

ARCHITECTS TO SHOW

University Guild Also Working on Rogers House Collection

To exhibit what is expected to prove a brilliant showing of the works of North Shore architects and to open their permanent exhibit of art treasures in Rogers house on the North-western university campus, are the two important January projects of the University guild's art committee.

The show of the paintings of artists of Chicago and vicinity which was current there in December, closed last Thursday. The show that will include the drawings of the architects, who include many of national and international prominence, will open Jan. 7 with a dinner.

The North Shore Architects' association will have charge of the exhibit and of the dinner, and will have for speaker at the latter event William H. Bennett, consulting architect for the 1933 World's fair, for the Washington, D. C. city plan and other important projects. The guild will have the show under its auspices.

Feb. 1 this exhibit will be replaced by the annual showing of etchings by nationally known etchers and the speaker at the meeting opening the show will be Mrs. Bertha Jacques.

At a board meeting of the guild board, to be held Monday morning, plans will be made for the opening of the treasure room in Rogers house, which, it is hoped, Mrs. Charles H. Dennis, chairman of the guild's art committee states, will take place Jan. 7 also.

Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Urion, 989 Cherry street, left Christmas night for Nashville, Tenn. They are attending a convention of Mr. Urion's fraternity and will return December 30.

Edward Baumann, 279 Linden street, is home from Princeton university spending the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Baumann. He will return on January 6.

Mr. and Mrs. Sydney F. Bartlett and family of 711 Sheridan road left yesterday to spend a few days with Mrs. Bartlett's mother in Burlington, Iowa.

C. D. Murphy, 875 Hill road, returned recently from a business trip through the east, spending sometime in Baltimore, New York, and Boston.

Winnetka School System Reviewed in the Monitor

Millicent J. Taylor, who was formerly head of the English department at the North Shore Country Day school, is publishing in the Christian Science Monitor, a series of articles which are of interest to Winnetkans. The general subject is "What Is Progressive Education?" and the articles may be found on the educational page of the Monitor.

The first article appeared on December 11, under the subject, "A Point of View, Not a Method," and dealt in particular with the Winnetka schools. Each of the subsequent articles bring in either the Country Day school or some reference to the public school system.

James Prentiss, III, who has been visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Prentiss, 201 Cumberland road, Kenilworth, returned Saturday to his home.

Katherine Dudley, one of next year's debutantes and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Dudley of Kenilworth, has returned from Ogontz to spend the Christmas holidays.

ELSIE THAL

Presenting FASHIONS for Smart SOUTHLAND Resorts

Traveler, Ho!

YOU who are bound for sunny climes and sunkissed sands—pause here to complete your preparations. We invite you to inspect our collection of smart apparel especially created for winter resort wear. Chic with perfect practicality . . . graciously modern and correct.

PRINTED silks in entirely new designs and colors make clever jacket costumes and frocks for semi-sports and daytime wear.

KNITTED costumes in soft pastel shades show new lacy weaves in interesting dot and stripe designs.

EVENING APPAREL

MORE alluringly gay than ever are the after-sundown fashions. Every lovely fabric is represented . . . while the sunburn vogue gives importance to such colors as ciel blue, white and the brilliant yellow tones that set-off the bronzed complexion with so much dash and chic.

565 Lincoln Avenue

Winnetka

Why not—

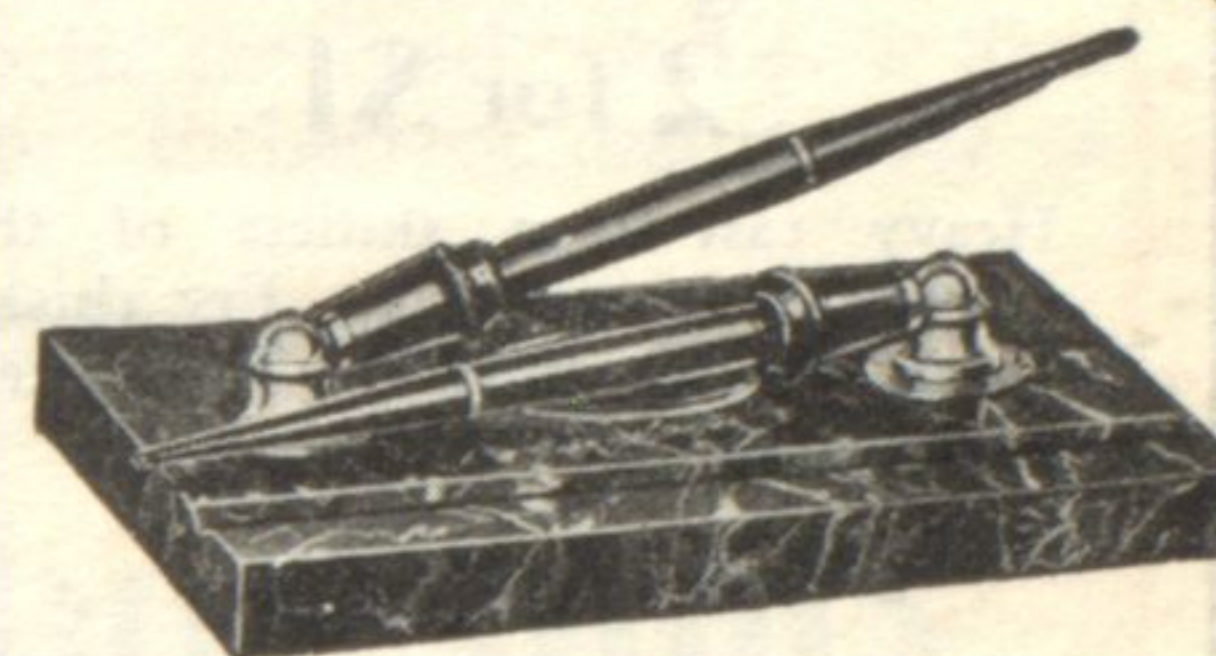

GET JUST WHAT YOU HAVE WANTED

Spend your Christmas money and give yourself a real treat. Here are some suggestions:

Latest Fiction
Book Ends
Pottery
Lamps

For Your Desk

DESK SETS
FOUNTAIN PENS

Latest color modes in Parker, Wahl, Sheaffer, and Waterman pens and pencils. Make your selection here at the North Shore's largest pen counter.

Black and Pearl

A stunning Wahl pen and pencil set in Black and Pearl. Set at $8.50

See

New Kodaks & Films

Take along a Kodak. You won't be without one. See our complete line.

Chandler's

630 Davis St.
EVANSTON

Univ. 123

Wil. 724