TORONTO STABLE EQUIPMENT

Rust-Defying—Because Hot Galvanized

There's one feature in particular you'll appreciate about Toronto Stable Equipment. This is the fact that the "hot" galvanizing method we use thoroughly coats and completely coats both the inside and outside of the steel tubing with pure zinc spelter. This method makes it absolutely rust-defying and proof against strong acids for the maximum period—while the method ordinarily used simply applies a surface coating and goes only a short distance inside tubing.

Toronto Stable Equipment will make work easier—keep cattle healthier—bring more profits. Let me explain the many advantages of Toronto Stalls, Bull Pens, Water Bowls and Litter Carriers—or get some of the Toronto literature.

POTATOES FROM ALLISTON SHIPPED TO SOUTH AFRICA

Forty bags of Alliston potatoes started a few days ago on the long journey to Capetown, South Africa. The fact that these potatoes came from Alliston means that the quality of seed potatoes being produced in the section is the very highest in Canada and portends a market in the near future that promises to be without limit.

This is not the first time Alliston potatoes have gone to South Africa, as the latest shipment is the outcome of a shipment made last spring.

The Alliston Herald has secured a complete story of establishing a connection between the British possession in the southern hemisphere and J. T. Cassin, the potato king of Alliston.

It seems that the season in South Africa is almost perpetual summer and that planting potatoes is done a couple of times a year. Last spring the department of agriculture sent to the department at Capetown three bushels of seed potatoes, one each of Green Mountains, Irish Cobblers and Dooleys. In due course Ottawa was advised that the Dooley variety was the one that most interested the experimenters for the government at Capetown.

The markets extension division of the Canadian agricultural department decided to make an endeavor to get a foothold in this market which is a profitable one at the present time for European potato growers. It was recognized that to please the South African farmer he must be given just what he wants and not what the seller wants to get off his hands. South Africans do not know what it is to cut potato seed before planting, they use the small tuber exclusively for seed purposes.

Mr. A. Fulton, chief of the markets extension division got all the data necessary to placing in South Africa a shipment of potato seed calculated to please the farmers of that country in every detail. He wrote to Mr. J. T. Cassin and after giving Mr. Cassin a lot of particulars regarding what was wanted made this statement which to the potato growers of Alliston is very significant: "It is possible a large trade can be developed in this variety (Dooley), and your district is now the centre of production for that variety, so to get together would be of benefit to both parties."

Mr. Cassin got an order for forty bags of Dooley weighing 2½ ounces each. At the outset he weighed them and when the experience of handling made it easier to spot the ones wanted he and Mr. Kenneth Banting hand-picked the contents of the forty bags put up. They were careful to see that not a spot of blight was on one of the tubers and that all were of even contour and perfectly clean. When these potatoes were finally closed in the sacks and delivered to the express company to be forwarded to Montreal they compiled in every detail with the requests of the department of agriculture.

South Africa at present uses many thousand sacks of seed potatoes, all of which are secured in Europe.

If Canadian growers under guidance of the department of agriculture can get the South African interested in Dooleys there is practically no limit to the extent of the market that can be developed.

"If the South African want small potatoes we can give them to them," said Mr. Cassin. "All that is necessary is to plant the seed closer together which can be done by adjusting the planter."

ONLY ONE IN A MILLION MAY LIVE TO 107 YEARS

In spite of modern science, improved living conditions, rejuvenation and psycho-analysis, the span of man's life, once he reaches middle age, is no longer than he allotted "three score and ten" of the days of King Solomon and David.

Infant mortality has been lowered and the diseases of childhood effectively combatted, but little has been done to counteract that inexorable process known as "natural aging."

The average age at death is 57.7. Out of 1,000,000—

72,074 will live to be 50
69,839 will live to be 60
41,705 will live to be 70
15,331 will live to be 80
1,739 will live to be 90
33 will live to be 100

All will be dead by the 107th year.

Eminent physicians and scientists of this country and Europe, at a two weeks' conference on old age held at New York Medical Academy, have gathered these figures. Whether life could be lengthened, or should be, were matters of divided opinion.

Master Sam Anderson, son of Mr. Hugh Anderson, suffered a badly bruised hand one day last week, when he was attempting to operate a horse clipping machine.

GOOD WORK ACCOMPLISHED

The gang of men employed on the construction of a new roadway through Stouffville this fall have completed the work assigned for the present. Next spring it is very likely that a penetrating tarria surface will be laid when we will have a roadway that may be pronounced as first-class.

The new roadway laid this fall to a width of 24 feet was under direction of the A. E. Jupp Construction Co. whose foreman is Mr. Wm. Gorman, a man thoroughly competent to act in this capacity. We haven't travelled several times daily past the work under construction with our eyes shut, and the manner in which Mr. Gorman accomplishes things is commendable. He has the faculty to gather competent help around him, and they work harmoniously, taking an interest in accomplishing results.

Wm. Reesin, the engineer's inspector, is interested, too, in giving Stouffville a good road, and has spared no pains to do what he could to this end.

We will welcome the return of Messrs. Reesin and Gorman next spring as we welcome the spring robin.
