made by the makers of Waage—6 1/2 pound size—with colored tops and handles in red, blue, green, yellow. The Waage three-heat model, in colors, is $6.75.
