

Kaiser "Chief of the Twelfth Bulgarian Infantry Regiment." To be set at the head of such a regiment would doubtless be grateful to the Kaiser; such an honor would replace a number of honorary commands which he once held in detested England. But if the Kaiser's allies really want to gratify his soul to its depths why does not the Sultan give him the honorary Colonency of the Turkish Regiment specially detailed to direct and lead the operations in Armenia?

MUCH MONEY IS NEEDED.

Britain's Financial Burden For All to Share.

Britain alone will need $9,000,000,000 to run her share of the great war during the present year. This statement is made by a representative committee of Britain's leading bankers' who have issued a signed manifesto to the nation impressing on the people the need for the strictest economy in order to assist in raising this huge sum.

In the manifesto the bankers say: "In a long war success depends mainly upon respective financial resources of the combatants and the consequent power of one of them to maintain or to add to its fighting strength when the other is declining or is not capable of expansion.

"Therefore the enemy's efforts have been directed to three essential matters:

(1) "To seize victory before the forces of the allies could be mobilized in overwhelming strength.

(2) "To prevent the allies from making or purchasing sufficient equipment and ammunition for their ever-expanding forces.

"The endeavors of the enemy to accomplish these objects have been completely frustrated by the co-ordination of the armies, of the financial resources of the equipment and of the munitions of the allied nations. The success of the allies in defeating the enemy's efforts to cripple them in men, munitions and money before they could assemble their full strength has now brought the war nearer to its final stage.

"Indeed only one thing is now needed to command victory. The allies have assembled new armies of overwhelming strength in France, in Russia, in Italy and in Great Britain and everything needed to equip them and to supply them with munitions has been secured or is in process of manufacture. The only thing remaining to be done is to provide all the money needed to support those vast armies of new men and to pay for the vast quantities of arms and munitions now being manufactured by all parts of the world."

Napoleon failed. The Kaiser must fail, and there can be no peace until he has been deposed from the throne he has fouled and his fellow conspirators have met their fate at the hands of an executioner.

Would Ban Tobacco, Too.

To such extremes is the British economy campaign being pushed that the suggestion has even been made in the House of Commons that tobacco should be banned. The Chancellor of the Exchequer, however, favors the increased consumption of tobacco, in view of the fact that the import duty is at least four times the amount paid away in gold to America for its purchase.

FOOD FACTS.

What An M.D. Learned.

A prominent physician went through a food experience which he makes public:

"It was my own experience that first led me to advocate Grape-Nuts food; and I also know from having prescribed it to convalescents and other weak patients that this food is a wonderful rebuild and restorer of nerve and brain tissue, as well as muscle. It improves the digestion and patients gain, just as I did in strength and weight, very rapidly.

"I was in such a low state that I had to give up my work entirely and go to the mountains, but two months there did not improve me; in fact I was not quite as well as when I left home. My food did not sustain me and it became plain that I must change.

"I began to use Grape-Nuts and in two weeks I could walk a mile, and in five weeks returned to my home and practice, taking up hard work again. Since that time, I have felt as well and strong as I ever did in my life.

As a physician who seeks to help all sufferers I consider it a duty to make these facts public."

Trial 10 days on Grape-Nuts when the regular food does not seem to sustain the body will work wonders, "There's a Reason." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont.

each soldier jumps down into a trench full of enemies—as he must do when charging, unless he remains above to be shot—he is no longer able to use rifle or bayonet to advantage. He is like a man in a close crowd, who cannot draw back his weapon so as to make it effective. Accordingly we read of men taking off the bayonet to use it by hand, and also of men resorting to their fists."

A representative of the Amsterdam Telegraaf, who has journeyed through Germany and Austria and furnishes a lengthy report on general conditions concludes his article by saying that famine prevails as far as the bulk of the working class population is concerned. The situation is becoming still worse, and the economic position is far from favorable. The people are daily becoming more downhearted. Their views are summed up in the remark: "We conquer every day, but we are none the better off for it."
