The Fresh Flavor

of délicious GREEN TEA

is preserved in the air-tight SALADA packet. Finer than any Japan or Gunpowder. Insist upon SALADA.

and Graham flour. Sift into boiling salted water and cook until thick.

syrup. Cool, then add a cupful of chopped dates and half a cupful of with cream and fresh sugared or

A FLOOR BALL GAME.

A floor ball game adapted from

"rug golf" makes an interesting inlet, a hockey stick or a homemade mal-

Ten balls are needed, which can be

The amount of clear floor needed and should be covered with a rug. If tape or define-the limits. Any num-

Assemble the balls at one end of so that they roll to the opposite end.

Six or seven points is regarded as

To make the best score strike the first balls so that they lodge in the border close together. Then with the late balls knock the first balls off, two or more at one shot.

4719

used for this model.

let can be used.

VARYING THE CEREAL.

Cereal is so often the main dish of breakfast to-day that it is well to vary it as much as possible, making it of persuasion to get the children to chopped peanuts, mold and serve with enough to do anything. But he show-

Besides the advertised ways to serve the cereals which are bought cereal of these two grains, cooking for ready to eat, try these and see if they a long time to make them soft. do not become something quite diff- Sweeten very little and serve molded erent.

stewed fruit. For those which come in forms for individual serving, pour hot water quickly over them, allow a half teaspoonful of butter to meit upon them, sprinkle lightly with brown sugar and serve with cold thin cream. Or, in- door sport. The equipment should be stead of the butter, cover the hot cer- chosen to suit conditions. A golf putcal with apple sauce or stewed prunes, ter, a light polo mallet, a croquet malthen the cream.

For the many wheat and corn cereals, heat a tablespoonful of butter in obtained from some golfer who finds the frying pan, pour in enough of the cereal and set over a hot fire, shaking them too worn for his use. the pan constantly to keep from burnfor the game is about six by nine feet ing. Serve hot from the pan with the rug has no border, use chalk or thin cream. Though it seems a strange combination, there are those who like to ber of persons can play. Each in turn fill the centres of grapefruit or canstrikes all ten of the balls one after taloupe with their favorite dry cereal, another, as explained below. of course using no cream.

For those who favor the hot, wellthe rug and strike them one by one, cooked cereal, there is no end of possibilities.

Always prepare these cooked cer- Each ball that stops in the farther eals with hot boiling water, salting to border, which should be about a foot taste and sifting the dry coreal wide, counts the player half a point through the fingers into the boiling Those that roll to the side borders or water while stirring with the other roll entirely off the rug count nothing. hand. This prevents lumping and as- If a ball strikes any ball on the borsures a smooth, evenly cooked dish. der and knocks it off the rug, one

When fruits are used, add most of point is scored by the player. Each them just before serving or from a ball except the last one struck is theredish at the table. Raisins and cur- fore potentially worth one and a half rants will stand ten minutes cooking points. The last ball, if it remains to plump them, but most truits lose within the border, scores its own half point. A ball that stops short of the much of their flavor by heat.

Cornmeal Mush with Dates .- Make border and is afterward driven into the usual meal mush of a coarse grade the border by another ball is thereby of cornmeal in hot salted water, cook- redeemed and scores half a point, but ing at least twenty minutes. Serve in it counts nothing if it is thrown clear bowls with chopped dates on top, off the rug. Only border balls, when sugar and good cream. This is fit for driven off the rug by another ball, a dessert and is greatly improved if count the whole point. a little caramel sauce is used instead | The perfect score for ten balls is fourteen-ten - half points for ten of white sugar, under the dates.

Boiled Rice with Apricots.-Heat a landing within the border of the rug quart of milk in the top of the double and nine whole points for all balls boller and salt it slightly. Add three- knocked off the rug by a striking ball. quarters of a cupful of rice which has been soaked in warm water for two a fair score and nine or ten as an hours. Stir until the grains begin to excellent one. take up the milk, then cover and set in fireless cooker overninght. A little longer cooking over the flame will do well if there is no cooker. Serve with stewed apricots and cream."

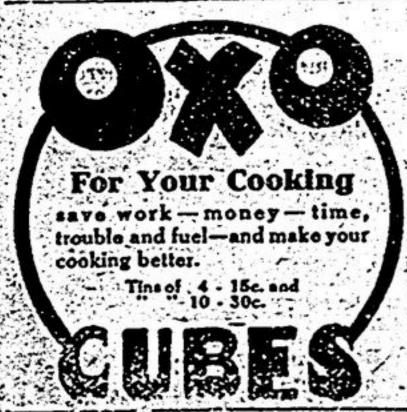

Graham Mush .- Sift three quarters of a cupful of heavy Graham flour, containing hulls, into a pint and a half of boiling salted water. Stir constantly and cook for half an hour, sweetening with two tablespoonfuls of brown sugar and adding a cupful of washed currents ten minutes before serving. Serve hot or cold with cream.

Whole Wheat with Prunes .- Buy whole wheat which has not been bolted. Make a mush with hot salted water and wheat, sweetening lightly with white sugar. Cook stoned prunes in the cereal, allowing them to mash. Serve either hot or cold with creami.

There are a number of cereals which combine well and make excellent cold molds to serve as breakfast coreal or with a custard of caramel sauce as dessert.

Rice, Buckwheat Flour, Raisins and Chopped Pineapple.-Make the mush thick with hot water, whole rice and the flour, half and half. Add the raiand a very little sweetening half an hour before the mush is done. Cool and add chopped pineapple, pour into molds and set. Serve unmolded with cream.

Oatmoal, Bran, Graham and Dates. Take equal parts of bran, oatmeal 158UE No. 3-25.

Send 150 in aliver for our up-todate Fall and Winter 1024-1025 Book of Fashions.

receipt of 15c in silver, by the Wilson

Toronto. Allow two weeks for receipt of pattern.

Minard's for Opraine and Brulees.

The Hypocrites

BY ARTHUR B. REEVE.

PART IV.

I looked at the little group about us. The preacher on his knees in the snow, beseeching deliverance from on high; the bootlegger and the salesman starting toward the huge tree that blocked the road; the girl ready to do anything for all of us.

. Unable to go ahead. Unable to go back. None of us had a thing to eat, nor any shelter except the cars. I did not like the attitude of the salesman. I wondered if his elopement might not be a blind to cover some other serious offence.

I could not even yet quite get the man-running idea out of my head. felt pretty sure that he was one who might know much about smuggling square before the hotel. aliens, traveling about in his car as Sweeten with brown sugar or maple he did. One thing Soper did not try to conceal, and that was fear. He was ready Cracked Corn and Rice.-Make a bo futile. I did not centre all my suspicions on Soper, though. There was the rumrunner, McDonald. Here was a master of the art of running in illicit goods. . He might easily know more about running in aliens who in a pinch could help themselves than bottles that could not.

Kennedy and I had not told the others yet of the cross-cut saw back in our car. Every face was disconsolate, hopeless, all except the half-frozen preacher's. Almost a light of divine inspiration radiated from his. Here, I felt, was a fine, firm character.

It was Craig who spoke. "We have something back in our car that means a great deal to all of us. I don't say we'll get through before we freeze to death, but my cross-cut saw back in the car will help."

"Glory be!" sang out the preacher. 'Sweet deliverance!" Wtihout a word both salesman and rum-runner started through the snow to our car. They were for starting right in on the tree. "Nay, brethren." It was the preach er who stopped them. "God has sent our deliverers. Our prayers have been answered. Shall we take time to thank Him and ask His sustaining help to continue?" Down on our knees is this almost waist-high drift, what matters it to us? Never have I heard such simple eloquence, such absolute faith that not a snarrow falls or a hair of the head Soper's glance would-wander first to the preacher, then to the girl. His face was tense. The rum-runner's countenance was a puzzle, the face of a man penitent for the things he had done and left undone.

Through and above the wind the preacher's voice carried. "O God of the weak, the sinners and the penitent, hear Thou this prayer from Thy humble servant! Calm these winds, if were transmitting to him, as he had it be Thy will. These poor lambs, requested." lost in the snow on the mountainside, have strayed far from Thee. They are looking in the jaws of death! Succor them with Thy bountiful mercy. Forgive us all. We need it. pegs. Murat wore the farmer's outfit, If it be Thy will that we enter Thy presence in the loneliness and wildness preacher now has on number six! The of night and storm, be Thou our strength, our Guide. O. Lord, thank Thee for what may be our deliverance. Amen!"

The preacher stood up suddenly, arms outstretched in wild supplica- you're a fine hypocrite. But I didn't tion. His voice rang over the mountainside. He was inspired. We watched him, fascinated.

Soper turned to the girl, still on his knees. "Jess, darling, forgive me for putting this marriage off. I love you!"

her eyes. "Jim, you mean it? If I have to die here on this mountain, I will be your wife, anyhow! . I would rather be two brothers of Magor, near Newport, that and die-than live without you!" have recently celebrated their golden the snow to the preacher. He looked at them kindly. "What is it, children?' Jess looked tenderly, shyly at her mate. "I'm a sinner, parson," gulped Soper. "I loved her, yes, but I was a scut. I didn't wants to be tied down to any skirt. But I want to be a man, an honest man. We love each other. If we don't get through the pass, we want to meet God right. Please marry

The preacher smiled. He did not hesitate. The coremony was a simplo!

A PRACTICAL UNDER GARMENT "Look, Walter." I turned in the 4714. This style may be finished direction Kennedy's eyes indicated. with shaped shoulders or a camisole There was the rum-runner pulling the top, and straight or knicker leg por- cases out of his car. Bottle after bottions. Muslin, cambric, crepe, sateen, the of Scotch he was flinging over the flannelètte or crope de chine may be precipico.

Two regenerations enacted before The Patern is cut in 7 Sizes: 4, 6, us. I, too, felt myself lifted to the 8, 10, 12, 14 and 16 years. A 12-year clouds.

"I want to lead a different life!" eize requires 21/6 yards of 86-inch The rum-runner had finished, ap-Pattern mailed to any address on proached the preacher. "I'm through; breaking laws. Tell me how I can be Publishing Co., 78 West Adelaide St., better!".

Soon we were all busy, by turns, Kennedy and I with the alternate re-Hef of the rum-runner and the salesman, while the Reverend Mr. Jones intermittently prayed. There was somothing about it that made us make quick work of the second-tree.

It was a slow cavalcade of snow. The covered cars that wended its way down the mountainside. On down the road into the valley of Derby we continued. So exalted were our feelings that our spirits now rose above fatigue, pain and hunger.

A few miles farther down we came upon a crowd coming up the pass with shovels and ropes, and, best of all, hot coffee in vacuum bottles and sandwiches, a rollef expedition looking for stranded strangers.

By the time we reached the little town of Derby we were an exhausted group of enthusiastic converts. Only the preacher showed no signs of fatigue. We stopped in the village

"I have a brother near Derby. He'll be glad to see me. I've been the black; sheep. Now I'm going back to the

It was the rum-runner, McDonald, who was the first to leave us. Craig! let him go his way unrestrained.

"We're going across to that telegraph station and file a message with the news, even if the wires are down." This was from Jim Soper and Jess, Jim speaking. "And I'm going to take your advice, Kennedy; hunt up the local minister, get a license, have it regularly registered. Instead of no wedding, Jess, there'll be two!"

I thought I could begin to see what Kennedy was doing. He was putting these people on their new-found honor.

There were only two cars left now of our little cavalcade, the Gideon preacher's and ours. Kennedy looked at his engine, then lowered the hood. Well, mine has stood up all right. I can go on."

Then he slogged over to the car of the preacher of the Gideons. He raised the hood, looked at the motor. Slowly he put the hood down, and gravely

"That's strange—that motor number-10342896-that's a stolen car." He did not seem to be in any hurry to go on, for a moment. Then suddenly he shot out with his sharp staccato, just the ordinary limp-backed little "But it's not for that that I want you, Bible which thousands of people take parson. The government of the Dominion wants you for the murder of one of its most trusted agents. The United States Government wants you

"You're no more a preacher than I am. Not so much. You might be an actor. But I knew it all the time, that' ners. Your name is Rask-not Jones. ter to Queen Victoria. You knew I was sent to catch you, although you didn't actually know me. Tea Supply Inadequate You felt you had to keep on playing your part."

I gazed incredulously from Kennedy to Rask and back to Kennedy. "The fire on the hearth didn't burn out, Rask. It left part of a letter which I have here, from the chief of his service to Murat about six disguises they

"Six?" I repeated. "But, Craig, there were only four hanging in the

"You're -- 't, Walter. Four. Six number five. And our fake Gideon outfits were itemized. I knew them all, anyhow. Only one was missing. Rask, it convicts you!".

Kennedy paused, then went on, more as if speaking to himself. "Rask; want to collar you, expose you, too soon. I didn't want those other hypocrites to backslide not yet, anyhow. I'd thank you to go on down Burlington with mo-quietly-and let me turn you over!"

(The End.)

The girl looked at him, her soul in Minard's Liniment for the Grippe.

Married on the same day in 1874, They crept on their knees through weddings in the village where they have lived all their lives.

The By-way Places.

When you are on the highway ... you will think about the by-way. The narrow lane or little street where love is at the pane.

The little place where children race and laughter gleams ou every

And there it is you'll long to be-at home and safe again.

highway is the travelled street where men in strife and struggle meet. The highway leads to pomp and wealth and sometimes to des-

. The highway leads to stirring deeds, where each must fight for what he needs,

But tramp the highway up and down and only shops are there!

The windows flaunt men's wares for sale, books, gowns and desks and chairs for sale,

The men and women hurry on to purchase or to sell, The highway throng is swept along, it may not stay for jest or song. Yet it is on the little streets that all those people dwell.

And all upon the highway, with the night-time seek the by-way And carry home the little joys which they have tolled to gain; For all they take, and all they make, is not for fame or fortune's sake, But for the love which lights at eve some by-way window pane. -Edgar A. Guest.

A Priceless Book.

In the king's private library, at Windsor Castle, as well as in the King's Library at the British Museum, the Bibles are a very special feature, and if it were possible to imagine these treasures being put up to auction at one of the famous sale-rooms, all the collectors in the world would gather in order to bid for them.

But it is not an illuminated Bible. over which some monk spent half a lifetime, or the earliest printed Bible, or a "Breeches" Bible, or even a "Bugge" Bible-so called because it says, in a certain well-known psalm: "Thou shall not be afrayed for any bugges by night"-which is the best guarded and most honored copy of the scriptures. This distinction belongs to a worn, even tattered, copy of the Scriptures, to church or keep in readiness there: This Bible lies open, upon a beautiful cushion, enclosed in an exquisite old casket, in a window in Windsor Castle.

The open page is much soiled and thumbed, certain passages are underlined, and there are numerous penciled notes in the margin. This is Genit was you the head of the rum-run- eral Gordon's Bible, given by his sis

-Prices Higher Tea prices are going up mainly because tea is being demanded by millions more people. Tea is the cheapest and certainly one of the most palat able and satisfying beverages known But the tea-growers have been unabl to meet the tremendous demand. takes three years for a tea bush to ma ture to the plucking stage.

Atlantic's Open Channel.

The Atlantic Ocean is the only free channel for the exchange of water from poles and equator. 'It is the only ocean wide open at the north, and forms a valley which extends wit varying depth from pole to pole.-

Cotton, so long regarded as the most suitable material for wear in hot climates, is now largely being discarded for fine wool by the people of the Oriental countries.

Tasty Meat Substitutes

We tell you how to make 24 delicious meat substitute dishes with Kraft Cheese, in the new Kraft Recipe Book, sent free on request. Send forit to-day and treat your family to "Something different". The children especially will benefit by the change in menu.

Kraft-Hackaren Cheese Co.Ltd. Hontrest Send me Free Recipe Book. -

Only 2 Daysfrom NewYork Sailings Twice Weekly Leaving N. Y. Wed. and Sat. Via Palatial, Twin-Screw. Oil-Burning Steamers "FORT VICTORIA" and "FORT ST. GEORGE" Landing Passongersat Hamilton Dock For Illustrated Booklets Write FURNESS BERMUDA LINE 34 Whitehall Street - New York City or Any Local Tourist Agent

Ritz-Carlton Atlantic City New Jersey

Smartest America's Resort Hotel.

Famous for its European Atmosphere.

Perfect Cuisine and Service.

Single rooms from $5.00 Double rooms from $8.00 European Plan. New Hydriatric and Electro - Therapeutic Department.

GUSTAVE TOTT, Manager-

Why Fish Are Slippery.

"Why are fish so slippery?" was a question put to a fishmonger the other day by a lady customer. The fishmonger did not know. ..

Three out of four of the people who eat fish are probably like the fishmonger; they don't know.

The reason, however, is simple. The slipperiness is due to a sort of mucus exuded through the scales. It is of the greatest importance in protecting the fish fro mfungus, a skin disease to which they are liable.

If the fish is so injured that some spot becomes uncovered by the protective mucus, a barely visible fungus will probably lodge there; and there after it spreads sory rapidly, finally extending over the gills and killing. the fish.

Another use of the mucus is to diminish friction when the fish is in motion through the water, and so to increase its speed.

Few people know that the correct name for "The Hague" is "S'Gravenhage," which means "the hedge. enclosed space of the Count.".

Warms you through through and through and Bourse

Let the Province of Ontario Savings Office Guard Your Savings

It is easy to open an account by mail. Simply send money by Bank Cheque, Post Office or Express Money Order, or Registered-Lotter, to the Branch nearest you and you will receive your Bank Book by return mail.

The entire resources of the Province of Ontario guarantee the safety of your deposits, on which interest will be compounded half-yearly. You can withdraw your money by cheque at any time.

ABSOLUTE.

Province of Ontario Savings Office

Head Office: 15 Queen's Park, Toronto

TORONTO BRANCH OFFICES:

Cor. Bay and Adelaide Ste. 549 Danforth Ave. Cor. University and Dundas Ste.

OTHER BRANCHES AT:

Hamilton St. Catharines St. Mary's Pembroke Brantford Waodstock

Owen Sound Ottawa Saaforth - Walkerton Newmarket and Aylmer