The Ontario Cafe, one door west of Boardway's drug store has changed hands, Charlie Lee, the owner selling his business to Lim Young, a dapper young chink of only 20 years, and out from China just long enough to get a very good grasp of the English language. He can speak it much better than some who have been in the country for years, and he understands it better too. Lim says he will equip the place as a modern restaurant and ice cream parlor.

A quiet wedding was performed on Saturday afternoon, (July 25th) at the Christian Church parsonage when Miss Alice Matilda Lehman, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Lehman, was united in marriage to Mr. Frederick Keith, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Keith of Unionville. Louis Brillinger of Bethesda has a red hen which set a record in egg fruit last week that would make her worth her weight in gold if "Biddy" could keep on repeating the performance daily. He was a country doctor, one of those unsung heroes who devoted their lives to the alleviation of the sufferings of the needy sick, who often risked their own lives to save others, and whose skill and devotion to duty often were repaid with potatoes. See this pulsating drama at the Auditorium Theatre, Friday and Saturday, Aug. 3rd and 4th.

In making up last week's Tribune a mistake was made when a portion of one item became mixed with another item on the next column, making both of them ridiculous. Of course both items attracted more attention than they would have caused under normal conditions, and fortunately many of our readers were able to decipher the error. It's when we make such mistakes as this we would like to be as fortunate as the professional men who can simply "bury" them, whereas the editor must tell the whole community.

The sad and untimely death of Allin Rolph Lloyd took place at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Lloyd, 10th concession of Whitchurch, on Saturday afternoon last, following a long siege of abdominal trouble. The funeral on Monday afternoon took place to Stouffville cemetery, the service at the bereaved home and at the graveside being in charge of Rev. W. W. Fleischer. A particularly sad feature of the bereavement is the fact that an elder brother is also seriously ill with the same trouble and his condition is giving alarm to the parents and friends. Allin Rolph Lloyd was the second son, and was a boy of good habits, and a close companion with his two brothers, and an only sister, all of whom survive him. Every sympathy is being extended to Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd at this time.

Some citizens in Richmond Hill are agitating for the appointment of a local magistrate, and the matter awaits the arrival home of Hon. Mr. Price for final decision. Just why Richmond Hill should require a magistrate is not quite apparent to us. They are within easy reach of the city with street car service, while other places four times the distance from the magistrate's court room have no such official. It would of course be a great convenience to have a magistrate in all the small towns, but the Government wiped this system of disposing of minor court cases out some years ago. If another official is to be appointed in the County of York why not place him at some central point for the convenience of other parts of the county, outside of Toronto?

Probably the severest rain storm in years came down here on Friday night. It began to fall about 11 o'clock and kept up all night, at times coming down like a cloudburst. While the lightning was vivid, and the thunder frequent and loud, no particular damage was done other than that caused by the heavy deluge. Mr. Geo. T. Lee's house next the Church of England was struck and a few bricks knocked off, but this will be easily repaired. In the surrounding country there were several washouts and small bridges in farm lanes and side roads washed away. With the grain almost ready for cutting it was feared that havoc would be wrought here, but the amount of damage was not so great as was first feared. Some fields suffered badly but for the most part the crop stood up well, due to the absence of any wind accompanying the rain.

His enemy's son lay dying, a fierce blizzard raged, what was he to do? Self was submerged in duty and at the risk of his own life, he went forth into the storm and performed his duty bravely, because he was "The Country Doctor" Friday and Saturday, Aug. 3rd and 4th, at the Auditorium Theatre.

Mrs. Albert Paisley can out distance everyone around here for having an early corn patch. Mrs. Paisley has been able to treat some of her friends to a "corn feed" this week. The variety is an early white corn from western seed, that matures four to six weeks in advance of our standard varieties.

As a further warning that reckless car drivers will not be tolerated in Stouffville, John Spence was hauled before the magistrate last week and assessed $50 and costs for travelling 50 miles an hour. How much over that speed Spence was going Constable Pennock told the magistrate he couldn't swear, as he couldn't keep up the pace himself. In addition to the fine, Spence had his license cancelled for two months. Spence has been handed a stern rebuke, but there are others who drive through Stouffville that are due for the same treatment, and will probably get it.

Word has been received here by Messrs. John and George Urquhart of the death at Port Huron, Mich., of their last surviving sister, Mrs. R. J. Mann, who passed away in her 80th year. She is survived by six children of a family of nine, and by three brothers, John, George and James Urquhart, the latter living in the U.S.A. Mrs. Mann's husband, R. J. Mann, was principal of Stouffville public school over half a century ago, and taught the three R's to some of the present older citizens who remember Mr. Mann in their school days. He died several years ago.

Charlie Ward, son of our townsman Richard Ward, was seriously burned about the body while working in a garage in Georgetown last week. Another employee was using a pan of gasoline which came into contact with an electric wire causing the gasoline to leap into a flame of fire. In attempting to throw the pan from the building the excited man dashed the entire contents onto Charlie with almost fatal results. Mr. Ward fought desperately to put out the blaze, but before this was accomplished every bit of clothing he wore was burned from his body, and his hands and arms were also severely burned. His condition on Sunday, under the circumstances, was favorable, but he will have to endure a lot of suffering and inconvenience before he is sufficiently recovered as to enable him to return to work. His parents motored to Georgetown on Sunday. They had previously been apprized of the accident, but did not know it was so serious until their arrival there.
