LOCAL PUPIL WINS FIRST IN SEMI-FINALS

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Button Holds Proud Position

Miss Janet Button is again carrying the banner of Stouffville before the people of this province, by the singular ability she is displaying in the competition in the Canadian and International Oratorical Contest for 1929. After winning first place two weeks ago in the local school, Janet last Friday night entered the semi-finals by speaking at Agincourt, and being one of the three best to enter the second round which will be held this week end at some Toronto centre. Friday night's win places the Stouffville speaker as one of the three best in this district which comprises considerable territory.

Quite a number of pupils went down on the evening train to Agincourt, returning on the midnight train, and had the joy of seeing their representative carry off one of the red ribbons.

There were seven contestants, four girls and three boys, and the other two winners were Hickory McDonald of Agincourt and Laurence Lindsay of Scarborough high school.

These three winners will compete on an equal basis in the final of the district competition. "The Peoples of Canada" and "Canada Among the Nations" were the two subjects chosen by the speakers.

Miss Janet Button says The Star, made a good impression in her address on the former subject. If population made a people great, she said, then China would be the greatest nation of the world. If area was the cause of greatness, Russia would be one of the greatest nations on earth. These things, however, were only contributing factors. Freedom of conscience and high inspirations made a nation truly great. Canada's evolution from a land of forests and waste spaces to its present proud position as one of the great countries of the civilized world was traced by the speaker.

"We may look with pride to Canada's accomplishment in reaching nationhood without bloodshed," Miss Button declared.

Laurence Lindsay said that Canada was fifth among the nations of the world and that the late war was the final test of the Dominion's ability to stand among the nations as their equal.

Hickey MacDonald spoke on "Canada Among the Nations," and declared that, while a truly democratic country, Canada still expresses its allegiance to the crown and was bound to the mother country by common ideals.

The other speakers were Mary McGregor of Uxbridge high school; Ivy Crombie of East York; Fenton Freeman of Markham, and Anne Bernstein of Claremont Continuation school.

DISEASES OF THE TEETH

The problem of preventing dental diseases and mouth infections, is one that concerns the general public, as well as the members of the medical and dental professions.

The medical and dental associations of Canada and United States, are more and more laying stress on the importance of the prevention of diseases by a process of education. Following out this line it is my intention to present a number of articles, before the "Tribune" readers, pointing out the importance of the care of the teeth and the mouth, as a vital factor in the preservation of the health.

The public have not yet fully recognized the serious and destructive part played by decayed teeth, and an unclean mouth, in the diseases of the body.

The medical profession today recognize the fact that in order to bring about a satisfactory cure in a large number of the diseases they have to deal with, they will at first see that the teeth and the oral cavity are in a healthy condition.

We must remember that the mouth is the gateway to the body, and all the food we take, and air we breathe, passes through the mouth, and goes to nourish and build up the body.

A diseased mouth is a favorable breeding place for germs of all kinds in the pockets that form about diseased teeth, food accumulates and decays, germs develop rapidly, and manufacture active poisons. These poisons are chewed with the food taken into the mouth, enters the stomach and makes its way into the blood, to be carried all through the different parts of the body, the whole system being poisoned slowly, but surely. Many serious diseases, such as rheumatism, neuralgia, headache, heart and stomach troubles, and in fact, as the noted surgeon Dr. Mayo, says, is the cause of 75 per cent of the diseases that afflict the human body.

We are beginning to recognize that good citizenship depends on good health, a sound body means a sound mind and sound morals.
