EDITORIAL COMMENT

Premier King is now living in Laurier House at Ottawa, and the opening of this historic old home, was marked by a grand reception. The Premier had to do the honors of the host without a hostess.

It may interest our readers to know that the two confidential printers who set and run off on a press the departmental examination papers are paid $2,000 and $1,300 respectively; the paper, printing and other contingencies of examination papers cost $18,896.93 and the examiners at $12 per day cost $241,394.54.

St. Mary's is the town where municipal officials get adequate pay. St. Mary's is a town of 4,000 people. The officials' salaries are, clerk $1100, treasurer $600, assessor $500, tax collector $250, chief of police $900, night watchman $900, magistrate $250, medical health officer $200.

The Ontario License Board has forwarded a questionnaire to the provincial clergy, which asks their opinion as to the influence exerted by the Ontario Temperance Act. It is asked if the Act is believed to have improved the home, the finances, and the social conditions of the families which have been under the clergymen's observation?

Hon. Harry Leader, Progressive member from Portage La Prairie in the House of Commons, is pressing for a reduction in members pay, from the $4000 per year voted in 1920 by the Union Government. Mr. Leader suggests a 12 1/2 per cent cut, which would also effect Senators, and cause a saving of $200,000 to the country. So far the matter is just in debate, and will come to the voting stage later in the session.

The U.F.O. Government is getting through its fourth and last session of its reign with all its members standing pat by their former leader and they have done as well as either of the old parties too. If they show the people they are going to sit tighter on the lid of the strong box, they will win voters who heretofore were dead against them.

Houses in which there are patients suffering from chickenpox or whooping cough must hereafter be placarded. No milk container from any house under quarantine shall be returned to any dairy or milk vendor. These are among the new regulations recently enacted by the provincial health department. It will be the duty of the Stouffville Board of Health to see that such regulations are enforced locally, if the law is not to be brought into disrepute.

A man pointed out to us the other day that he paid more for a scribbling book at a local drug store than it cost to get a text book for his child, the text book being all printed and on as good paper or better than the scribbling book. The inference was that the local vendor made an enormous profit. We soon put the individual right. When you hear someone talking about low price of text books today don't fail to remind the simple ones who have something to learn, that if they looked into the Public Accounts they would find the Province is putting up a whole lot of the cost of those books and the price printed on the cover does not represent the cost. J.E. Wetherall, a former high school inspector gets $4000 a year as general editor of text books, and his assistant gets $1700. The preparation of the text books cost the modest sum of $18,530.14. The T. Eaton Co. sells the public school readers at the following low prices: primer 4c., first reader 9c., third reader 14c., fourth reader 16c. The average person thinks the T. Eaton Co. charges up the loss on publishing these books to advertising. Not by a long chalk. The Ontario Government paid the Eaton Co. last year the neat sum of $193,712.20 to make up for the fair profit on these books, and the Ryerson Press which publishes the public school history of Canada at 25c and History of England at the same price was allowed $45,554.43 as supplemental to the wholesale price. Copp Clark Co. was paid $23,755.50 and the whole amount paid to book publishers was $269,145.77. We are not sure, but are of the opinion that this work is secured by tender. In any case, don't imagine a primer book in the public school is produced for 4c or that the firm publishing them are out to drop money.

PALM SUNDAY

The last six days in the life of Jesus on earth has been called "The passion week" Sunday before Easter is known as Palm Sunday, on that day Jesus the lowly "Entered Jerusalem," in triumph, causing such a commotion that the city was moved, saying, "Who is this?" Who is this Jesus, who is he That moves the city mightily? In accents hushed a voice replied—"Jesus of Nazareth passeth by." Through the gates, up into the city, the vast and joyful procession passed pausing not until the King of Zion entered his palace, the holy temple. The unholy that filled the place fled in terror from the presence of the "Holy." For who may abide the day of His coming. He said—It is written my house shall be called the house of prayer, but ye have made it a den of thieves. They are gone and in their place came the blind and lame, and "He healed them." In the place of the hum of traffic is heard the grateful praise of the once blind and lame, and the hosannas of the children—Wrathful priests and learned scribes were angry at the breach of propriety, but Jesus said, "Have ye never read," out of the mouths of babes and sucklings thou has perfected praise—Hosannah! Be the Children's song To Christ the childrens King.
Once more there is quiet in the city and in the temple. Happy innocent childhood, weary with joy and song, is seeking rest in peaceful slumber. The shouting multitudes have dispersed, disappointed and grieved. "And when evening was come, he went out of the city." Along the now silent streets, across the brook "Kedron" up and over Olivet to Bethany, his only sentinels The Twelve. The labors of this Sunday, the first day of the passion week, were now closed. They are plotting in the city, but Jesus is sleeping. Rest, Master, rest! for thou wilt need all thy strength for the mighty labor of this, the most eventful labor of this, the most eventful week in history—Jesus could sleep in the shadow of his own cross.—Communication.

CLAREMONT

R. Besse has purchased the new Mantle residence and is moving in, with his family this week. Welcome back to the village, say all the many old friends.
Miss E.M. Stark, is open for a few more pupils in piano forte instructions, Baptist parsonage, call or phone 908, for appointment.
On Saturday morning, March 10th there passed peacefully away an old and much respected resident of Claremont in the person of Harry Thompson. A short but severe attack of influenza took this genial citizen from our midst, leaving his many relatives and friends stunned by the suddenness of it, and Mr. Thompson, though in the ripe years of 75 was regarded as enjoying unusually good health for his age, having worked steadily, though somewhat more leisurely at his business to the last. Following a brief service at his late residence, the remains were taken to the Union church where a large concourse of people met to pay their last respects. The service was conducted in the absence of the pastor, by Rev. W.R. Auld of Markham, assisted by Rev. C. W. King. Interment was made in the Claremont Union cemetery. There were quite a number of beautiful floral tributes. In the church vestibule were deceased's two fellow craftsmen, Thos. Stephenson and J. McGrath, as ushers to receive the casket.
