

Music Organizations in Tribute to Mrs. Beach

Honor to Mrs. H. H. A. Beach, noted woman composer of America, was paid last week by the Chicago Musical organization and many north shore women who are members of these organizations as well as all musical people, are interested to know that honors are being bestowed while the artist lives and can enjoy the results of her labors.

November 21 the Methodist club presented a program and entertained at luncheon in Mrs. Beach's honor, while later in the day, the Iota Alpha chapter of the Mu Phi Epsilon National sorority gave a musical and tea at the Illinois Woman's Athletic club.

November 25 the Woman's Symphony orchestra of Chicago presented the "Gaelic Symphony" by Mrs. Beach at its first concert. This orchestra is under the leadership of Ethel Leginska and was assisted by Jan Chiapusso, solo pianist.

November 26, at the Studebaker theatre, the Musicians club of Women presented Mrs. Beach, assisted by club members in a program of her own compositions, and among those assisting were the Amy Neil String quartet, Anna Burmeister, and Helen Hedges. November 27 the MacDowell Society of American Musicians tendered a banquet at the Gorden club. November 28 the International Society for Contemporary Composers—Pro Musica, gave a luncheon at the Auditorium, and November 30 there was a reception at Lyon and Healy's Musician's club rooms.

TO MARRY IN JANUARY

Mrs. Fred Bulley, 220 Sheridan road, Kenilworth entertained at a tea last Saturday, for Miss Lucille Kile. Miss Kile and Allen Bulley will be married about the first of January.

Civic Opera Season Reaches Half-Way Mark in Next Week

The sixth week of the current season of grand opera, presented at the Auditorium theater by the Chicago Civic Opera company, marks the half way point of the seasonal efforts of this great lyric organization. Only six more weeks of opera remain before the company stages its last performance, and then begins its annual post season tour to the principal cities of the United States.

Reaching the apex of its brilliant term at its historic home, the civic opera continues to attract large audiences through the virtue of the excellent repertoire and casts presented to the public. The wide variety of its seasonal activities presents a still more favorable outlook, when a casual glance is given to what is in preparation for music lovers for the balance of the year.

With the exception of two or three artists still to be heard, the week's repertoire embraces the entire personnel of the company, all cast in the roles in which they have earned the acclamation of critics from all over the world.

Outstanding Lyric Works

Then, too, several operas are included, which for their spectacular scenic effects and beautiful music scores, make them outstanding lyric works, adding enthusiasm in musical circles, and prompts all who have the interests of good music at heart to rejoice in the inclusion of these masterpieces at this time.

"Don Giovanni," Mozart's delightful composition, scheduled for Wednesday evening, December 12, will be the first performance of this melodious work since the 1926-27 season, when it was revived after a lapse of almost eleven years. This opera taxes the resources of all but the great opera companies, for the cast requires three sopranos of exceptional caliber, a great lyric tenor, a baritone of great singing and dramatic ability, and three good basses. The scenery, newly built for its revival two years ago, is considered one of the high lights of its presentation, and the many scenes, ten in number, have all been dressed in the most modern fashion, which assures for all an evening of unsurpassed vocal and scenic splendor.

Schipa Here Dec. 9

An earlier performance of the week, Sunday afternoon, December 9, "Lakme" brings Tito Schipa to the front in his second appearance this season with the Chicago company. "Lakme" was one of the earliest successes in his operatic career, and he will appear with the charming coloratura-soprano, Alice Mock.

Joseph Sears Opens Intra-Mural Soccer

The intra-mural soccer season is under way at the Joseph Sears school in Kenilworth and will continue until January, when the speedball season opens, according to Robert W. Townley, athletic director at the school. The boys of the school are divided into two classes, Wildcats and Tigers. Practice games are held on the first four days of the week, and every Friday the Tigers and Wildcats clash. At the end of the season a banner is awarded to the section winning the most soccer games. This banner is hung in the trophy room of the school.

TO REPRESENT N. K. E. C.

Miss Edna Dean Baker, president of the National Kindergarten and Elementary College, will represent the National Kindergarten Association at the National Council of Women to be held in the Palmer house on December 6 and 7.

new DRESSES Clearance Prices

Saturday, Dec. 8 to Wednesday, Dec. 12

On Friday, November 23, will begin a most important selling of the smartest models of the season's offerings. Everything is fresh, new stock—all closely marked for this event. Representative is the model shown at the left.

Only one of each style is available, thus insuring individuality. There are twenty-six of these values offered—any of which is a decided bargain at $13.75

Seven to twelve dollars was the price of the hats now divided into two groups for this Thanksgiving clearance. Authentic, youthful, smart—appealing to both purse and eye, they are now selling at $5 and $7.50

A goodly number of more conservatively styled hats, many of them in larger sizes, are to be included in this five day selling. Formerly they sold at from $15 to $25. Now they are offered at $12.50

SALLY DEANE SHOPPE

Opposite Willard Hall

722 CLARK STREET

Call Miss Deane GREENLEAF 6072

EVANSTON, ILL.