

PAROID A NEPONSET ROOF

THE economy of roofing with Paroid is apparent when you consider:—

It can be laid quickly, and at half the cost of new shingles.

When put on, Neponset Paroid forms the ideal roofing—fire, weather and wear-resisting.

Neponset Paroid Roofing lives long, stands up, and pays for itself yearly by giving absolute protection and satisfaction.

Neponset Paroid Roofs have proven their durability and economy for twenty years.

Neponset Paroid Roofing can be applied over old shingles without the added expense of tearing them off.

A full set of the tools required for laying Paroid is shown below.

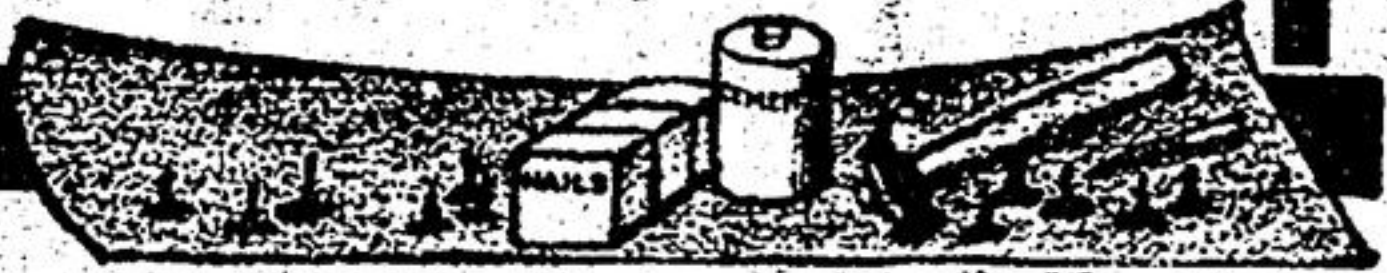

Roof with Neponset Paroid—it Pays.

Neponset Paroid Roofing is made in three colors: red, green and slate grey.

Sold by Hardware and Lumber Dealers.

RINGWOOD
With deep regret we chronicle the death of Mr. Martin Fockler who passed away on May 24th, after a few days illness. Though he had been in failing health for some time past he was able to be up and around to with a couple of days of his death. He was in his 63th year and was the second son of the late Samuel Fockler and Sarah Johnson. He was born on the farm on which practically his whole life had been passed. He will be remembered by a large circle of friends as a man of unflinching kindness, a staunch friend always ready to do a good turn for any one in need. He leaves to survive him besides his widow, three children, one son, Almer and two daughters, Nettie and Jennie. His wife is a daughter of the late Charles Pews, of Ballantrae. The funeral, which was held on Tuesday afternoon was attended by many relatives and friends attending to the high esteem in which the deceased was held. The services at the house and the church were conducted by the Rev. Jas. Brown, of Stouffville, interment being made at Dixon's Hill cemetery.
Popular prices for J. W. Bengough's entertainment, 50, 35, 25 an 15 cents.
Mr. Robert Pews, Miss Irene Pews and Mr. Harvey Pipher, of Toronto, and Miss E. Pews, of London, attended the funeral of the late Martin Fockler, on Tuesday.

VIVIAN
The station at Vivian was very prettily decorated with evergreens and flags to celebrate the return of Gunner Fred L. Hollidge from the Front, which occurred on Monday of this week. "Ted", as he is known to his friends, is a very popular boy in this locality, and he was very cordially greeted by neighbors and relatives. He enlisted in 1916 in the 67th Battery, University Corps, and was transferred to the 15th Battery after reaching the other side. In 1917 he was severely wounded, and for about a year was in hospital and reserve camp. He was in France on active service again when the armistice was signed. He returned to Canada on the Minnehada and was met in Toronto by his brother, Lieut. R. C. Hollidge, M.M., D.C.M., who motored him out to Vivian. "Here's hoping you'll be long with us, Ted."
Bengough will be at the Auditorium on Tuesday evening.

ATHA

Speaks for Y.M.C.A.
In a most interesting, lucid and instructive address, given in the Auditorium, last evening, Rev. Capt. Williams, Chaplain of the 48th Highlanders, enlightened his hearers on many phases of the work of the Y.M.C.A. among the soldiers. While he acknowledged that, like every similar organization, mistakes had been made, he pointed out that the good this organization had accomplished in looking after the physical, intellectual and moral welfare of the men more than counterbalanced any errors it had made. He dealt in turn with the criticisms that had been levelled against the Y, showing that in most instances such criticism was uncalled for.
During the early days, he said, the Y.M.C.A. had not done as effective work as it should because of lack of proper equipment but beginning with the year 1917 this was rapidly overcome and rest rooms were established in every spot where required.
Concerning the charge that the Y.M.C.A. was a safety-first job he said no Class A men were employed in it and the heavy casualty list showed that it had worked well up to the front lines. To the charge that it charged too high prices he pointed out that the prices were fixed by the Army Council and were therefore beyond the control of the Y.M.C.A. The large patronage of the men showed that the prices must have been reasonable. As to the charge of graft he said all the funds were audited by the Divisional auditors and balance sheets could be obtained at any time.
While the Salvation Army and the Red Cross and other organizations had done a great work it could not be compared to the work of the Y.M.C.A. which was all-embracing and included providing clean, uplifting amusement, letter writing facilities, athletic sports, magazines, books, lectures and an opportunity for the men to fraternize, all of which helped to drive away homesickness and had a high moral effect. The movie shows provided, had done much to restore to normal the men just out of the trenches. But Capt. Williams laid the greatest stress on the high moral value of the Y.M.C.A. in providing a means of counteracting the multitude of temptations of the continental towns and cities.
The Y.M.C.A. intends to continue its activities along the lines of community work and are asking the County Councils for grants of money to enable it to send out, to each county trained specialists for this work.
