39 Years Ago

Among those who were promoted to Junior III in the public school at Christmas was Charlie Flint.

George Urquhart fell off a ladder while painting Mr. Munro's sign, but caught on the telegraph pole, otherwise he would have been badly injured.

At the recent entrance exams for admittance to High School the following passed from Stouffville school: Harold Sangster, Frank Mertens, Harry Miller, W. Covington, Bruce Yake, Gilbert Richardson. The candidates wrote at Markham High School.

Fashionable wedding—A fashionable wedding took place at the Mansion House on Wednesday at 2.05 p.m. Rev. Mr. Barker united in the holy bonds of matrimony Mr. Baker and Miss Scully of Vinegar Hill, near Markham. Among the guests were L. C. Avideman, Levi Law, Jacob Snider, T. Williamson, and a number of ladies whose names our reporter failed to obtain.

Sudden Death—On Monday morning last Peter Kirby, son of Henry Kirby, of Whitechurch, a young man of about 20 years was suddenly called away. He was in fair health until the little fellow, who was playing with that dread disease, diabetes, and lived only until Monday. This is the second son Mr. Kirby has lost within a few years from this disease. We extend our sympathy.

Accident—On Monday evening last, Willie Holden, the young son of Mr. Truman Holden of Markham, met with a painful accident. The father and the lad's uncle were cutting straw in the cutting box, when Saturday last when he was attacked with that dread disease, diabetes, and around the barn, approached unnoticed and by some means got his hand into the gearing, crushing the fingers terribly. Dr. Freal, as summoned, and found it necessary to amputate the third finger of the right hand.

Again the schoolboy outgrows his clothes. Publishing circles report the expenditure by the Family Herald and Weekly Star of close upon a half million dollars for huge new printing presses to cope with their fast-growing subscription list. At their new low subscription rate of three years for $2, one is prompted to ask "How long before they outgrow this one?"

JACK MINER AND WOMEN SMOKERS

Jack Miner, Canada's noted naturalist, has the following interesting comment to make on women smokers. "The other morning while on the train en route from a lecture tour in New York City and Boston, Mass., while waiting for my breakfast to be served, a morning newspaper was handed to me which on the front page in capital letters, read these words: 'Henry Ford Hospital Nurses Discharged for Smoking Cigarettes.' I then thought of several requests I have had to put in print the impression I had of Mr. Ford. I say this alone shows you the caliber of Henry Ford and his interest in the moral side of life and in the born and unborn generation and this fact connected with the character of Henry Ford's will go down in history. If more men will take Mr. Ford's example and have a backbone instead of a wishbone, it will help slow this world up a bit and children a century from now will have healthy reasons to thank him. So many men ask me why I am so opposed to women smoking, and in reply will say: The biggest asset the world has is its babies, and the hope of the world for permanent peace is more love and education among its babies and who will profit by the mistakes of their forefathers, but what a pitiful thing if these babies' growth, be intellectually and morally, is going to be stunted through the motherhood of the land smoking cigarettes months before they are born. Right here let me say to the world, I will give more for any child's nine months health and education before he is born than I will any nine years after. I think every human being wants to see the world take a step forward and not backwards and who in the name of God can say by women smoking it makes this world better."
