As “punctuality is twin sister to interest,” so is regular attendance. We doubt if any child has a better record in this regard than Florence Barkey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Barkey of Lemonville. Florence passed her entrance this year when she was just reaching her 13th birthday. She has attended public school for six years, an in all that time only missed three days from school.

The Bell Telephone Co. have consented to the town using their poles for additional street lamps in Stouffville, but in order to do this the company must lower their cross arms and wiring in order to allow the wires to occupy the top space on the poles. An official of the company was in town on Tuesday in connection with the matter, and stated that it would be three weeks at least before a line gang will be available to do this work. That means that it will be late this fall before the new lamps will be ready for service, but they will be welcome just the same.

The report of the Middle School Examinations for Stouffville appearing on the front page of this issue should be most gratifying to most parents and to the ratepayers in general. Over 85% of the papers tried were obtained by the pupils, and in language and histories the number who passed are above the average for the province. In view of the fact that the staff was disorganized last Christmas, there were fears as to the outcome of these exams, but the results dispel all that Miss Hammond who stepped into the principalship without previous experience, and her staff, put forth every effort and those pupils who did likewise now find themselves in a happy position.

The Markham Economist says:—“The mangold crop is generally conceded to be more or less of a failure this year. Owing to dry weather following seeding the catch was not good and what growth there was was slow and the crop generally puny. It is pleasant to note that there are some exceptions. Mr. W. Stadelbauer of Church Street has a crop which will compare favorably with the best ever grown in this section, due no doubt first to the soil but more largely to the cultivation. His crop is uniform and thrifty, a root which he left at the Economist and Sun office Tuesday morning weighed 4 lbs. and 12 ozs., and measured 7 inches in length and 1 1/2 inches in circumference. And the crop has several weeks of growing weather yet before it matures.”

He will be remembered by many people here as when a young man he served an apprenticeship to the harness trade with Godfrey Shankel. The late Mr. Morden was born at Glasgow, Ontario, 77 years ago, and is quite well remembered by the older inhabitants there. He grew into prominence in Vancouver where he was elected to the district and city council. He was an enthusiastic bowler, and was one of the original members of the North Vancouver Bowling Club. His death is deeply regretted in the west, where he is survived by a wife and three daughters.

As this is the last issue of The Tribune this month, note carefully the date of Mrs. Lloyd's (Mrs. Madill) household goods at the residence a few doors west of the Mennonite church on Saturday Aug. 31st. at 1.30 o'clock.

Mr. Noah Baker has purchased the Morden property on main street, three doors east of Church street, south side. Mr. Baker intends to remodel the dwelling, and construct an up-to-date dairy at the rear which will be used by Mr. Clayton Baker in connection with his milk route. The new premises will be equipped with an approved milk house, wash and bottling rooms, for which plans have been submitted and approved by the local Board of Health. The present bylaw governing dairies forbids their use adjoining any stable, but still this situation prevails at the present dairy used by Mr. Baker, and the Board of health are anxious that a change be made to conform with the bylaw. Mr. Baker assures us that when his new premises on which work has already started, are completed, the Maple Leaf Dairy will be one of the best in the locality, which will enable them to handle their product in a thoroughly clean and scientific manner.
