EDITORIAL COMMENT

From time to time we see literature about Stouffville which reads, "millions now living will never die". Wouldn't "millions now dead will never live," be nearer the truth?

That Cannington man with an ingrowing nail, who chopped his toe off, struck a sure remedy for the nail trouble all right, but like the man who got drunk to drown his sorrows—oh the after results!

We read in the daily paper the other day, that a bride and groom were on their honeymoon trip in an aeroplane. We wonder if they will have their first fall-out before they return.

Next week we will publish the names of all Stouffville doctors who disapprove of our definition of a successful doctor when we state that he is one who needs patients to wait on, and patience to wait on his pay.

Collingwood Bulletin: "Already the Ferguson, Government has commenced to pass out the fruits of victory in the form of offices. One to get in early is Major J. I. Hart of Orillia who has been appointed overseer of crown timber agents. The office is a new creation with an excuse and of course a good salary attached."

Since several countries in Europe quote their paper-money circulation in trillions it may be interesting to try to grasp what a trillion is. Some experts in the Treasury at Washington can count four thousand silver dollars, an hour. Such an expert working eight hours a day would need a hundred years to count a billion dollars. A thousand experts would need one hundred years to count a trillion.

Alliston Herald.—"An increase of nearly 40 acres in the size of the average Canadian farm in the last census decade, is shown by the returns to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The average farm in Canada in 1911, was 150.23 acres; in 1921, 198.35 acres. There was an increase during the decade in the number of occupied farms of one acre and over from 684,505 to 711,000 and in the area of occupied farms from 100 million to 141 million acres. Farms of 100 to 200 acres now number 229,648 and those of 300 acres and over came next to the number of 164,897. Under five acres there were only 21,503 farms reported."

Stouffville should have a Public Utilities Commission or in other words a Light and Power Commission. The need of this in the past is apparent to many of our citizens but now it is even more so as we are about to receive hydro electric power. Such a Commission would have vested in them full power to control the business of the light and water systems of the municipality, and their increasing knowledge would be an added value to the corporation. In connection with hydro there are many things the average citizen or councillor may not understand. In dealing with the head commission at Toronto the local councillor must have a knowledge of the system employed by the hydro, but about the time they become acquainted with the system or business methods employed in running the power business they are removed from office. Then a new council must stop in and learn the same business. The result is the town has inexperienced men at the head of this public ownership thing all the time. If a commission were appointed, it would consist of three members, the reeve and two elected men by the people. These men are subject to re-election every year or every second year, but if they are rendering satisfactory service it is not often they are put out of office. The result of a permanent body to control our public utilities must be apparent to all who give the matter any thought, and it is something that should be dealt with before the end of the year.
