Rev. Robt. Young, associate pastor of Stouffville United Church, was assigned the important circuit of Annam, near Owen Sound, by the settlement committee of the Toronto conference last week, but has declined the appointment. Rev. Mr. Young felt that the Annam circuit was too heavy a charge, and promptly notified the committee to this effect, he being present at the conference when the settlement committee was in session.

Next public holiday will be Thanksgiving, Monday, Nov. 9th. Election Day, Oct. 29th, will be a half holiday.

At a bowling tournament in Richmond Hill on Wednesday, of last week, a Stouffville rink composed of Messrs. A. C. Burkholder, skip, Dr. S. S. Ball, M. E. Watts and Joseph Grove, brought home the most coveted prize, our valuable auto rugs. There were twenty rinks in the competition, but the Stouffville bowlers capped them all.

In renewing her subscription to The Tribune, Miss C. Mackenzie, who conducted the west end shoe store, states that Port Arthur where she is living, is humming with business along the water front, with the elevators running night and day shipping grain. Her friends in town will be pleased to learn that Miss Mackenzie is quite recovered from a recent illness.

One of our highly esteemed residents, Mrs. J. B. Wurts, who has lived in Stouffville for forty years, left on Sunday for Niagara Falls, N.Y., where she will reside with her daughter, Mrs. Galloway. Prior to her marriage to the late Mr. Wurts some fifteen years ago, Mrs. Wurts was Mrs. Thos. Kelly, her first husband being killed in a railway accident. An auction sale of the furniture was held at the late Wurts home Monday afternoon, and Mrs. Wurts left prior to this so that she would not witness the always regretful sight of a happy home coming to an end. It is a distinct loss to Stouffville to have such a good woman leaving our town, but we bespeak for her many happy years in her new home.

Mr. W. J. Thompson who recently moved from Stouffville to Newmarket, has just won signal success in a selling competition put on by his firm, The Harris Abattoir Co. Among some seventy salesmen, W. J. topped them all in the amount of his turnover in a given period, and as a reward for his ability as a salesman of first-class beef, ham, sausage, cooked meats, etc., he will be one of four guests (the four highest) of the company to travel in state to Winnipeg some time during October, where the party will inspect the big new plant of the Harris Co., now about to open in that city. Mr. Thompson's win in this instance may be correctly described in the slang phrase, "he brought home the bacon."

A Masonic "send-off" was given Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Baker, of this town who are moving to Welland, where their eldest son is employed and where Mr. Baker will take a position. During the festivities Mr. Baker, who is a past-master of the lodge was presented with a past-master's apron, while Mrs. Baker was the recipient of a Boston bag. Mr. Baker, in the past, has been an able officer of the lodge and his services were often sought after. The removal of the Baker family from Stouffville will be felt in more ways than one. Our population will be set back to the amount of ten, for Mr. and Mrs. Baker have eight children, the eldest, Donald, having recently left to take a position on the Welland Ship Canal. Mr. Jas. H. Ratcliff has purchased Mr. Baker's house on Main street west.

Farmers who leave their conveyances in the United Church sheds on week-nights complain about the continual stealing from their rigs. This has been going on more or less all summer, but last week some valuable articles were removed. Some step might be taken to "nip" the thieves or thief in the act, and such example made of the guilty one, as to put a stop to this contemptible conduct. If some arrangement could be made to have the sheds lighted at nights, there would be less interference. Men love darkness better than light, because their deeds are evil.

There was an unusually large attendance at the Presbyterian church on Sunday afternoon for the induction service of the elders and new Board of Managers. Major Rev. A. L. Burch, interlum moderator, presided, and delivered an impressive message. Messrs. W. H. Clark and A. Mitchell remain as elders, so far there being no new ones added since the change on the tenth of June. The Board of Managers are: J. D. Aitchison, James Rennie and David Gray. Until further notice the regular morning service will be reverted to, but the congregation and others are requested to watch the official announcement as to the hours of service from time to time in the church column.
