

NERVOUS EXHAUSTION

The Only Sure Relief is to Enrich and Build up the Blood.

Nervous exhaustion is the cause of headaches and dizziness, and it is due, almost always, to conditions of impoverished blood. Tablets and powders for headaches should never be taken; they cannot possibly reach the root of the trouble, and are often most harmful. All that is needed to bring relief is a tonic that will enrich and purify the blood, and the very best tonic for this purpose is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills have a direct action on the blood, and in this way the headaches, dizziness and other bad symptoms rapidly disappear. Mr. Mark F. Taylor, Granby, Que., tells what this medicine did for him. He says: "I had severe headaches which would be accompanied by vomiting spells. These would last for two or three days at a time. I would take one of these pills every three or four weeks, and it is almost impossible to describe the misery they caused me. I tried a number of medicines without getting relief, until one day my mother brought me six boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. When they were used I was feeling much better, and I got a further supply, and under the continued treatment every symptom of the trouble disappeared. I cannot speak too highly of this medicine for it certainly has done wonders for me." You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Now, a Word of Magic.

There is such a thing as a statement containing more poetry than truth. Turn back the untwined and give me yesterday, "sings well" and "listens well," but it's unbecomingly just the same. "Taking a trip on Memory's ship" is all right—just occasionally, but it can become a mental and spiritual dope. The slaves of this habit are really unfit for the realities of to-day.

To a healthy mind, all pleasure is contagious. We have all enjoyed hearing old people talk of bygone days, but frankly, didn't your pleasure arise from the fact that it gave them pleasure to live those days over again? This sort of thing is a bit akin to the truth that "all the world loves a lover." For old people to live in the past is not only natural, but becoming and lovable. But as long as "to-day" brings to you duties and tasks and burdens, can you successfully perform those tasks and duties, and lift those burdens if your strength is sapped by an over-indulgence in the dope of retrospection?

Enter into to-day as ardently and enthusiastically as if there had never been a yesterday, and never would be a to-morrow. Instead of waiting time, and looking back upon it as one of "the good old days," which you may vainly wish to recall, squeeze from it now the goodly share of wholesome joy and serenity it surely holds.

Instead of sentimentally looking back on past days as "the good old days," why not sensibly and optimistically and practically view each new day, right white you are living it, as "a good old day?" And most important of all, make to-day "a good old day" for everybody with whom you come in contact. To-day ought to be the best old day of all the "good old days." Why? Because if we have lived truly and earnestly we have just a little more experience and wisdom to put into to-day.

A New Year Thought.

At long last we shall find them, if we set ourselves to look.
The answers to the problems in old Time's big puzzle-book!
The why and how and wherefore of the ups and downs we meet;
The meaning of the corners and the turnings in Life's Street!

At long last we shall learn them—all the lessons of the way.
At long last we shall sing them—all the carols of the day.
We may not find it quickly, but at long last, if we're true—
We'll dig it out and finish it—that work we're meant to do!

At long last we shall get there—to the top of Hill Success;
We mustn't tire of climbing, we must onward, upward press!
And when the mists have broken, we shall view with clearer sight
The reason for the failures which have helped us gain the height.
—Lillian Gard.

The Pleasure of Music.

Beauty in all its glory can be brought to the hearts of children through music.
The joy received from hearing beautiful melodies preserves that idealism, which is one of the most precious possessions of childhood. When such music is heard it reaches their consciousness through rhythm, melody and harmony, through form and style, through the warmth of stringed instruments or the rich tones of a French horn, but it all affords a pleasure which finds echo within and is an influence for good.

The world can not live without music. It is uplifting and makes one think of the better things of life. When we realize how vital a factor music is in the life of each individual we will also realize how important it is to hear good music.

Miner Thanks Tanlac For Putting Him Back On Job After Illness Forced Him to Quit.

"When Tanlac helped my little grand-daughter so wonderfully I thought maybe the medicine would help me too, and since I've taken it I am feeling fine," said John Jones, 19 Sterling St., London Ontario.

"I came here a year or so ago from Calgary, where I was a miner, but had to quit on account of asthma," he continued. "I was badly run down, and then I got a touch of pneumonia that knocked me out completely. I couldn't get my strength back, had no appetite, was unable to work and didn't know what it was to get a good night's sleep. "By the time I took three bottles of Tanlac I was eating just anything, sleeping like a log and I have been on the job ever since. My asthma doesn't bother me so much now, and it's a race between me and my little grand-daughter at meal time, for we both have splendid appetites."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over 35 million bottles sold.

Death and Life.

I do not know what may befall to-morrow,
What stores of blessing, or what weight of sorrow;
But this I know; whatever may befall,
Whatever Life may be, Death ends it all.

But stay! Does Death end all we know of living?
Though it may end the tears and woe and the forgiving,
Is it not rather, O my Soul, the door To Life Eternal, life for evermore?

No sneering doubts shall quell my heart's believing,
Though hell and furios ply their arts deceiving;
The icy stream may o'er my body roll,
But Death can never rob me of my Soul.

Quite Untrue.
The village postman, being an inveterate gossip, could never resist reading the postcards entrusted to him to deliver, and then communicating the news thus gained to others.

The doctor was much bothered by this, and one day, in writing to a friend who lived quite close, he added: "I would tell you more, only I know the postman will read it."

He then posted the card in the letter-box, whence it was collected, and taken to the post-office, and sent out for delivery.

The postman stamped up to the house with the card and knocked at the door.

To the surprise of the good lady who opened the door, the postman handed her a postcard, and exclaimed angrily: "He's a liar! I don't read 'em!"

MRS. MISENER'S AGES AND PAINS

Vanished After Using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"Branchton, Ont.—When I wrote to you for help my action was mostly prompted by curiosity. I wondered if I, too, would benefit by your medicine. It was the most profitable action I have ever taken, I heartily assure you, for through its results I am relieved of most of my sufferings. I have taken six boxes of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Tablets and a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine, and I can honestly say I have never been so well before. I had suffered from pains and other troubles since I was fifteen years old, and during the 'Great War' period I worked on munitions for two years, and, in the heavy lifting which my work called for, I strained myself, causing pelvic inflammation from which I have suffered untold agony, and I often had to give up and go to bed. I had doctored for several years without getting permanent relief, when I started to take your medicines."—Mrs. GOLDWIN MISENER, Branchton, Ont.
