

LOCAL HAPPENINGS

The early shopper has the best choice of Christmas goods.

Monday, Dec. 7th is Division Court day in Stouffville.

Despite the fast auto drivers in Stouffville, money is still the fastest thing that goes.

Lost—Gold Brooch set with Ruby Safety fastener on. Kindly leave at Tribune office.

The ladies of the Christian church Stouffville, will hold a sale of homemade baking, candy, etc., at Porter's ice cream parlors on Friday, Nov. 27 from 2:30 o'clock.

Now is the time to put on storm windows, bank foundations, cover cracks, make the stable warmer and do other outdoor repairs that are not so handy or so pleasant to perform when the snow and cold weather comes.

Mr. George Cook has disposed of his frame house on Albert street, to Mr. Walter Foote of Whitechurch, and Mr. Cook has leased the old Sam George property in the west end, moving into it this week. We understand the purchase price of Mr. Cook's property was $2000.

All of our deer hunters have returned, and we are pleased to state that none of them met with any misfortune worse than missing a shot at the feet footed animals they were in search of. A number failed to bring back any game, although a great many deer came to this section. Robt. Hara, so far as we could learn, possessed the largest animal, a 235 pound buck, shot in the Haliburton district.

Just twenty-four more shopping days. Get busy.

(Whitechurch Township Council is postponed until Wednesday, Dec. 2nd owing to County Council conflicting with the regular meeting time.

The Board of Trade contemplate putting on a progressive euchre and social in the near future. Funds for park improvements or maintenance.

Owing to the bottles freezing before taken in, the Snowwhite Dairy will commence the morning delivery at 7 p.m. completing the trip as quickly as possible. Fred Mowder.

K. G. Tarr sold his farm at Mongolla this week to a R. Cowperthwaite of Hagerman's Corners, for $8,500. Mr. Tarr reserving five acres and a house at the corner now occupied by J. W. Reesor. The amount of land sold consists of 76 acres with house and barns.

Reports are coming in that the turnips are rotting in the root houses very fast. This might entail a great loss and the farmers should look over their roots. Too much frost before picking is said to be the cause.

The town council of Newmarket, favor a grant of $300 to their town band, but before ordering payment they are going to let the ratpayers say whether they approve of the grant or not. At the January elections a vote will be taken on the question "Are you in favor of a grant of $300 to the town band?"

A local merchant informs us that petty thieving has been quite prevalent in town from the grocery counters, and two or three parties have been notified that prosecution will follow if they lift any more goods without putting down the cash in return. In some instances it is not merely a theft of candies, which are left in an unprotected manner in nearly every store, but larger articles have been taken. Beware!

Ringwood School Concert and Christmas Tree will be held on Tuesday night, Dec. 22nd.

The Tribune is showing a nice line of Christmas cards sold only with your name printed on.

The Stouffville district was well represented at the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto last week. About 200 people from this locality were attendance.

The local dean of the bakery, Mr. Ambrosia Stover, unloaded a car of flour on Monday, which, after finding its way through the dough mixer and ovens, will come to our tables as first-class bread or pastry. It requires over five car loads of flour per year for the local plant.

The cold weather of the past few days must have turned the attention of the Board of Trade to the slides, and Monday evening they delegated John Gower to supervise the slide this winter, as an assistant to the town chief who will be expected to deal with misceant.

Fred Pugh of Claremont, captured four prizes in poultry at the Royal Fair in Toronto last week. We are not sure whether Fletcher Goudie "groomed" these birds or not, but in any event he is likely to exhibit from his pens at next year's show, having won signal success this year at Markham and Woodbridge.

A few cases of chicken pox are said to be about town, although they have never been officially reported to the local department of health. So far as can be learned there are no serious cases, and a real outbreak is not anticipated, such as they have had in nearby towns when the pupils and teachers have been stricken alike.

At a general meeting of the United Church Board of Stouffville, held on Monday evening, Mr. L. Lonsborough was appointed caretaker of the church to succeed Mr. Joel Nendick who had faithfully filled the position for 33 years, or since the church was built. The Board were warm in their praises of Mr. Nendick's long and honest service, and he will now enjoy the Sunday rest most people are privileged to have.

The stray cattle which came to the premises of R. McNelly and R. Ogden, north-east of Stouffville, and which were advertised last week, have been recovered by their owner. The critters belonged to Abner Bluman who farms north of Uxbridge, and it is estimated that they had travelled thirteen miles from home. This is a very unusual distance for cattle to wander before being taken in by some farmer.

There is likely to be quite a building boom up on Baker Avenue in the east end of the town this coming spring. In addition to the erection of a new Mennonite parsonage, Mr. Ab. Ranker is likely to build on his lot recently acquired there, also Mr. Noah Baker is thinking seriously of erecting another dwelling in this very excellent location, where the drainage and soil is all that could be desired, and the commanding view is readily appreciated from any of the homes that have recently been erected in this section. Let's hope that the erection of our post office and Baptist church mark the beginning of a new building epidemic for Stouffville.

This locality is one of mixed farming, but one of the newest developments is the raising of rare animals for which there is a ready market. Mr. John Green of Mongolla, is the largest breeder of guinea pigs in this part of Ontario, and at the present time he has about one hundred of these creatures on hand. His chief sale is made to the universities where they are used extensively in research work. White mice are just a side line for Mr. Green, but he has twenty of these little animals of a rare breed which are valued for their fur, while a third line of stock unusual to most farmers is Flemish Giant rabbits, which Mr. Green is raising with good success. Truly, Mr. Green is developing a section of the farming industry, new to this section.

Yesterday (Nov. 25th), was an auspicious day in the life of our citizen Abram Yake, for it marked the 83rd anniversary of his birth. More than three-quarters of a century has come and gone since Mr. Yake first saw the light of day, being born in a frame house on the 10th at the east end of the town, and he is therefore one of the very earliest inhabitants still living. While many men at his age may have one foot in the grave and the other on a banana skin, Mr. Yake is alert and smart as most people at 83. Be this as it may, the attainment of one's birthday at such an age, cannot help remind us that our day's work will soon be done and that we will be joining that caravan that moves onward, so to speak. We congratulate our townsman on his longevity, and may he long be spared good health to enjoy the evening of his life.

The Ontario Department of Agriculture, through the branch at Newmarket, is preparing to hold a five weeks special course in agriculture, in Stouffville, beginning in January. In addition to the courses for young men, there will also be a course for girls. The very modest request to provide one room free of charge will be made to the council of Stouffville in order to help along this good work.

Within a space of ten days James McCreight shot a beautiful pair of hawks on his farm south of Stouffville, and brought them to the Tribune office for our inspection on Tuesday. They were evidently male and female, and the larger was four feet from wing to wing tip. Mr. McCreight's chickens were badly molested of late, and had been so frightened that many of them would not leave the pen. While Mr. McCreight lays no claim to prowess as a sharp shooter, he felled both birds with a 22 rifle on difficult shots. The one hawk had its crop stuffed with chicken and feathers, indicating that it had been living pretty high.

Since their marriage a couple of weeks ago, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Williamson have been doing double duty as a reception committee. No less than a hundred old friends of all ages have called on the newly weds in the form of chivalric parties, as well as the town band, the exchequer of which has been considerably enhanced as a result. Among the more interesting bands which played merd instruments was a ladies organization. Although the captain and first lieutenant were not chosen leaders because of their advanced age, one lady declared that the eldest guard of the party could remember away back when eggs sold at two dozen for a quarter, butter at 10c. per pound, or when the butcher gave away liver and treated the kid with bologna. Be that as it may, why shouldn't the good ladies of our town have a real happy time? It's the secret of long life. After dancing and rendering real jazz music, an onslaught was ordered on the front door, but just in time to save the west panel, Miss Host Williamson appeared at the aperture, and was formally introduced, one at a time to the formidable assembly, for they were not recognizable in their adopted attire of the evening. After the customary "haha out" the party retreated into the darkness having called a truce until Saturday evening, when the following ladies again assembled at the Williamson home for a real house party, at which the spoils of the "one great night" were disposed of. Those in attendance were: Mrs. J. R. Hodgins, Mrs. Isaac Barkey, Mrs. Dan Cook, Mrs. Levi Hoover, Mrs. E. J. Davey, Mrs. Byam and Miss Ethel, Mrs. Geo. Robinson, and Miss Charlotte Lehman, Mrs. F. Cockerel, and Mrs. Elijah Pennock.
