COUNCIL AGREES ON ASPHALT ROAD

Following the ratepayers meeting in the hall on Friday evening a special meeting of the municipal council was held to further deal with the matter. The press was not represented and therefore we cannot give our readers any information on the discussion which took place. The minutes record the fact that the council passed a resolution instructing or recommending the Toronto and York Road Commission to proceed with the construction of a new road according to the tenders received for an asphalt top, the finest road built. The motion went through with a unanimous vote. The Commissioners meet on June 30 when they will award the contract, and Engineer Rose states the work will probably be started within a week of that time, which is the first week in July. With the big machinery that will be employed on the work the job will be put through in six or seven weeks, such time being six or seven weeks providing fair weather prevails.

Ratepayers Hear About New Pavement Costs

Annual Charge of $3,600 and Frontage Tax—Meeting Fails to Pass any Resolution For or Against Scheme—Finest Road in the Province

"That was a splendid gathering of ratepayers which assembled in Rattelf's Hall on Friday evening to hear the discussion on the proposed new road through town debated by interested ratepayers. The meeting was most orderly, and both factions, (for and against) conducted themselves in a fair and proper manner. True, there was little interruption but that was in order. There was no heckling however, and, from the platform Mr. Russell was the only speaker against, although anyone was invited to address the audience. Mr. James Rattelf, on request of the council, acted as chairman. He said that when the present council took office in January, they were faced with the question of getting a road to replace the present deplorable condition. An engineer was engaged, and after getting a proposition before the York Road Commission which they considered fair for the town a public meeting was called and the ratepayers consulted. Council was advised to go ahead. Since then some opposition had arisen. Now a second meeting is called. "We invite full discussion, and an opportunity will be given to ask questions," said Mr. Rattelf. On the platform sat all the members of the council including the reeve, also Engineer Babcock who is acting for the town, and Engineer Rose of York County. Reeve H. W. Sanders was first invited to speak. He declared that the cost of the new pavement would not burden the tax payers. A petition had been sent in which he admitted gave the council a job, but not a serious one. The engineer's estimate for the town's share of this new pavement was placed at $59,000, but now the tenders are in for the work, and said the reeve, "I am glad to announce that the lowest tender on the town's end of this work is only $54,016. This is for an asphalt top road, one of the finest built in the province with storm sewers, gutters and curbs. To meet this expenditure of $54,916 we shall have to raise an annual tax of $3,600, plus a frontage tax for those fronting on both sides of Main street of 9c per cental foot per year in the east end, and 14c per cental foot in the west end. The extra frontage charges in the west end is due to the fact that the road will be 28 feet wide there, as against 24 feet in the east end. To raise $3600 per year a rate of six mills is required. This would not mean that the taxes advance this amount he said, for cost of oiling and repairs to the present road is running the town $900 per year which would be saved if a permanent road is put down, and this saving means a mill and a half, concluded the reeve. "The figures given you by the reeve," said Engineer Babcock are quite correct. "They include every detail of work in connection with the job. It provides for all catch basins, manholes, and adjustment of street grades at intersections, even to taking up a few blocks of pavement if necessary in order to make it conform to the grade of the road. You will have to raise $3600 per year for 20 years, and those on Main street pay in addition 9c and 14c per running foot per year frontage tax. If they wish, this may be paid in one instalment. Those in the east end who pay 9c can settle when the work is completed for $1.13 per foot, and those in the west end $1.75. That is a man with a 50 foot frontage can pay over to the council if his property is in the east end $56.50, and be free, from any further frontage charges. In the west end he can pay over if he has a 50 ft frontage $87.50 and be relieved of further frontage charges. In answer to a question as to who pays for the removal of the old road the engineer said the contractor must take it up, and remove it, the expense of which is included in the tender. To another enquiry it was stated that the provincial highway through Brooklyn was laid at around the same costs as the road in Stouffville, taking into consideration the width and under drainage. That road, said the engineer, cost around $33,000 per mile which is a fair figure, with open ditches and 20 foot width. The difference in cost there and here was due to extra width and other legitimate details. Mr. George Downswell from the audience declared that the price of our road was too high. In Beaverton high taxes made it so that people could not sell their properties, and the high taxes came with paved streets. "Give us a vote on this question," demanded Mr. Walls, to which one of the council said they would consider the petition. Well, said Mr.
