Local weather prophets point out to us that last Saturday was the first one in the last eight that it had not rained during the day. As we had a heavy downpour on Sunday, we have been averaging at least one rainfall a week, but there has not been too much moisture for the crops.

The colored quintette which had charge of the singing at the Mennonite camp meetings last summer in the arena, proved their popularity in this district once again, when on Monday evening they came here for a one evening engagement. 2500 people heard them sing the old time gospel melodies with their customary vigor, and a collection was lifted amounting to $135. While the big evangelistic camp meetings will be held as usual this summer, the quintette will not participate, but it is whispered that something just as fine is promised. Over 500 automobiles parked on the streets and in the grounds on Monday evening.

The moth had a spread from tip to tip of wings of six inches, while the colorings of the wings and body are beyond description in their beauty.

Also Monday to Wednesday next week this theatre will present the "Prince of Diamonds," and a big double bill attraction, including "Around the Corner," and the Cohns and Kellys. Regular prices. Show opens 8:30 each evening, excepting Saturday at 8.

During the heavy electrical storm which passed over this locality on Sunday, lightning struck the barn on the farm of Mr. Sandy Jones just east of the Presbyterian Church, but fortunately did not fire the building. The bolt appeared to strike the west gable of the building, but glanced off without going down to the horse stables beneath. The roof boards and the shingles where the lightning struck were thrown in every direction. Total damage estimated at $40. At the time the barn was struck around 6 p.m. Mr. Jones was in the stables doing the evening chores. The shock brought him to his knees and left him with a sickening feeling for a time, but he soon recovered.

Congratulations are due Miss Doris Sinclair of Ringwood daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Sinclair, also Miss Evelyn Reesor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Reesor, on obtaining their graduation diplomas this year from Toronto University. Miss Reesor graduated in arts, while Miss Sinclair graduated in physiotherapy, a new department only recently introduced to the University of Toronto. Miss Sinclair has the honor to be among the first graduates in the course. Both these young ladies obtained their middle school course at Stouffville not so very long ago, and their steady advancement to the end of their university course may justly be a matter of pride to themselves, as it is to their many friends.

Mr. N. H. Boden of Vancouver was in town last week visiting relatives here among the Yake families and also with Mr. and Mrs. William Quantz. Mr. Boden lived in Uxbridge 40 years ago just south of the park on the 7th concession. Speaking of condition on the Pacific coast Mr. Boden declares that Vancouver is not too bad. Victoria, however, is suffering from unemployment. Our visitor is a newspaper man in Vancouver where he issues a couple of free publications as advertising sheets. We read Mr. Boden a letter which appears in this issue from W. B. Martin of Victoria, and in the main he agrees with the opinions expressed there, especially objecting to the Liberal and Conservative governments of the past handing out healthy life-annual payments to favored people.

The husky little bumble bee is growing in importance. In days of old he made his rounds, gathered his meed of honey for home consumption, sang his little song, and only used his warmer-end in self-defence. Now he is becoming a factor in our transportation problem, as an auto driver from Uxbridge realized a few days ago when his big car was ditched on the 10th concession just north of Stouffville, at a result of one of these busy bodies breezing in the open window determined to ride with the driver. In his attempt at swinging his arms like a professional boxer, (with but little success) the car landed over the bank and came to a halt. The little bee went on his way, and so did the autoist but he went afoot. A wrecking crew from Stouffville went up and heaved the big car on to the road. Like the driver the engine was unharmed, but the body of the car was damaged considerably. Harry Peacock was called in to play and successfully repaired the broken and dented parts. If our Uxbridge friend knows of anything sweeter than honey, it's certainly not a visit from a big healthy bee when one is scorching along at 35 per.

When the rain poured and the thunder roared down on us last Sunday in the manner it did, Frank Kribbs concluded that the elements were celebrating with him. On that occasion Frank reached his 62nd birthday, he being born in Stouffville on June 14, 1869.

On Monday Mr. A. S. Collins had his first picking of strawberries for the season from his gardens in the east end. Mr. Collins is always to the front with his early fruit which is so desirable in the early summer season. The first home-grown berries in the stores this season were selling at 25 cents a box, on Tuesday.

Rev. Robt. Young, one time minister at Stouffville, but for some years pastor at Elmwood, near Hanover, has been transferred to Horning's Mills in the Shelburne district, according to announcement of the Settlement Committee of the United Church conference. The change will be made next month.

Mr. Louis Pipher and his sister Mrs. Lemon who have been living in the old Leaney property immediately east of the public library were forced to give up house-keeping this week owing to Mr. Pipher's ill health. He is 84 years of age while his sister is 88. The aged couple have gone to live with his daughter Mrs. Dan. Giebner of Lemonville.

When the little church at Peachs' Corners was crowded beyond its seating capacity on a recent Sunday evening, the radio programs of Seth Parker were given an added stimulus in this territory. A group of young people from Allandale came down and put on a program at the regular evening church service, impersonating the characters of the famous Seth Parker programs broadcast every Sunday evening. The moral lesson of toleration, good will toward each other, was in itself a whole sermon, but the singing of the old hymns so familiar and so beloved by christian people, met a hearty response and as one man said on leaving the church, "well, that was as good as a sermon to me". The characters were extra well taken, and it is interesting to note that the old captain who plays his roll well is none other than Arthur Pugh, a brother to Constable Alf. Pugh and Mr. David Pugh of Stouffville.

NOTICE TO MY CLIENTELE
I understand that rumours have crept out that I would be leaving Stouffville shortly to spend the greater part of my time in another district. While it is true that I have recently been offered a position elsewhere it is also true that I have declined the offer. In view of the fact that my practice in this district is continually growing I feel that I should continue to serve my many friends and acquaintances in this locality and give the people of my home district the benefits of my recognized skill and my excellent optometric education. It may be interesting to know that my reputation for good work and low prices for the highest quality of glasses obtainable is beginning to spread so that I am already drawing much from Toronto and as far afield as Brampton, Muskoka, Sunderland and Port Perry. It may also be interesting to know that ninety per cent of all spectacleware that I now use is made in Canada. This is remarkable because of the fact that the manufacture of spectacle lenses and frames has only recently been established in Canada on a large scale.
