MOTOR BODIES VOTE FOR UNIFORM TRAFFIC LAWS

A. M. A. and A. C. of I. See Remedial Legislation as Solution of Difficult Problem

Adoption of the Uniform Vehicle Code for all states and the Model Municipal Traffic Ordinance for cities both large and small was voted the most remedial legislation now pending for the prevention of highway accidents at the annual meeting of the legislative committee of the American Motorists' Association in a joint conference with the Automobile Club of Illinois in Chicago.

The Uniform Vehicle Code is so designed that its provisions may be adopted in the main by each state while the Model Municipal Traffic Ordinance is drafted with an idea of giving to each city and town a uniform set of traffic regulations that will not leave an out-of-town motorist in a quandary as to how to operate his vehicle. Each of the two pieces of legislation are the outgrowth of the National Conference on Street and Highway Safety, of which President-elect Herbert Hoover was Chairman.

Success of the Uniform Vehicle Code is evidenced by the fact that already nineteen states and the District of Columbia have partially adopted the code. They are: New Jersey, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, California, New Hampshire, North Carolina, Michigan, Minnesota, North Dakota, Arkansas, Idaho, Arizona, Washington, Oregon and the District of Columbia.

The legislatures in 41 States, meeting in January, will consider the adoption of the Code and in States where the code has been only partially adopted will consider additional provision with the idea of having a Uniform

Code throughout the United States, according to a survey made by the Association.

Hupp and Chandler Go Into Big Merger; Former in Control

One of the most important announcements in the automobile industry was made a few days ago, this being that the Hupp Motor Car corporation of Detroit had acquired control of the Chandler-Cleveland Motors corporation, forming a concern with assets of approximately $130,000,00, according to present stock market values.

Announcement of the merger was made by Samuel Regar, secretary and one of the founders of Chandler. Regar did not announce what use would be made of the Cleveland plant, which represents an investment of $10,000,000. Hupp has factories in Detroit, Jackson, Mich., and Windsor, Ont.
