

The Farmers Information

(From Dept of Agriculture)

Utilization of the by-products of farming is one of the solutions to successful farming. Farmers should utilize the skimmed portion of their crops, as well as the cream.

The fallacy of holding eggs for a rise in the market has been frequently shown, as these eggs invariably grade seconds. Farmers are urged to market their eggs in the very best of condition, which naturally is as soon after laying as possible, so that they will get the benefit of official grading.

Farmers who are feeding cattle for beef are asked to note that considerable numbers of half-fat cattle have been brought in by shippers. The market has enough depressing factors to contend with, and shippers are requested in their own interest not to sacrifice half-finished stock and thereby adversely affect the market as a whole. Feed your beef cattle to a finish and get all the market has to offer.

A Word to Corn Raisers
The corn borer is not the greatest enemy of the corn raisers of Western Ontario, according to Prof. L. Caesar. The farmer's own failure to choose seed suited for Canadian conditions and poor judgment in planting are responsible for quite as much damage as the corn borer. Prof. Caesar points out that United States varieties of corn are for the most part unsuited to growth in Western Ontario and there is plenty of seed corn of the right type available in this part of the country. He further declares that corn is planted too quickly in the majority of cases. Poor varieties of seed and too thick planting caused more loss to growers in 1930 than the corn borer he points out.

Buy Seeds Early

In recent years the tendency has been to put off the buying of seed until spring is actually in sight. Formerly the peak of the purchasing season was early in March, with many farmers laying in supplies in mid-winter. Now the period of active buying has shifted well on into April. The purchase of seed, the foundation upon which all agriculture rests, is too important an item to be left to the last minute. Ground is drying out fast in all localities and only a little warmer weather is needed to make conditions right for sowing. A rush buying of seeds is against both farmers' and seedsmen's interests, as naturally a limited volume of business cannot be handled so satisfactorily in a few days as if spread over a week or two. The buyer has not the same opportunity to consider quality and proper varieties and there is the risk of local supplies running short.

Weekly Crop Report

Alfalfa and clovers are in a better condition now than they were in 1930 according to the weekly report of agricultural representatives. At the same time eggs have reached their lowest value in years. The maple syrup harvest, it is said will not be up to the standard of recent seasons.

In Bruce fall wheat and clovers are still covered with snow and the farmers find the feed situation exceptionally good. Less seed grain will be purchased in Gengarry this season than in recent years. Low egg prices have stimulated Grenville farmers to cull their flocks. Milk production here is 25 per cent higher than last winter. Halton fall wheat and clovers are in fairly satisfactory condition. In Leeds there is considerable activity as regards livestock and a number of cheese factories have opened. Wheat and clovers in Lincoln are in better shape than in 1930 while several growers have already planted early peas. Norfolk reports an increase in flue-cured tobacco acreage to 20,000 acres. The new seed cleaning plant in Ontario is being given much patronage with a good demand for the certified product. Renfrew farmers have disposed of between 10,000 and 12,000 bushels of mixed car lots of seed barley at fair prices. Spring cultivation has started in the Welland district in the vegetable sections. Pure seed for mixing is very scarce in Wellington, the report blaming this factor for poor yields.
