

Illinois U. Invites Basketball Players to Washington Game

The Washington-Illinois basketball game Monday evening, December 31, in the Illinois gymnasium, is likely to be a popular New Year's diversion for high school basketball players of the state. For the university is extending an invitation to the members of the prep cage squads and their coaches to attend this game as guests. Washington, which has defeated Indiana, co-champions of the Big Ten last season and played well against Iowa and Purdue, undoubtedly is strong and will be the most severe test yet for the Illini cagers.

The Illini are able to play host to the prep players for the Washington game because the university will be closed and few students will be here. Therefore, it will be possible to accommodate the young athletes and all other out-of-town fans who desire to see a rattling good exhibition.

No formal invitation is being sent to individual high schools and coaches or principals who desire to obtain tickets should apply by mail to C. E. Bowen, ticket manager, 107 University hall, Urbana. A maximum of 12 tickets for players and one for the coach will be forwarded.

The Washington game replaces a contest with Wabash which was to be played at Crawfordsville on New Year's eve.

The Illini have dispersed to spend Christmas at home but will return after they have opened their stockings to resume drill.

Elbridge Anderson, 565 Willow street, came home last Friday from Yale to spend the holidays. His brother, Owen, arrived last Thursday from Carleton college for the holidays.

Christian Science Churches

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, December 23.

The Golden Text was "Thou, Lord, in the beginning hast laid the foundation of the earth; and the heavens are the works of thine hands" (Hebrews 1:10).

Among the citations which comprised the lesson-sermon was the following from the Bible: "Ah Lord God! behold, thou hast made the heaven and the earth by thy great power and stretched out arm, and there is nothing too hard for thee" (Jeremiah 32:17).

The lesson-sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Mind's control over the universe, including man, is no longer an open question, but is demonstrable Science" (p. 171).

GUIDE-LECTURE TOURS

Next week's guide-lecture tours at Field Museum of Natural History will begin with "People of the Far North" and "Game Animals of North America" at 11 a. m. and 3 p. m. respectively on Monday, December 31. Tuesday there will be no tours on account of the New Year's holiday, but the museum will be open to the public as usual from 9 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. Wednesday there will be lecture tours on "Primitive Hunters" and "Wild Relatives of Domestic Animals"; Thursday, two general tours, and Friday, "Indian Dwellings" and "Iron, Copper and Tin." These tours of museum exhibits conducted by staff lecturers are free.

Parties assemble inside the north entrance.
