"A large volume of new business, selected according to the company's high standards, was placed on the books. The rate of mortality has declined to a very low point and as a result it was possible to distribute to policyholders dividends according to successive increasing scales. Investments are particularly well secured. At the same time policy contracts have been liberalized and clarified, and the treatment accorded to policyholders and their representatives has been eminently fair and just."

30 HOURS WITHOUT A WATER SERVICE

Record Slow Job in 35 Years
Just when the majority of the housewives were busily engaged in the weekly washing of clothes last Monday morning, the town water supply failed them, workmen having cut off the supply at a point opposite or near the Presbyterian church, in order to make repairs to a hydrant on the school lane. Housework was almost at a standstill, dinner hour came, and still no water, at 6 o'clock the situation grew desperate, and people were seen scurrying hither and thither with pails, glad to get a draft from those who possessed a well. The operator at the switch board was busy plugging in on the chairman of the water committee, Jos. Borinsky, his aide Councillor Ward, and on the Reeve. All disclaimed any knowledge or responsibility for ordering the men on to work, but the town officials did get out and try to hurry up the repairs. It was learned late in the afternoon that the repairs were of such a nature as not to be easily fixed, and doom seemed to fall when the fact became known that there would be no water supply that night. The fact is the repairs were not even temporarily made until late Tuesday afternoon, thereby constituting a record in the failure of the town system of water since its installation thirty-five years ago. It was off the east end approximately 30 hours.

The members of the water committee can scarcely be blamed for undertaking so ill advised a job at such an inopportune time, but it is their duty to see that such a thing never happens again.
The little episode has borne home the fact that there is need for a "shut-off" at the entrance to every street, so that when trouble occurs on any side street the water may be turned off there during repairs, without interfering with the entire supply. The expression of the ratepayers on every hand is that the water system should be brought up-to-date in every particular, rather than that the rates be cheapened. It is our opinion that both objectives can be met.

SPENT LIFETIME ON ONE FARM

The death took place on Thursday, March 29th, 1928, of Margaret Lee, wife of S. Herbert Foote, a well known and highly esteemed resident of Whitechurch. Mrs. Foote, would have reached her 73rd birthday in May next had she survived. She was ill only a few days, hence her demise came as a great shock to the family and her many friends.

Born on the farm where she died, a short distance north of the town-line on the 7th concession, Mrs. Foote had spent most of her life there. This farm was the property of her father and was known as the Sam Lee place, the family holding the deed issued from the crown, it being Clergy Reserve lands. Mr. and Mrs. Foote were married almost 50 years, and had she been spared it was planned that they celebrate their golden wedding anniversary on Christmas Day, 1928, the day on which they would have been wedded half a century.

To this union there are three children who survive along with the husband, namely, S. J. Foote, Miss Elizabeth Foote at home, and Mrs. Whitlesey of Mission, Texas. The late Mrs. Foote is the last of a family of thirteen children, she being the youngest.
The funeral on Monday afternoon to Stouffville cemetery was largely attended, the service being conducted by the Rev. J. J. Robbins, rector of the local Anglican church, of which the deceased was a faithful member.

Dales who "stayed with the ship", until it reached Unionville when she too became disgusted and just managed to catch the train going to Toronto on which rode Reeve Sanders.

CRAWFORD—NESBITT

The home of Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Crawford, Lakeview Farm, Pickering, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Wednesday evening, March 21st, 1928, at 8 o'clock, when Marjorie Florence (Peggy) youngest daughter of John and Mrs. Nesbitt of Toronto, became the bride of R. S. Gordon Crawford, the Rev. J. S. Ferguson officiating. The bride entered the room on the arm of her brother-in-law, Mr. J. Hoover, to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Miss Isobell Squire. ## DIVISION COURT

His Honor Judge Widdfield held Division Court in Stouffville on Monday of this week, several cases being disposed of.
In only one of three cases tried were local farmers involved, this being the suit of Edgar Storey versus Ralph Connor. Storey is pound-keeper, and cattle belonging to Connor were impounded. In order to get them out Connor gave a bond, guaranteeing payment for any damage the stock may have done when on the rampage. Alonzo Allin, a neighbor of Connor, claimed $20 for damage to his crop under this item, and the suit was to recover this amount with $5 poundage fees. Judgment was given for full amount claimed.

George H. Bennet of Box Grove brought action against the Earl Electric Company of Toronto, to recover $75 paid on an electric washing machine.

According to his evidence and that of Mrs. Bennett they contracted for the purchase of a machine used for demonstration purposes at the C.N.E., but when the clothes-washer was delivered it was found to be old at the job of wringing dirt from soiled linen, and the Bennetts refused to accept it. Several witnesses for the company, including the general manager, testified to the fact that they were willing to replace the machine with another, but Bennet never connected up with their offer. They did not deny however, that a different machine was taken to Bennet's home to that which had been sold to him, and the Judge instructed the company to return the $75 initial payment.
In both the above cases F. L. Button acted for the plaintiff.

Gleeson vs. Nelson Wagg was an action for the payment of a note of $125. Gleeson bought the note from Wagg, and gave a horse and $90 in payment. H. A. Sanders for defendant consented to judgment, which was promptly given by his honor. McCullough & Button for plaintiff.
