Surnames and Their Origin

FAIRBANKS

Variations—None.
Racial Origin—Middle English.
Source—Descriptive, geographical.

There are a tremendous number of geographical family names which developed in England.

Often a man would take the name of the town or village in which he had resided, but for the most part this occurred only when he had moved to another place, or if he happened to belong to the nobility and was a member of the family which exercised overlordship over that town.

More often, however, he would take as his distinguishing name some particular part or place of the countryside or town in which he resided. Fairbanks might be described as a countryside family name. In the Middle Ages, when it ceased to be a merely descriptive name of a single individual, and began to be passed down from father to son, it meant just what it would be taken to mean to-day, "fair banks." Undoubtedly the "original" Fairbanks dwelt at some riverside spot in England locally described as such. More than likely he was a farmer.

This family name, strictly speaking, has no variations, being a straight combination of two words which have come down from the Middle Ages with little or no change in spelling. There are, however, a host of names which originated in England and consist of the combination of the word "fair" with other words.

Fairbanks, though widely known, is not an exceptionally common name. Yet it occurs often enough to warrant the assumption that it developed independently in several different places and probably in various periods.

PICKFORD

Variations—None.
Racial Origin—Middle English.
Source—Descriptive, geographical.

Pickford, strangely enough, is a family name whose development parallels that of Fairbanks from almost every viewpoint.

It originated in England in the Middle Ages, and, like Fairbanks, it is geographically descriptive and composed of two words which have offered little opportunity to change through the 600 or 700 years which have elapsed since it became a family name. At first glance you might be led to believe that the first syllable of the name was derived from a weapon or implement, "pike" or "pick." This is not the case, however. Indeed, there seem to be very few family names which have developed from any connection with this weapon of the Middle Ages, as familiar to the men-at-arms of those days as the bayonet is to the modern soldier, though many have developed from the names of other weapons.

The ending of the name, of course, gives the clue. Pickford is simply a contraction of the combination "pike-ford," the pike being a well-known species of fish, which presumably is plentiful in one or more rivers at spots where fords existed. The original Pickfords undoubtedly were families which dwelt in the countryside near such spots.

But this does not prove that all Pickfords actually are descended from the ancient country people of England. Names are often adopted, and doubtless have been through past centuries, in much the same manner that the most famous Pickford of the world adopted hers. Mary's real name is Gladys Smith.

Music Makes People Happy.

Music is one of nature's greatest gifts to mankind. It has been here from time immemorial. The shepherd watched his flock by the bleating of the lamb, the sailor found music in the wash of the sea, and the hunter was inspired by the song of the bird and the rustle of the leaves as the wind whistled through them.

Primitive man found music in the voice, and the skin of the wild beast was used as its accompaniment, and down through the ages mankind has developed this mystical magic power until it is considered to-day as one of the world's greatest forces, being used as a curative for the insane and criminal, to stimulate one's nerves in the advance to battle, and to entertain oneself and friends.

Music is power; it should be in every home; it should be taught in all schools, as is reading, writing and arithmetic; it should be encouraged by our civic authorities.

Music is restful, and makes better people. If you are anxious to get more happiness out of life, get busy now and give more attention to music. Patronize the concerts in your locality, and see that the children become acquainted with the piano, the violin, the phonograph and the many other musical instruments.

A GOOD SPRING TONIC

One That Will Quickly Improve Your Health.

With the passing of winter many people feel weak, depressed and easily tired. No particular disease, but the system lacks tone. You find yourself tired, low-spirited, unable to get sound sleep at night. All this is the result of closer in-door confinement of the winter months, and shows that the blood has become thin and watery. New enriched blood is what you need to put you right, and there is no other medicine can give you this new blood as surely and as speedily as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. This new blood goes to every part of the body and quickly improves the general health. The digestion is toned up, you have a better appetite, nerves are strengthened and sleep is refreshing. The value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills when the system is run down is shown by the experience of Mrs. Peter Arendt, Ravenscrag, Sask., who says: "I was in a badly run-down condition, and prostrated with nervousness. I did not sleep at night, and grew so weak that when I tried to move about I would be overcome with dizziness. I heard about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and got a supply. After I had taken a few boxes, I began to feel better. Continuing the use of these pills my appetite improved, I slept better at night, and I was soon as well as ever I had been. I have also given Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to my daughter, aged fourteen, with the best of results. I desire in this way to express my thanks for the great benefit I have found through the use of these pills, and to recommend them to others in need of a blood-building medicine."

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail, at 60 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Motherhood.
You are chatting together at the end of the day,
When liddle boy talks of his lessons and play;
He snuggles up close to your feet, and the leans
His head on your knees, when curly head gleams
All manner of wisdom (to him you are wise!)
"And what do you think, mother?" liddle boy cries.

He talks of his school, he's so proud of its name,
He mentions the old boys and their wonderful fame;
He tells you of something he "can't quite make out,"
A bit of life's problems he's puzzled about;
He looks in your face with belief in his eyes;
"Now, what do you think, mother?" liddle boy cries.

And you—you must give him the highest and best
Of all that is in you; for mothers are blest
With grand intuition of right and of wrong,
Of all that is noble and honest and strong,
And in the long after, when you have grown grey,
And liddle boy's just at the noon of his day,
In all his life's greatness you will still be a link
For often he'll wonder "What mother would think?"
—Hillary Brown.

Little Brown Bird.
O little brown bird in the rain,
In the sweet rain of spring,
How you carry the youth of the world
In the bend of your wing!
For you the long day is for song
And the night is for sleep
With never a sunrise too soon
Or a midnight too deep!

For you every lool is the sky,
Breaking clouds chasing through,
A heaven so instant and near
That you bathe in its blue!
And your's is the freedom to rise
To some song-haunted star
Or sink on soft wing to the wood
Where your brown nestlings are.

So busy, so strong and so glad,
So care-free and young,
So tingling with life to be lived
And with songs to be sung,
O little brown bird—with your heart
That's the heart of the spring—
How can you carry the hope of the world
In the bend of your wing!
—Isobel Ecclestone Mackay.

Investing a Life.

A man may make several fortunes, he can make but one life. He invests his years to build his character as he invests his dollars to create and magnify a business. If those years are spent on mean and miserable things, the product will be a creature admired and loved by few and probably on bad terms with himself.

Time is to youth what gold is to a spendthrift. There seems so much of it, the temptation is to fling it prodigally in a train of folly or at the booths of Vanity Fair. There has not come the sober sense of maturing years, that bids one take the long forward look, to calculate, to be methodical. The young ambition images itself as inevitably rising to the sun-crowned heights and does not realize the discipline and self-denial that must be the way of life for those who would succeed.

Fortunate are they who are advised in life's morning, before high noon or eventide, that the night cometh when no man can work and that every moment counts before the sun goes down. It is a world which, for all its laws and officers, gives each of us an illimitable range of choices. We are what we decide to be. No circumstances can defeat us; what is within is the secret of conquest or overthrow. "The fault, dear Brutus, lies not in our stars, but in ourselves, that we are underlings."

The old would pass on their experience to their juniors if they could; and they are prone to envy those who have the unspoiled years' outstretched before them as a field after a snowfall lies immaculately white and fair. "If youth knew—if age could!" laments the old French saying. It will not take effect if the sagacity of the elders more solemnly, like Polonius, to those who still have many years to spend. Youth, headstrong and impatient, would learn for itself that fire burns and the deep waters drown. Who, then, shall teach those that do not care to learn? The inexorable schoolmaster is experience.

The word fits when we speak of "spending" our lives; and well it is for us; after the spending, there is gain, not loss. Happy are they who, having built a lifetime into the purpose we were set here to fulfill, have no vain regrets, when it is too late to choose a different investment of the few precious mortal years.

It was a day in winter
When quiet hours go,
That I saw the Saviour
Walking in the snow.

His feet left no footprints,
His steps fell as light
As leaves in the autumn,
As dew in the night.

And when he went passing
The Sun took His hand,
And light filled the valley,
And spread through the land.

I First Compounded This Remedy For My Own Neighbors

Their praise of this newer form of Iron has spread so rapidly that now, after nine years, over 4,000,000 people use it annually.

Years ago I began to wonder at the great number of my own friends and neighbors who were always ailing, complaining and doctoring without ever seeming to get any better. Both working men and their wives were frequently all tired out in the evening, and a great many were weak, nervous and run-down. One had pains in the back and thought he had kidney trouble. Another had pains around the heart, palpitations and dizziness, and was sure he was suffering from heart disease. Still others had severe headaches, floating spots before the eyes, tender spots along the spine and a great variety of alarming symptoms.

For years I made a special study of this condition, consulting a great number of physicians and chemists. An immense number of investigations by chemists all over the country showed that three people out of every four who were run-down, were in their blood, a lack of iron in the blood is the greatest of all debilitating weaknesses. It is the iron in your blood that enables you to get the nourishment out of your food. Without iron, nothing you eat does you any good. Your heart, lungs and kidneys, and all your vital organs get their nourishment from the blood, and when the blood lacks iron, and is thin, pale and watery, you may suffer from the symptoms of a great number of diseases, such as the real and true cause of all your troubles. It is a lack of iron in the blood.

In the old days people often took metallic iron, which some physicians claim is not absorbed at all. An immense number of investigations by chemists all over the country showed that three people out of every four who were run-down, were in their blood, a lack of iron in the blood is the greatest of all debilitating weaknesses. It is the iron in your blood that enables you to get the nourishment out of your food. Without iron, nothing you eat does you any good. TO EXPECTANT MOTHERS

A Letter from Mrs. Smith Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Trenton, Ont. — "I am writing to you in regard to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I would not be without it. I have taken it before each of my children was born and afterwards, and find it a great help. Before my first baby was born I had shortness of breath and ringing in my ears. I felt as if I would never be pulled through. One day a friend of my husband told him what the Vegetable Compound had done for his wife and advised him to take a bottle home for me. After the fourth bottle I was a different woman. I have four children now and I always find the Vegetable Compound a great help, as it seems to make confinement easier. I recommend it to my friends." — Mrs. F. H. Smith, John St., Trenton, Ont.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent medicine for expectant mothers, and should be taken during the entire period. It has a general effect to strengthen and tone up the entire system, so that it may work in every respect effectually as nature intended. Thousands of women testify to this fact.
