CEDAR VALLEY MAIL SERVICE

The farmers who receive their mail from Cedar Valley Post Office, are disappointed that so far no recognition has been taken of their petition to the Dominion Government for a better mail service in that section. The petition was circulated over three months ago, yet the same old mail service prevails.

As an evidence of the miserable service a farmer from that section stated to this paper that the bundle of Tribunes mailed from Stouffville on Thursday, Jan. 11th had not reached their destination the following Tuesday, Jan. 16th. This is a common occurrence, we are told.

It is suggested that Cedar Valley be allowed to receive their mail through Ballantrae, where a daily service is maintained. No doubt, if the farmers, properly organized, urge their reasonable request before the Post Office Inspector, the matter will be promptly dealt with.

The unsatisfactory delivery of mail in this section of the province is not general, in other sections, and is largely due to having so much of our mail matter routed through the Toronto Post Office.

The omission of re-turning officer's name would not effect the validity of the notices. The board should meet at once appoint a returning officer and order the holding of an election in the usual way. See Sec. 70, S. S. 1 and 2."

WEBB'S SCHOOL AGAIN

To the Editor of the Tribune.

Dear Sir:—

Re your article in last week's issue of the Tribune, I think (and I am not alone) that you must have been short of employment to publish such a description as that. Any person not acquainted with it might infer that the residents of that section were either barbarians, heathens or are poor and poverty stricken. I wish to state that such is not the case. The inhabitants of that section are an intelligent and thrifty class of people. By the description you publish of the building it would not be fit to winter sheep in. The building certainly is an old one and was remodelled some years ago (you have been in it). There has been very little complaint of its coldness, except when those cold blizzards came on. There are other schools a lot better looking not very much warmer and we have not used any more fuel than the average of schools and I think we have had as good a class of teachers as any of the schools, which can be verified by our Inspector. I don't think there is a school in the country that show a better percentage of successful High School entrance candidates and very few sections that has produced more teachers that got their primary education in that old school. There is four of them that the writer knows to be High school teachers, one is principal of Guelph school and past president of the O. E. A. We were going to build a new school and were discussing it when the war came on, and it was laid over on that account, but we expect to build one this coming summer, and not because we have been threatened with losing our grant, as that is not correct either. We have been waiting to see what became of the proposition for consolidation.

An interested Ratepayer.
