OUR NEW STORY.

On the seventh page of this issue will be found the opening chapter of our new story, entitled "Through Good and Ill" by Norah Laughier. Now is the time to subscribe for the Tribune as we cannot engage to supply back numbers. One dollar pays for the paper from now till the end of next year.

The daily papers of the week record one of the most remarkable cases of love, marriage disappointments and suicide that ever happened in this part of the world. Some months ago a Mr. Barber (residing in England) met a Toronto lady on board an Atlantic Steamer, became infatuated with her, proposed marriage and was accepted. On Wednesday of last week they were married at Niagara Falls, and on Thursday returned to Toronto. On Friday morning Mr. Barber left his newly-married wife at her house, No. 17 Windsor St. and nothing more was heard of him day after day until she learned from the dailies that he had committed suicide at Niagara Falls on Friday evening. It now transpires that the lady has had a very dark career, having been married and divorced, and has been for years leading an immoral life in Toronto. It is surmised that Mr. Barber learned the particulars concerning his wife immediately after leaving her while laboring under great mental distraction committed the rash act. The lady's connections by her first husband are well known and highly respectable. Later, the "woman in the case," known in Toronto as Polly Brodin has been committed to stand her trial for bigamy.

UNIVERSITY FEDERATION.

Although the question of Federation as it concerns the Methodist Church was settled by the highest authority of the church, an attempt was made at a recent meeting of the college senate at Cobourg to re-open the question. Speaking of the action taken by the anti-federation men at this meeting the Globe says: "But the anti-federation men seem to have been determined to improve their chance of relieving their souls on the whole question of federation. They appear to have been allowed full swing by the federationists who decided to re-open the discussion of a question which they considered decided by the highest authority in the Church. So the Senate by a vote of 21 to 14, passed resolutions, declining to concur with the Board, and expressing general opposition to the whole scheme of federation. Although this vote may have no legal force, it is to be regretted, as indicating a want of harmony, and a disposition to use the Senate as an agency of delay. It seems as if whenever a forward step is taken by the friends of federation, the opponents are bound to do something to make the public think that the matter is still uncertain. Mr. Massey, of this city, went down to Cobourg and stated that he would give from $50,000 to $100,000 for a university at Cobourg, provided others would make it a half a million. This was a safe offer, being hampered with several conditions. Besides, there is no authority empowered to accept any such offer for a project of opposition to the decision of the General Conference. We have no idea that this little spirit of the opposition will at all retard the progress of the federation movement or dampen the zeal of the earnest and loyal men who are determined to make it a success."

C. A. Livingstone, Plattville, says: "I have much pleasure in recommending Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, from having used it myself, and having sold it for some time. In my own case, I will say for it that it is the best preparation I have ever tried for Rheumatism."

Editor TRIBUNE.

DEAR SIR.—Will you kindly allow me space in your valuable paper to set forth a few thoughts in reference to the family that has been afflicted with the smallpox in this village. Much credit is due the medical health officer in detecting the disease before it had fully developed, and by so doing preventing it spreading to other families. Great credit is due the local Board of Health in strictly enforcing quarantine regulations, and by doing so confining the much dreaded disease to the one house and the one family. Thus far all is well and good. But is it true that the Board of Health allowed the family numbering six persons only two dollars per week for the first few weeks, and then they became more generous and increased the amount to three dollars per week. Now if this is the correct amount, I think in all fairness to the Board of Health, and also to the afflicted family, the amount is too small, altogether too small, and the Board of Health is not doing as it should. The golden rule is do unto others as you would that they should do unto you. But, Mr. Editor, imagine the members of the Board of Health brought down from their wealthy, lofty position, where they now spend parading ten to fifteen dollars per week to support their own families, some of them at least smaller in number than the family afflicted—I say imagine them brought from their present prosperous position and placed in the position of the family referred to, a afflicted with that loathsome and dangerous disease, smallpox, not allowed outside of their own small habitation, and then have a wealthy Board of Health vote them the paltry sum of two or three dollars per week, would they think it fair and right? Now, this is the way to look at the present case. Surely the citizens of Stouffville would willingly pay a sufficient amount to supply the needs of the afflicted family if the Board of Health would vote the proper amount. A thousand times better pay a fair and reasonable amount than have the dread disease enter any of our homes. Would not the quarantined afflicted family have a legal redress, if necessary, and should they exercise their legal right. I think there is not a judge in the land in which we live, that would say two or three dollars per week is sufficient for the needs of a family of six, placed in the position this family is placed in. Therefore in view of this, and for humanity's sake, and their own good name, I hope the Board of Health will see the fairness and reasonableness of increasing the present small allowance to a sufficient amount to supply all necessary needs until they may be allowed out, in safety to the citizens of Stouffville. With very great respects for the Board of Health and sympathy for the afflicted family, I am, dear sir,

A CITIZEN.

By the way the criminal courts are fooling around this year it appears as if in future men will be found "Not Guilty" in all cases where the judge and jury did not see the crime committed. At Picton it was shown that the old man Loveless got into a fight with Church, and held the poor man while young Loveless ran home for his revolver and shot Church to death. Every witness present described the murder in the same way. Verdict—not guilty. In Cartwright the Heron girl was poisoned and strychnine found in her. The circumstances did not leave a doubt in the minds of people that her uncle and aunt did the poisoning for the sake of some $400 the poor young girl was so unfortunate as to possess. Yet at the Cobourg assizes the Herons were found not guilty. Tom Buckley, for trapping a poor girl to death in Toronto was found guilty of manslaughter. The day is fast coming, apparently, when a man, to convict a criminal, or win any other sort of a case, must touch some tender spot of prejudice for religion, or self-interest. There is a general cry of dissatisfaction against all verdicts given. And if so happens that a man secures a righteous verdict some higher judge takes great pleasure in upsetting it on some trumped up technicality. Judges don't appear to have the semblance of an opinion of their own in addressing a jury, and as a consequence the easily satisfied, ignorant jurors think the case doesn't amount to much; but let the same judge get to considering the case for himself, and a hundred folios would hardly give him room to overhaul one technical point in it. We would like to admire our judiciary and courts, but it is impossible while their acts are a theme of derision throughout the whole country. —Whitby Chronicle.

Doctor—Now, you must rise by daylight, go to the springs and drink the waters, eat plain food only, and be very careful about your diet. And, mind you, one cigar a day, no more, be particular about that. I'll call again in three days. If you wait me sooner send for me. On the third day the doctor returns. Well, says he, how are you getting along? Patient—Very satisfactorily, doctor. Doctor—You don't find the regimen hard to adhere to, do you? Patient—It would be if I didn't have to smoke the one cigar a day. I never could bear tobacco.
