EDITORIAL COMMENT

One half the world cannot understand how the other half puts up the bluff it does.

When living was cheap wouldn't it have been expensive to live as we live now?

Hogs are worth a good deal on the hoof, but behind a steering wheel, they are a menace to the country.

The M.P.P.'s all left Queen's Park this year in a particularly happy mood. Why shouldn't they with that extra salary grab of $600 each in their pockets?

Under the new redistribution bill in the Ontario Legislature, Stouffville is still to remain the extreme north boundary of the riding of East York. Whitchurch will likewise remain in North York, the boundaries of which have not been changed.

"Now come along," said farmer Brown, to his new hand from England, the other morning, "and I'll teach you how to milk the cows." "Seein' I'm new to it, mister," said the Cockney, just out, "hadn't I better learn on the calf?"

The Orange Sentinel, speaking of Church Union, concludes an article as follows: "The activities so noticeable now will be softened by time, and ultimately there will be a broader union that will embrace the Anglican church. That is the trend even in England, where the church is established. It ought to come more quickly in Canada."

Owing to the good conduct of the dogs of Markham Township, the dog tax which is collected for the purpose of reimbursing farmers whose sheep are killed by canines, is a paying proposition. During the past year taxes amounting to $942 were paid for dogs, while the amount of sheep claims paid only amounted to $232. A few good mutton eating dogs however, would soon devour the balance of the sheep fund.

W. W. Dunlop, chief inspector of prisons and public charities, has handed back $1100 of the public money he stole. He makes this restitution to mitigate his sentence. His salary was $4,400 a year which didn't seem enough for him to live on. Now he is out of a job and is discredited for life; another example that the way of the transgressor is hard.

A QUEER PROPOSAL

A queer sort of pamphlet came to our desk this week. It was gotten out by Geo. Colwell, Wallaceburg. He contends that the taking of interest should be abolished by law, and he quotes profusely from the Bible and other publications to show that the taking of "usury" has long been condemned.

Colwell, of course is not alone in holding this view. It was one of the ideas held by the men who wrecked Russia producing conditions ten times worse than they hoped to remedy by doing away with all authority, banks, money and many other instruments of modern industry and civilization.

The greater part of the world's business is done with borrowed capital, and only incompetent fools refrain from borrowing money because interest must be paid for it. Money wisely borrowed and wisely invested will always produce more than the interest paid for it. That is why business men borrow—because they can pay the interest and still have more at the end of the year than they would have if they had confined their operations to what they could do without borrowing capital. One can hardly imagine a person so stupid as not to see this. If money cannot be borrowed to advantage,

Does Mr. Colwell assume that men having money which they do not wish to use in business should be obliged to hand it over to others? Or does he assume that men would lend money at all if the law prohibited the taking of interest? Surely, any dunce can see that to make the taking of interest unlawful would be bad for those who borrow as well as for those who lend. why do business men borrow?
