Winter Camp Hi-Ho

It's the wonder program
Of all the Century,
Hi-Ho for Winter Camp,
IT'S GOOD ENOUGH FOR ME.

Here's a song for Scouting,
Let's sing it merrily,
Just like a good Scout we are growing,
We started something and we'll keep it going.

Half a million Boy Scouts,
A million more you'll see,
Hi-Ho for Winter Camp,
IT'S GOOD ENOUGH FOR ME.

Just like a good Scout we are growing,
We started something and we'll keep it
going.

Half a million Boy Scouts,
A million more you'll see,
Hi-Ho for Winter Camp,
IT'S GOOD ENOUGH FOR ME.

That's the song the Scouts are singing as they look forward to the two winter camps made possible for the Scouts of the north shore. Twenty-four local boys will attend the four-day camp at the Cabin-in-the-Woods, and sixteen at Camp Wilderness, Michigan. Applications are being filed now.

This Week's Song

"I'd Rather Belong to Scouting" It's great to belong to Scouting and be a Scouting man
To meet the other fellow and to help him if you can To call him Dick or Harry, or Jim or Bill or Dan Oh, it's great to belong to Scouting and be a scouting man.
I'd rather be a Boy Scout than anything else I know
For those who belong to Scouting are seeing Scouting grow, And boosting strong for Scouting, 'tis service makes them so.
I'd rather be a Lone Scout than anything I know.
I'd rather belong to Scouting than anything else I know.
It makes me feel the Golden Rule is working here below
That's why I belong to Scouting to serve where'er I go,
And I'd rather be a Lone Scout than anything else I know.

"Civilization of Mayas," Lecture Theme at Museum

"Civilization of the Mayas—Past and Present," is the subject of a free illustrated lecture for the general public to be given Saturday, December 1, at Field Museum of Natural History. J. Eric Thompson, assistant curator of Mexican and Maya archaeology, and leader of the recently returned Captain Marshall Field Archaeology expedition to British Honduras, which discovered the site of three ancient Maya cities, will be the lecturer. The lecture will begin at 3 o'clock and will be given in the James Simpson theatre of the museum. Sunday the same lecture will be given at the same hour and place for members of the museum. Seats unoccupied by members will be available to the general public, free of charge.

GUIDE-LECTURE TOURS

"The Young of Mammals and Birds" at 11 o'clock and "Indians of the Great Plains" at 3 o'clock, Monday, December 3, are the first of the guide-lecture tours scheduled for next week at Field Museum of Natural History. Other days at the same hours subjects will be: Tuesday, "Ancient Animals" and "Bread and Other Foods"; Wednesday, "Mines and Ores" and "China"; Thursday, two general tours; and Friday, "African Animals" and "Natives of the South Seas." These tours of the exhibits, conducted by the museum staff, are free. Parties assemble inside the north entrance.

The corn crop of 1927, totaling 418,000,000 bushels, was the largest and most valuable ever produced in Illinois.
