LIMELIGHT ON THE ASSESSOR'S ROLL

The Stouffville Court of Revision of the assessment roll to be held on June 4th promises to be more than a perfunctory affair. We understand that one business man who failed to get redress asked for of the assessor has appealed not only his own assessment, but that of two of the councillors who are members of the court.

One of the interesting points about courts of this nature is that when an appeal is made the assessment may be boosted still higher, if the court so desires, although the appeal is for a lower assessment. What will happen, Friday night? Will the court alter the assessment of the business man, and will it raise or lower the assessment of the councillors appealed against as having too low an assessment?

PLANTING TWENTY THOUSAND TREES

The Government Forestry Dept., have a gang of men working on the sand hills south of Uxbridge town which the Ontario County Council purchased for the purpose of reforestation. Twenty thousand trees are on hand and are being planted as a start on the reforestation of about one thousand acres of waste land, and when completed will save the surrounding land from being buried in sand.

The Uxbridge Township Council have purchased a plot of ten acres on the east part of the Wick's farm lot 26, con. 3, Uxbridge, which is one of the worse pieces of blow sand in the Township, and as soon as a few minor details are completed will have trees planted.

DO WE REALLY WELCOME THEM

On Friday the writer stepped into the office of a professional man when the conversation drifted to the summer tourist, and the treatment of visitors and strangers to our town. It is recognized as advantageous even in large cities like Toronto, where the traffic cop courteously tells a stranger in the city that he has made a mistake, and where minor infractions are oft times overlooked by this important arm of the law towards motorists.

Towns that do not have a "welcome" sign on every main road leading into the place are regarded as "slow" and out of date. As a rule, the sign emphasizes friendliness regardless of whether the community has it or not. Once there was a man who believed in signs, and taking the one at the edge of town literally, (not those at the outskirts of Stouffville), he drove in prepared to have a real friendly time. He walked the streets for an hour and not one person, save the town cop who belched out that his car was not near enough to the curb, spoke to this stranger. Now this is a mistake common to us all. We boast of our friendliness and advertise the fact to the world, but how much do we exercise our shaking arm on strangers, or discommode ourselves in order to give them pleasant remembrances of their visit.

The tourist season is about to open. Thousands of motorists will pass through Stouffville. Will they get a kind reception from you if they chance to pass your way, that will cause them to want to stop here again? Will you loosen up and act human to these strangers? Welcome signs are the most expensive things a town can have if the welcome is not there when the stranger arrives.

Stouffville has welcome signs. Let us ask ourselves, "have we done our share in the past to make them pay?" It is to be hoped that after this season is over every one of us can answer in the affirmative.

Messrs. Hiram and Robert Winterstein were in Markham on Monday attending the funeral of their brother, V. J. Winterstein, whose death is reported in our district column. J. S. Dougherty, brother-in-law of the deceased, also attended the funeral.

The death occurred suddenly on Thursday last week of Mrs. Sarah Percy, widow of James Percy, who died ten years ago. Mrs. Percy was born near Clarendon, seventy-three years ago, the daughter of James Pugh, a Welshman.

The Markham Township fire engine, which is at the disposal of all the farmers of the township, coupled with the Unionville volunteer fire brigade, made a hasty run to the farm of Richard Jarvis, lot 1, con. 5, last week, and extinguished a straw stack fire which looked at one time like a destructive blaze. It was within a few feet of the barn.

The prize list for 1925 issued by the Newmarket Horticultural Society is now available and will be found to contain many splendid prizes. Over $100 in cash, silver cups, vases and other prizes, grace the attractive list. Three shows will take place during the season, the peony show in June, the gladiolus show in August and the Aster and Dahlias show in September.

Last Thursday evening, the Newmarket Citizens' band, the Boy Scouts and the Newmarket Fire brigade truck paraded about the streets of the town. The demonstration was held for the purpose of giving publicity to the "Clean-up Week" idea. No matter how clean our town is kept, at this season of the year it is never very difficult to find some corner of your premises which will be benefited by a bit of raking and burning of rubbish. Clean things up and be proud of your premises, so says the Newmarket Express.

A division court case at Meaford arising out of the sale of a quantity of butter mixed with lard, attracted a large crowd at the hearing. Johnson and Tomlinson of Meaford had purchased 28 prints of butter from Mrs. Geo. S. Hill and placed it in the refrigerator. The price paid for the butter was 35c. a pound, the quality of the 28 prints being extra fine. Customers brought back some of the mixed prints and the merchants asked Hill to take it off their hands, but he refused to do so. They sued for the price of the seven pounds, which it seems had not been made by Mrs. Hill, although sold by her to the store. Judge Sutherland dismissed the action, as there had been no implied warranty on the part of the defendant as to the quality of the butter, so the question of quality did not enter into the deal.

Vincent J. Winterstein, an old and esteemed resident of Markham township and village, passed away at his home in Mount Joy at one o'clock on Wednesday last week. Born at Drayton, Ont. on May 20, 1853, Mr. Winterstein came to Markham township when a lad of 18 and excepting for a couple of years, spent with his son, the Rev. William Winterstein in Hawarden, Iowa, has lived in the township and village ever since. He was engaged in farming, of which he made a success, up to some fifteen years ago, when heart trouble developed, and on the advice of his physician, he sold his farm on the 10th concession Markham, and moved to the village. His wife, who survives him, is a daughter of the late John Jacob Lunau, a pioneer farmer of Markham. Besides his widow, two sons survive. Rev. Wm. Winterstein of Laurens, Iowa, who was with him when he died and Royden of Abbey, Sask., Hiram and Robert Winterstein of Stouffville are brothers to the deceased.
