"PRIZES"

It is announced that the girl and the boy from the farm, who take the highest marks in the entrance examination written at Markham village will receive a medal presented by the Kiwanis Club. It will result as do all such offers. The cleverest candidates are the Lucy ones. They whose intelligence quotients are somewhat lower, yet who perhaps had to work more strenuously than the clever ones, will not get the proffered prize.

Years ago prizes and prizes were given to those who came highest. It was discovered that the naturally bright pupils always were in luck. In the memory of the writer, the teacher gave prize cards every Friday to the one in the class who came the highest in spelling. Two girls out of the whole class were the only ones who received those prize cards. The others knew they couldn't beat those girls, so they didn't try to compete. Consequently just these two were in the competition.

Modern prizes encourage honest effort, thrift and work.

The prize list of our school fairs are more up-to-date than any we know. These foster a spirit of industry and ingenuity. The girls take more interest in sewing and baking, and the boys take an interest in live stock, mechanics and agriculture in general. Pedagogue

4th LINE UXBRIDGE

Mr. T. Redman and daughter of Toronto visited his sister's Mrs. M. Norton enroute to their sister's funeral, Mrs. C. Hopkins of Glen Major.

Mr. T. Dawson was a Sunday visitor on this line.

A few from this line attended the miscellaneous shower given at Wm. Todd's of Goodwood one evening last week in honor of the wedding of their daughter Laura to Mr. R. White.

Mr. J. Collins has put up an addition to his house, who says anything about hard times?

M. Norton jr. is busy painting his uncle's garage and house.

Chas. Symes is busy taking the census in this division.

Mrs. F. Woodland was suddenly called to Toronto one day last week as her mother was seriously ill, but we understand she has improved of late.

Sorry to hear that Fred Alsop had the misfortune to pierce his foot with a fork. We hope Fred will recover in time to take up his entrance class work.

Miss Olive Maye also (Maud Norton) attended the review of the household science class held at the home of Mr. Ed Evans last week.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

The town of Paisley had a bread war recently when the price dropped to 5 cents per loaf. The war didn't last long, and the price is again back to 8c per loaf.

Assessor E. H. Crosby in summing up the assessment roll of the village of Markham indicates that the population of the village had increased from 937 in 1930 to 1001. The total assessment of the village on which taxes are gathered amounts to $546,536. Now that the village's population has broken into four figures the residents may justly feel that the tide has turned and instead of becoming more wizzled up every year they are taking on new life.

Chesley Enterprise—"An engraving firm in Toronto offers to supply this newspaper with three cuts of so-called notables for the sum of one dollar. One of these is Archduke Leopold of Austria, who was recently separated from his wife in Vienna and who will shortly marry a wealthy widow who was formerly of New York City and now claims Canada as her adopted country. The Enterprise doesn't take much stock either in dukes or archdukes and we would be mighty hard up for copy and have money to burn to print in this journal the mug of a useless noble who is seeking a fortune by the marriage rite."

Pennie Wingo of Abilene, Texas, has started to walk around the world backward. He started several weeks ago, and is now in the west heading for New York city. He wears a pair of glasses which are constructed in such a way that while walking backward he can see what's coming. Across his back he wears a sign "Around the World Backwards."

Any one is willing to admire a man's initiative in doing anything that is worthy, difficult or commendable, but of all asinine things we ever heard about, this Pennie Wingo idea earns a right to be put right at the top of the list. The man who wants to go over Niagara Falls in a barrel is sane in comparison.

A communication to The Uxbridge Times conveys a timely and needed reminder to us all, regarding our conduct at funerals. The writer says:—"As a minister of the gospel I am called upon from time to time to conduct funeral services and occasionally assist in the same. Recently it has been brought to my attention the lack of courtesy and reverence shown by some individuals who, apparently forget where they are and what they are there for. It does seem perplexing and very sad indeed to hear men discussing crops, and markets and business and everything under the sun even to the annoyance of the minister who is trying to convey a comforting message to the mourners and friends and neighbours gathered there for the service. If the people who are guilty of this are determined to discuss matters of business surely this is not the place for the same. Sometimes you can hear their voices outside the windows and doors of the sad scene of death even above the message of preacher. It seems to me instead of showing respect it reveals a lack true reverence and also a certain amount of ignorance and disrespect and above all an unchristian act. It should not be necessary for me to remind the public what the funeral service is called for. It is not a place for social visitation nor a place for business transactions but it is a place where we should go quietly and reverently to pay a last respect in regular order and with christian behaviour."

BUDGET IN EFFECT ON FOLLOWING DATES

"The Financial Post"

Tariff changes, announced by Prime Minister Bennett, and unless otherwise stated, are in effect from June 1. The new sales tax rate is also in force from June 1.

The new rate of corporation income tax is retroactive to 1930.

Amendments to the law relating to personal income tax apply only to next year's payments on this year's earnings.

The new postage tax becomes operative on July 1.

The change in the stamp tax on cheques will take effect on a date to be decided, but likely on July 1.

New customs duty on magazines becomes effective July 1, prior to which date decisions as to exemptions can be made.

MELVILLE

Mrs. John Mutch of Toronto is visiting her daughter Mrs. Alex. Bruce.

Miss Blanche Topham of Whitby is home at present for her holiday's.

Mr. and Mrs. Abe Hisey and son Lloyd also Mrs. Wiff. McKay visited with Mrs. J. Nigh one afternoon last week.

Mrs. Wm. Forrester spent a few days with her daughter Mrs. Reid Brumwell.

Mr. and Mrs. David Stouffer and daughters Marion and Helen of Ringwood called on Mr. and Mrs. Willis Lehman on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Alf Longbottom, and daughters Doris and Ruth of Toronto called on Mrs. J. Nigh on Sunday.

Don't forget the play to be given in Stouffville Auditorium Theatre, on June 18, by the W. A. of the Melville United Church. The play is entitled "The Secret Society of Cabbageville."

MR. BENNETT'S SECOND BUDGET

Mr. Bennett's budget contains all the new taxes that were expected and a great many more. It provides a full measure of tariff proposals for the development of Canadian economic life but emphasizes protective features. It cannot be said Mr. Bennett has been false to pre-election pledges; he has implemented his promise of higher protection; he has made a beginning on a national fuel policy; he has reduced the income tax (although not by much) and he has continued to spend money with all the extravagance that characterized his platform promises. Therein lies the chief weakness of the budget; it sees only one way to meet a deficit in national revenue; namely, increased taxation. This year's estimates show a reduction of $37,000,000 but this saving may be drastically reduced when the supplementary estimates come down. On the other hand, new taxation is imposed that - is estimated to bring in $94,000,000 of new revenue. Adding $94,000,000 to federal tax burdens at a time when business is seriously depressed will in itself offset much, if not all of the stimulus provided to special interests by new protective proposals.

CLAREMONT

Rev. A. McLellan was in Belleville for a week attending the Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church which opened June 2nd.

The members of the United Church Ladies' Aid went to Brooklin on Wednesday, June 3rd, in response to an invitation from the United Church Ladies' Aid of that place. They report having spent a most enjoyable afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. Mackie where the meeting was held.

After the business part of the meeting ended the Claremont ladies provided a short program which was followed by a social hour. Before leaving Mrs. R. Rawson, seconded by Mrs. H. G. McIntyre, expressed the appreciation of the visitors for the very pleasant afternoon which had been made possible through the kind thoughtfulness of the Brooklin ladies.

A meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. W. G. Scott on Tuesday afternoon, June 2nd, when the grandmothers of the community were guests of honor. Seventeen grandmothers were present.

On several former occasions the grandmothers provided the program for the June meeting but this year Mrs. E. Wright, of Odessa, a government institute worker, was the special speaker for the afternoon. Mrs. Wright who is a graduate nurse, and takes a keen interest in institute work in her own community, spoke on "Institute Routes to a Happy Community." Her address embodied many timely suggestions as to ways and means of making institute meetings more helpful and interesting. A paper on "Temperance and social reform" by Mrs. J. Coates indicated that much time and thought had been given to the preparation of it. Important information and the effects being put forth to remedy them were given in concise form. She also stressed the need of educating the youth of our community - to understand the dangers of intemperance and other social evils.

At the close of the meeting a pleasant social hour was spent over the tea cups.

WEEKLY CROP REPORT

Fall wheat is looking exceptionally well in all parts of the Province except the North Western section of Southern Ontario, which has suffered considerably from winter killing. Many fields of rye are now in heat and give prospects of a heavy yield. Spring grains such as Oats, Barley and Peas are now well above ground and prospects in comparison with other years would indicate that yields will be above the average. A considerable increase in acreage of potatoes, field corn and sweet corn has been noted. In the special crop sections farmers are completing the planting of sugar beets, tobacco and beans. Considerable falling off has been noted in the amount of milk being supplied to the cheese factory due largely to the low prices being paid for milk. Many farmers are feeding their milk to younger livestock such as pigs and calves. There has been a heavy mortality in young pigs with the result that the large increase in hog population that was expected, has not been realized. Many farmers are switching from their egg-laying breeds to dual-purpose breeds of poultry. This is due to low prices of eggs and satisfactory prices of dressed poultry.
