COMMON SENSE GUIDES AMATEUR DECORATOR

Not every one has an eye for color and there are certain fundamentals of color relationships which must be learned before the home decorator can do not succeed at first, no harm is ventured far in choosing fabrics and done, for the berries and sugar may be turned into an excellent dish of cranberry sauce.

More easily prepared are the candied apples, candied prunes, candied nuts and other sweets of like nature. For them simply boil two cupfuls of sugar with a half cupful of water until the syrup begins to take on a slightly yellowish tint. Take care that it does not caramel; it must be just a faint straw color. Then having impaled nice red apples on wooden skewers, or plump fine pitted prunes on toothpicks, dip them in the syrup and set them on buttered plates to harden.

A ROLLER FOR LINENS

A discarded window-blind roller is just the thing on which to roll centerpieces and any other linens which should not be folded. The roller may be cut any length desired and a piece of cloth tacked to it. The cloth will serve as a covering to keep the linens clean.

A NEW TOY FOR A YOUNG CHILD

4578. Dolls of all kinds are now in vogue, but none quite takes the place of a soft rag doll. The model here depicted features "Bunny Rabbit," so dear to the heart of little boy or girl. "Bunny" is especially attractive in his new rompers. The Pattern provides the doll as well as the garment style. The Doll may be made of drill, unbleached muslin, terry cloth or toweling, or of flannel or flannelette. It may be stuffed with rags, or floss, kapok, or wool wadding. One could make the doll washable as well as "floating" by stuffing with cork and making the outside of rubberized cloth, or sanitas. The rompers could be of percale or gingham or to be real dressy of satin or crepe.

The Pattern is cut in 3 sizes: Small, 12 inches; Medium, 16 inches; and Large, 20 inches in length. To make the doll for a Medium size requires  $\frac{1}{2}$  yard of material, for the rompers  $\frac{1}{2}$  yard is required, 86 inches wide. For collar of contrasting material  $\frac{1}{8}$  yard is required. The features may be painted on the head or worked in with yarn or worsted. Buttons may be used for the eyes.

Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10c in silver by the Wilson Publishing Company, 73 West Adelaide St., Toronto. Allow two weeks for receipt of pattern.

Had Seen But Not Heard

Ever seen one o' those yer automobile sirens?"

"Sure I have! Yer can't go on th' street without one o' them women wakin' at yer from some machine."

An Excusable Error

The story described its heroine as a dumpling of a woman. The teacher paused and asked for a description of a woman of that kind.

"She would be rather tall and thin" suggested a pupil. The teacher thought the child was teasing and looked angry. "No," she snapped, "the lady would be short and plump—like a dumpling."

"Oh, yes," said the youngster with relief, "I was thinking of a noodle."

"When Hearts Command"

By ELIZABETH YORK MILLER

"When hearts command
From minds the saggest counsellings depart."

CHAPTER IV (Cont'd.)

A ticket to where? Jean's cold hands held the flimsy sheets of closely written script in a trembling clutch. For a moment everything was blurred. She had to get up and help herself to a small dose of the brandy which was kept for emergencies.

A ticket to Bordighera, of course. Hugo was coming here. "Due on Thursday," wrote Christopher Smarle "by the through train from Calais, the train de luxe." You need have no apprehensions as to his mental condition. He is as sane as he ever was.

As same as he ever was. But had Hugo ever been really sane? And had Christopher worded his letter thus cryptically on purpose? Jean Carnay shivered.

Coming on Thursday, the day after tomorrow; Hugo was coming here. Too late to stop him now. To-morrow morning he left London.

Coming here—coming to Bordighera. How on earth was the news to be broken to Alice? And to Philip Ardeyne. Mrs. Carnay remembered something the doctor had said, a casual remark in connection with his profession: Insanity was seldom cured, and it was always hereditary. That was his opinion, as a distinguished brain specialist. Perhaps other alienists did not agree with him, but that was his opinion. Was Alice's whole future to be jeopardized because an official medical board had suddenly decided to release Hugo Smarle?

A light step sounded in the hall and Jean Carnay hastily thrust the two letters into a drawer of the writing-table. She was standing there, trembling like a leaf, her hand still on the knob of the drawer, when Alice came in.

"Oh, I'm so glad you're still up, mumsey darling!" The girl's face was radiant, like a sun-kissed flower with the dew still on it, fresh, sweet, and indescribably beautiful. "Mumsey, I've got something to tell you. Something rather wonderful."

"Yes, dear?" "Philip has asked me to marry him."

"Yes, dear?" "I—I said I would, mumsey. Do you mind? I'm so happy! Oh, mumsey, darling, I didn't know it was possible to be so happy in this world!"

Her head went down on Jean's shoulder. There were tears—tears of happiness mingling with other tears of bitterest misery.

What was to become of this poor, pitiful child?—Was her cup of joy to be dashed to the ground before she had scarcely tasted it?

CHAPTER V

Oh, night of love—and night of memories!

Why, thought Jean Carnay, had she ever come to this Bordighera? What had she ever found here but heartbreak? There was heartbreak in every whisper of the palm trees, in every restless heave of the silver and ebony sea, in every scent that hung so languorously on the breath of the still night. There had always been heartbreak, because there was so much here that was beautiful, and always—there had been love.

She shuddered away from the thought of Hugo Smarle—poor Hugo to whom she owed so much and yet had so much to forgive. He was her husband, that madman who had been all these fifteen years at Broadmoor.

One could make the doll washable as well as "floating" by stuffing with cork and making the outside of rubberized cloth, or sanitas. The rompers could be of percale or gingham or to be real dressy of satin or crepe.
