J. Morrison held an auction sale of stock and implements at his farm just north of Glasgow last week, for which the terms were "spot" cash. Notwithstanding this, the proceeds amounted to $1844, the absence of any terms not appearing to affect the sale whatever. With the ease with which so much cash can be raised among the farmers, it would indicate that they are coming into their own again. Mr. and Mrs. Morrison are moving back to Thornhill.

The International Women's Day of Prayer was observed by the members of the various churches in Stouffville on Friday afternoon of last week when a fair attendance of the ladies assembled in the Methodist church. Mrs. W. B. Sanders presided. On account of the stormy weather many stayed at home, thus the attendance fell below that of other years. Mrs. Morton of the Christian church gave a very helpful address on "Prayer". The order of the prayers were conducted under the following headings and by the denominations named: "Prayer on Confession," by the Anglicans; prayer "For the Church," by the Baptists; "For the Home" by the Methodists; for Educational Work by the Christians; for King, country and empire by the Methodists; for International relationship and world fellowship by the Presbyterians. The meeting was closed by repeating the Lord's Prayer in unison.

In a letter to The Tribune from C. C. Graham, of Regina, Sask., son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Graham of Stouffville, he states that he is well, and judging by the literature in our possession respecting the Western Manufacturing Co., of which he is Sec'y-Treas. Mr. Graham is meeting with big success in the industrial world.

The large firm in which he holds so important a post, located in Regina only a few years ago. In 1909 the Western Manufacturing Co., employed 20 men, but since then it has made rapid strides, until now from 70 to 100 men are employed in the Regina plant, while they also operate a factory at Moose Jaw, where they took over the plant of the Sash and Door Co., Limited, and now stand as the leading firm in Western Canada for supplying all kinds of builders' requirements.

At the Regina plant a new dry kiln with a capacity of 30,000 feet per week, also light and dust proof moulding vaults, and kiln dried lumber sheds have been erected. A large new fireproof power house has also been built and in this is being installed a modern engine of 250 h.p. capacity, which was manufactured by E. Leonard & Sons, of London, Ont. The power house will also contain two boilers 66 inches diameter by 16 feet, each carrying a working pressure of 125 lbs. These are being installed with furnaces of the Dutch oven type, according to plans and specifications of O. E. Tench, Newmarket, who has made a special study of furnaces for wood-working power plants.

Chester C. Graham, the Secretary-Treasurer of this large concern, was born on the 4th con., Whitechurch, at Vandort, on the 28th of August, 1876. As his parents are established residents of Stouffville and he being born in our locality, we look on him as one of the "old boys", and the folks at home will be delighted to read of his success in the field of industry.

On Tuesday afternoon of this week, a number of kind hearted men went to the Christian church parsonage, where the Ladies' Aid Society was having service, and sawed two cords of beech and maple for the preacher. Everybody seemed very happy while the good work was going on, and the preacher's heart, no doubt was the gladdest of all.

Last Sunday morning the Official Board of the local Methodist church met and passed three resolutions, one to be forwarded to the Federal Government and two for the Provincial Government. The one sent to Ottawa referred to the proposed legislation respecting gambling, while the memorials for Hon. Howard Ferguson protested against 4.4 per cent beer legislation and against any change being made to the Church Union bill respecting the property rights.

At a $50,000 fire in Sault Ste. Marie, when a large hotel was destroyed on Monday night, Norman M. MacLean, according to the daily papers, barely escaped in his night attire. Our townsman must have had a peculiar experience standing out in the zero weather with nothing to protect him but a pair of pyjamas and his overcoat. Even this, however, is preferable to being a victim of flames and smoke.

A rink of local curlers, J. S. Dougherty, W. Armstrong, Sam Armstrong and H. W. Sanders skip, went up to Millbrook on Tuesday and lifted the Carew Cup by 16 to 7. Millbrook won the cup from the Toronto Granites, but now the silverware is lodged in Stouffville, where it will remain until some team comes here and defeats the holders. The teams eligible to play for the cup now are Queen City of Toronto, Fenelon Falls, Cannington and Lindsay. The cup has been travelling since 1914.

The Baroness de Hueck gave a two-hour address in Ratcliff's hall on Thursday night last week under auspices of the Board of Trade. There was a fair attendance considering the weather, as it blew a perfect hurricane, and prevented many from coming who would otherwise have been on hand. The Baroness is a highly educated woman who can speak six languages. She finds it difficult at times to get the correct English word to express her meaning, but she speaks quite distinctly, although the high wind kept up such a tattoo on the metal roof of the hall that some were unable to catch all her remarks.

The address was very instructive. The Baroness comes of an aristocratic Russian family, and she told harrowing tales of the privations she and her husband underwent in the Red revolution until they escaped to England. When the lower classes got control in her country, they informed the nobility that "they had drank of their blood for generations and now they (the lowly) were going to drink of theirs".

There is a good deal of truth in what the Reds said too, although one would say they were justified in carrying out such a blood-thirsty program as they did.

The Baroness has a happy smile which wins her audiences quickly and she appeared in the costume of a Russian nobiewoman and answered any questions asked by the audience. All who braved the elements that night to hear the Baroness felt well repaid for their effort. Miss Fauny Morgason sang a solo and encore during the course of the evening, the school orchestra under Mr. Archie Stouffer rendered selections. Reeve F. W. Silvester acted as chairman.

The recent thaw has resulted in a plentiful supply of water, but fields have been denuded of snow, leaving fall wheat and clover exposed to the sun and frost. A few snow falls such as we had on Sunday will be welcomed during the month of March.

Rev. W. M. McGuire, former pastor of the local Mennonite church was in town for a day or two last week. Mr. McGuire and his bride are now located in the parsonage at 181 Brunswick Avenue, Toronto, and are meeting with good success in their City Mission work.

J. R. Foote, son of Walter Foote, who has been working his father's farm on the 9th concession just north of Stouffville is moving this week to the Col. Nichol farm on Yonge street, a mile and a quarter north of Aurora. The Foote farm will shortly be tenanted by Harry Paisley, son of the late Albert Paisley, who is returning from Imperial, Sask. While the section regrets to lose such good citizens as the Footes, they welcome back one of the old boys who after some years experience finds that Ontario is good enough for him.

The 400th anniversary of the founding of the Mennonite faith was celebrated in many of the Mennonite churches of Canada on Sunday, Feb. 1st. Four hundred years ago the Mennonite faith was founded in Switzerland. Through persecution, the followers fled across seas to Pennsylvania, and then, hoping for even greater freedom to worship God under the British flag, a large number of them "trekked" to Canada. Crossing the border line, hundreds settled in the Niagara district. A large section pushed on to Waterloo county and others came to Markham.
