King James on Sunday Games.

What will the modern objectors to reasonable recreation on Sundays find more stirring than King James' "Book of Sports," published in 1618, wherein he laments the attempts of churchly fanatics to repress amusements on the first day of the week and says, "Our pleasure likewise is that after the end of divine service our good people be not disturbed, letted or discouraged from any lawful recreation, such as dancing (either men or women), archery for men, leaping, vaulting or any other such harmless recreations, nor from having of May-games, Whittans ales and Morris dances, and the setting up to Maypoles and other sports therewith used, so as the same be had in due and convenient time without impediment or neglect of divine service." And this, be it remembered, is from the man whom the translators of the authorized version of our Bible described as the "sun in his strength," as one who was "enriched with so many singular and extraordinary graces as to be the wonder of the world in this latter age for happiness and true felicity."—London Telegraph.

Products Which Time Matures.

Wines and spirits can only mature by considerable lapse of time in the process of manufacture. The period varies with different brands and qualities. Some red wines, for instance, cannot be said to be ripe for use until they have been kept for fully ten years, while the minimum age at which whisky is ready for the open market is five years. For somewhat similar reasons and because it requires elaborate drying tobacco takes a very long time in arriving at good condition.

Leather is another article which must undergo a long course of preparation for the market, though modern improvements have shortened the period. For some descriptions of skins so much as six months is still needed to complete the process. Olive oil also needs long and careful preparation, to bring it to perfection. At Gallipoli it is often kept for seven years in underground cisterns.

Harder Work.

When the clever writer and caricaturist, Max Beerbohm, succeeded George Bernard Shaw as dramatic critic of the London Saturday Review, he was told by the manager that Shaw was getting such and such play. "Of course, being comparatively inexperienced," the manager added, "you can scarcely expect so much."

"Oh, yes, I shall," rejoined Mr. Beerbohm decisively. "Indeed, I shall expect more. You see, as he explained, as Shaw knows the drama thoroughly, it was perfectly easy for him to write about it. Whereas, I know nothing about it and it will be shockingly hard work."

King Billy's Decoration.

A story told by the late Commander Edward Barrett, U.S.N., shows that plated ware when no longer useful for mess purposes on war ships can be devoted to the service of diplomacy. According to this story, some American navy officers, wishing to conciliate an African potentate named King Billy, presented him with a discarded soup ladle and a lot of gay ribbons. This so delighted the dusky sovereign, that when he came aboard the ship to make a visit in state he wore the ladle tied on the front of his ample person with the variegated ribbons and also wore a dilapidated stovepipe hat.

Why Rest is Necessary.

A belief lives strong in the hearts and minds of the majority of mankind, including persons of weak digestions, that a quick, brisk walk taken before a meal gets up an appetite, and helps the stomach to digest the food. Now, this is exactly what it doesn't do. Exercise spreads the blood throughout the body. For the proper digestion of food the blood is needed in the stomach. Few realize this important fact. After a long, exhausting walk, bicycle spin or any severe physical or mental strain take a good hair curl's rest in a comfortable armchair, or lying on a sofa before you eat a substantial meal.
