NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Selling off—F. Monro.

Heifers strayed—Robert Pollard. Fun for all—Silvester & Dougherty.

JEFF Davis, President of the Confederate States who has so often in song been threatened with being "hanged on a sour apple tree" died on Friday last.

SAM Hughes is in trouble again. He is being sued for libel by the Lindsay Post. Our brethren in Lindsay should learn to dwell together in unity, or else agree to disagree.

THE whole sporting world was shocked on Monday evening last at the news of the untimely death of Seale, the champion oarsman of the world. Returning from a most triumphant close of a series of victories he was seized with typhoid fever from which dread disease he died. Sports are already discussing his successor. Sic transit gloria mundi.

Dom Pedro, ex-Emperor of Brazil has arrived in Lisbon. He denies all complicity in the revolution or that he received any money to step out. The Empress was treated roughly by the republicans and says she will never forgive them. It is said the revolution was the result of a conspiracy between the military and the ex-slaveholders. It is not impossible that Dom Pedro will be asked to return.

THE desire for an extension of the list of crimes for which extradition may be asked, and granted, will be greatly strengthened in Congress by the fact that a boodler has skipped with about $100,000 intended to pay the members' sessional indemnities. Canada has no particular use for that sort of immigrants and should willingly accede to the proposed legislation to prevent Yankee scoundrels from coming here or vice versa.

THE discovery of the use and value of an alloy of nickel and steel has particular interest for Canadians and especially those who are fortunate enough to own land in the neighborhood of Sudbury, where are situated mines very rich in copper, and containing immense quantities of nickel. Mr. Edison of phonograph fame proposes to invest $300,000 in the proposed smelting works at Haliburton, so satisfied is he of the value of the discovery of the usefulness of nickel steel.

THE ranks of Canadian periodical literature have been increased by the issue on Saturday last, in Toronto, of a new paper, the Saturday Ledger, a paper which, thanks to a perverted taste on the part of the public, will no doubt have a large sale, as it trades upon the desire for the latest news of a most unhealthy nature. The worst features of the American weeklies which have been largely circulated in this country are adopted by this new aspirant for unenviable notoriety and while there is so much of the good and noble in thought to be had for a mere song, it is to be regretted that a journal of such degrading tendency should receive patronage. There should be a combined effort to frown down this and kindred objectionable sheets.

The trial of the Cronin suspects is nearing a conclusion, the time of the court being now taken up by hearing the addresses of the various counsels to the jury. These are very masterly efforts in most cases and although some of the language is such as would scarcely be tolerated in a British court of justice, it is certainly vigorous and pointed. Mr. Hynes for the State scored the greatest triumph perhaps when his lurid words and eloquent appeal brought tears to the eyes of the now noted and undoubtedly guilty Burke. The case will be given to the jury in a few days and a just verdict such as it is hoped will be given will strike terror to the hearts of murderous conspirators.

Mr. Meredith is announced to speak in London on Monday night, when he proposes to outline his party's line of action in the coming election campaign. His political followers are no doubt chiefly interested in what he has to say, seeing that at least one of his former friendly organs has called out for his scalp and they will have to decide whether a new general is needed or not, and his declaration will decide the point. His opponents too, will look carefully to see whether he has discovered any weak point in their hitherto impregnable armor on which to launch his hottest fire. His utterance will be looked forward to certainly with less eagerness than was Gladstone's, but still it will be looked for.

The Thin Cannot Gain in Weight if they are troubled with dyspepsia, because the food is not converted into the due proportion of nourishing blood which alone can furnish the elements of flesh. But there is no reason, when this wearing, attenuating disease is conquered by Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery, why there should not be an appreciable gain in weight, which indeed is usually the case. It is a peerless remedy also for Constipation, Liver Complaint, Kidney troubles and roots out all impurities from the blood.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From our regular correspondent.

Washington, Nov 29, 1889.

At high noon Monday for the first time in nine months, the flags floated from the staffs on the two wings of the Capitol. Before the colors were lowered the Fifty-first Congress of the United States was duly organized, and the Senate, House and administration are now formally in the hands of the Republican party.

The attractions on the House side were the greater. The staid dignity of the Senate, with its old-time members and officers, promised little of excitement, but in the popular body a slender majority was about to undertake the work of organization, menaced by a minority upon whose graciousness the success of the undertaking in a large measure depended. That minority softened by temporary adversities and the lapse of time since the windy battles over the tariff bill was gentle and amiable until the majority proposed to rob them of the spiritual consolation of their chaplain. Then it asserted itself, and reinforced by a contingent of independent Republicans, it taught the majority how slender was the margin upon which partisan measures could found themselves, by re-electing the Democratic chaplain. The parliamentary victory of the Democracy, although in a thoroughly unimportant matter, carried with it a lesson that will in coming months temper the audacity of plungers and Hotspurs.

The old members as a rule took their former seats and the new members scattered themselves in the remaining vacant chairs. The hall of the House was packed to the limit of every available inch. Yet to the old observers of Congressional matters there was a great gap on the Democratic side of the House. Amid all the familiar faces those of Samuel J. Randall and Samuel Sullivan Cox were missing. The Department buildings in the early morning hours are just now scenes of unusual activity. This is due mainly to the presence of members of Congress who endeavor to attend to business before the department and then go to the Capitol. The Post Office department is visited perhaps by a larger number of Senators and Re-

CATARH.

CATARH. DEAFNESS—HAY FEVER.

A NEW HOME TREATMENT.

Sufferers are not generally aware that these diseases are contagious, or that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the lining membrane of the nose and eustachian tubes. Microscopic research, however, has proved the fact, and the result is that a simple remedy has been formulated whereby catarrh, catarrh deafness and hay fever are permanently cured in from one to three simple applications made at home by the patient once in two weeks. N. B.—For catarrh discharges peculiar to females (white) this remedy is a specific. A pamphlet, explaining this new treatment is sent on receipt of ten cents by A. H. DIXON & SON, 303 West King Street, Toronto, Canada.—Scientific American.

Sufferers from catarrhal troubles should read the above carefully.

TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS.

The Special Announcement which appeared in our columns some time since, announcing a special arrangement with B. J. Kendall Co., of Enosburgh Falls, Vt., publishers of "A Treatise on the Horse and his Diseases," whereby our subscribers were enabled to obtain a copy of that valuable work free by sending their address to B. J. KENDALL CO. (and enclosing a two-cent stamp for mailing same) is renewed for a limited period. We trust all will avail themselves of the opportunity of obtaining this valuable work. To every lover of the Horse it is indispensable, as it treats in a simple manner all the diseases which afflict this noble animal. Its phenomenal sale throughout the United States and Canada, make it standard authority. Mention this paper when sending for the "Treatise."

representatives than any other department. The post office are the magnet that draws them there. The time of the officials is pretty well taken up in attending to the wants of the legislators. After awhile when Congress will begin to get ready for business, it is likely that the time of the clerical force will be pretty much occupied in furnishing information to answer the questions which are asked in the form of joint and special resolutions and by requests from chairmen of committees. Among the startling statements in regard to pensions submitted by Secretary Noble in his report is the one to the effect that over one thousand million dollars have been paid in pensions since 1861 and that there are now pending four hundred and seventy-nine thousand pension claims. The Secretary asks for over ninety-seven millions for next year, and in reporting eighty-nine millions as paid this year, he states that a million and a half of that sum was received by pension attorneys.

When the wheels of the new Congress were set in motion, Speaker Reed thanked his friends for the honor they had conferred upon him, and took a somewhat new departure in defining the duties of his office as having both a political and a parliamentary character. It is well understood that the office has this two-fold character, but the fact is seldom stated with such frankness. He will now have the pleasure and perplexity of forming his committees and then the business of legislation will begin in earnest. Not much is likely to be accomplished before the holidays and the chances are that the month will be wasted.

It can hardly be charged by the political purist that Senator Vance who has introduced a bill for the repeal of the civil service law, is after the spoils. Senator Vance is a Democrat, and the distribution of patronage is in the hands of a Republican administration. But Senator Vance knows a straw when he sees it.

Business before the Senate is opening in great shape. Five hundred and four bills were introduced on Wednesday to say nothing of a large assortment of petitions and joint resolutions.

The most universally commended appointment of the present administration is that of Gen. Baum to the Commission of Pensions from which the voluble Tanner was so unceremoniously ejected. At the Capitol, regardless of party differences, one hears only commendation of the executive ability of the present Commissioner of Pension.—E.
