EDITORIAL COMMENT

This is the season of the year, when, if it was a penitentiary offence to tell a lie about the number of miles one gets on a gallon of gas, most of our motor-going population would be behind the bars.

Those who are responsible for setting the date for the annual Decoration Day at Stouffville cemetery should get busy and select it now. Let's have it announced well in advance so that interested ones who live at distant points may arrange to be present.

Despite the cries of "blue ruin" when the government reduced the tariff on motor cars, all the firms are still going strong, and the new low prices as a result of tariff changes are meeting with general favor with the buying public. General Motors, Oshawa, are preparing to build a half-million addition to their plant.

The printing of Canadian postage stamps in French and English is being urged by some Quebec members of parliament. We do not object to French being taught as a second language in our schools, but why should an English speaking people place a second language in their postage stamps? This proposal is not likely to gain much headway.

Canada is facing a "stork strike". A steady reduction in the birth rate in eight provinces of the Dominion, as reported to the bureau of statistics, is causing serious concern. Since 1921, the birth rate has fallen from 25.3 per thousand population to 20.5. The death rate in the same five years shows a slight falling off from 10.2 per thousand to 9.5. The foregoing statistics include the whole of Canada except the province of Quebec, where no such records are kept by the civil authorities. Were Quebec included, the birth rate would be higher, for that province has the highest rate in the Dominion its families averaging from six to ten children and in some cases as high as twenty-five.

Before the customs enquiry committee at Ottawa last week the Hiram Walker firm of Distillers admitted contributing money to both the Liberal and Conservative campaign funds in Ontario for the last provincial election. This admission ought to show the "died in the woods" on either side of politics that their party is just as bad as the other fellow. The day of the "hard shell" is fast passing away, and people must vote their own mind and conscience if they are to get the just laws for which the better element in the country are striving. It didn't matter a whit to Hiram Walker whether his money went to assist a Grit or a Tory so long as that individual supported his views on the liquor question.

There still remains plenty of work for the fool-killer. Evidence of the fact is being given every day. The other evening in Western Ontario, a lion trainer in putting a lioness through her stunts before an audience was struck down by the brute and badly mauled before she could be driven off. So long as there is morbid desire on the part of the public to see dangerous performances of this kind so long will there be fool-hardy men and women to give them. Perhaps, however if the public knew of the terrible and excruciating torture that these beasts of the jungle have to go through to render them "submissive" for stage and ring performances, that they would not so readily extend patronage towards such exhibitions. The late Jack London, who had visited almost every menagerie and animal training school in the world, says that these beasts, ferocious by nature, are beaten, whipped, prodded and even burned in the most merciless manner to make them amenable to handling but that at best they go through their performances grudgingly and sullenly. Real lovers of animals much prefer to see them in the majesty of their natural prowess rather than as subdued and craven things.

COUNTY COUNCIL

IS IN SESSION

That much debated question, the best way of controlling the police of the county, will be again the subject of discussion at the June session of Council, which opened Monday. This question has been before the members for the past two years. April, 1925, saw the forces reduced to six county constables, and each municipality given power to organize one of its own. Since that time several townships, especially those in the south of the county, have formed their own forces and now some of the representatives from the south are not satisfied and want all Constables put back as county constables under High Constable R. W. Phillips.

The question of putting all constables under one chief, from what can be learned, will meet with considerable opposition. All southern representatives, with the exception of those from York Township, it is understood, will favor it. York Township, which has the largest force of any municipality, with a chief and 21 men, and York representatives are satisfied to remain as they are.

It is thought that if York is determined to remain as they are, the majority of Council members will not urge that they go back under the old system, even if the other municipalities do, although it will be suggested that York constables be made county constables, and although being under their present chief, will work in co-operation with the county force. It is understood that members from York will be agreeable to this.

At present, with so many police forces in the county, there is considerable overlapping and at times county men are sent out to do something that has already been done by the local police.

A report on the police question will be submitted in accordance with the resolution passed in January on "policing the county as a whole."

The question of building a bridge over Bathurst st., at Cedarvale, will be brought forward by members of Forest Hill and York Township Council, and it is thought will cause considerable discussion.

Another matter to be debated will be that of appointing another school inspector for the county. At present there are four inspectors, and some members feel that they have too many schools to look after. Several applications for the position have been received by Clerk R. W. Phillips and if the Council decides to appoint another inspector, the divisions at present will be changed and five made.
