NOTES AND COMMENTS

The Ontario Engineering Co. of Fort Erie reports the cost of putting down pavement on the Main street of Hanover at $92,784 and of this the province will contribute $21,601.

Just last week the 700,000th telephone installation was made by the Bell Telephone Company. As this figure only applies to Ontario and Quebec, the record is one that few if any, Telephone companies on the continent can equal. Add to these 700,000 the 135,000 telephones of other Canadian systems whose lines connect with the Bell Telephone, affording complete intercommunication, one has a total telephone development of very impressive proportions.

A driver who will attempt to pass another car approaching the top of a steep incline should not be allowed to take other people's lives in his care. The danger of passing cars at the crest of a hill where view ahead is obscure, is clearly shown in the terrible accident which happened to a party going to a funeral at Barrie last week, when no less than four of the five occupants were killed. The man responsible for the accident is the survivor.

Meaford council is very radical. The early date for nominations and elections has been selected in order to get the dates away from the Christmas and New Year holidays and a by-law to extend the terms by which members of the town council will be elected for a two-year term was given a first and second reading. As elections in urban municipalities are usually held only every two years the ratepayers would not be under any great disadvantage in waiting a year longer to make a complete job of turning out members of a council who had no aptitude for public business.

At a conference of representatives of the department of Marine and Fisheries, and the council of the Counties of Simcoe and Ontario in Orillia last week, an agreement was come to regarding the upkeep of the Narrows bridge. The Dominion government has undertaken to be responsible for the care of the pivot pier and the swing and for the payment of the power necessary for swinging the bridge. The two counties will have to keep the portions of the bridge leading up to the swing and also for the piles along the channel under the bridge. The counties will also pay for the lights on the bridge.

Rev. Fr. Maloney in his pulpit in Walkerton denounced in no uncertain tones all those who hold up their heads and strut by without paying their accounts. He depicted in anything but a favorable light that ilk who will indulge in fur coats, automobiles, radios, other such luxuries and yet keep merchants and others on their books for long periods for the necessities of life. "Thirty days is sufficient to owe any man," he said "unless the arrangements are made." Placing prominently in the category of sin the practice of having money in the bank and owing others at the same time, Father Maloney stressed the unjustness of the ordinance that compelled merchants to borrow money and pay interest to meet their debts while their debtors were drawing interest on fat deposits, mortgages and loans.

HOW OLD IS "OLD"

A life insurance statistician fixes 65 as the age at which persons begin to become old. However, that is his opinion merely. Many persons more than 65 would not concede themselves as old. They would set the date considerably ahead, as younger persons would lower it. Sometimes persons of 50, or even less, are referred to as "aged." The designation depends on the personal view of the person expressing it. To the child the elder brother may appear old. Old is a relative term and may have many different applications.

Far less is conceded to advancing years than was true a few score years ago. The time was when men by their facial adornment and manner of attire proclaimed age far more definitely than at present. Silvered beard gave a venerable air to one who would now regard one's self as hardly out of late youth. Old men wear beards now they would have a like effect, but cleanly shaven faces may belie the years.

As for women, not so long ago they put on caps at an early age and by the act advertised that their chief service in life had been given and they were inviting old age to hurry along. Now grandmothers bob their hair and often act as girlishly as grand-daughters. The years may be combatted in a measure, by not yielding to them in a manner to accent their effect. Once it was the practice to advertise one's age. Now age is to a considerable extent disregarded. When one begins to give much thought to it, it will the more make its effect felt. However, the person of 65 ordinarily will not care for what were the pleasures of 25. Age is manifest in our changing desires to a greater extent than in personal appearance.

PLOW STRAIGHT FURROWS
36 Entries in Match

Despite interruptions on the part of Jupiter Pluvius, which left the land in a very wet condition, 41 prize winners plowed their way to victory Tuesday last week at the annual plowing match of the South Ontario Plowmen's Association, held on the farms of John Boyes and Alex Johns, Reach Township, near Manchester. The match was one of the most successful in the association's history there being 36 entries, 15 sod, 2 tractor, and 19 stubble. The youngest plowman and prize winner was Norman Smith, age 15, of Sandford. While the oldest man on the ground was perhaps R. R. Mowbray, who despite his 80 years is still active as a judge.

Nervousness Vanishes. Health is Restored

"I cannot say enough in praise of Nerveine. I was so nervous I could not sleep. Before I had taken Nerveine long, I could sleep well and am feeling a lot better."—Mrs. Cash M. Watson, Undine, Victoria Co., New Brunswick.

The wracking misery of sleepless nights and restless days—of constantly jumpy nerves—was Mrs. Watson's until Dr. Miles' Nerveine corrected the fault — DISORDERED NERVES.

Disordered nerves are dangerous. Dr. Miles' Nerveine soothes, refreshes, restores them to normal. It was developed by a prominent nerve specialist to reach the basic cause of such troubles as depression, restlessness, worry and declining general health. Especially helpful to women during trying times of pain.

Contains no habit-forming drugs. Satisfaction or your money refunded.
