IN MEMORIAM In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Joseph, who passed away on July 13, 1930. Loved in life. Treasured in death. A beautiful memory is all that is left. Sadly missed by father, mother, sister and brother.

IN MEMORIAM Lewis—in loving memory of Will Lewis who passed away July 14, 1926. He had no one a last farewell. He said goodbye to none. His spirit fled before we knew. That he from us had gone. Ever remembered by wife and daughters.

IN MEMORIAM In memory of my dear husband John Grove who died on July 13, 1930. Just a sweet remembrance. From a memory fond and true, Just a token of affection, And a longing still for you. When the shades of night are falling. And I am sitting all alone, There often comes a longing. If you only could come home, Sadly missed by his wife.

IN MEMORIAM In loving memory of a dear wife and grandmother, Mrs. W. P. White who passed away on July 14, 1929. God knew that you were suffering. He knew that you were in pain. He knew that you would never get better.

IN MEMORIAM In this world again. He saw the road was getting rough. The hills were hard to climb. So he closed your weary eyelids. And whispered "Peace Be Thine". Sadly missed by husband and granddaughter Dorothy.

IN MEMORIAM Also—in loving memory of a dear husband and father, Joseph W. Also who passed away July 19th, 1930. Dear dad in our hearts your memory lingers. Sweetly, fond and true. There is not a day dear father. We do not think of you. Friends may think we have forgotten. When at times they see us smile. But they do not know the heartache. That smile hides all the while. Sadly missed by wife and family.

CARETAKER VOTED A SALARY INCREASE

Members Tied on the Question—Chairman Casts Deciding Vote

An incident occurred at the school board meeting on Friday evening that has not happened in the last three years at least. Trustees McMullen and Lloyd voted against a salary increase to Mr. Jesse Cober the caretaker while trustees Dr. Ball and Ambrose Stover supported a motion to give Mr. Cober $10 per month increase. Having the deciding vote A. V. Nolan, chairman, declared the motion carried, and Mr. Cober will receive $65 per month instead of $55 as heretofore.

Both Mr. McMullen and Mr. Lloyd stated that Mr. Cober was really doing excellent work, but they felt that the cost of living had decreased, and that others were willing to do the work for the lesser sum. On the other hand the supporters of the increase said Mr. Cober was not paid in accordance with the work he did. They argued that he saved the board the amount of the increase in the manner in which he looks after the school. Mr. Edw. Baker, the other trustee was not present at the meeting.

Only one tender was received for redecorating two rooms, and the job was awarded to Harmon Hoover at $100. This is the usual price paid for redecorating these rooms, and the work will be done under specifications which have been laid down.

An account which the board always presents as being too high a rate per day was passed for payment to E. H. Lindsay for $75.65. This was for his services as presiding examiner at the recent middle and upper school examinations. The rate is $12 per day plus $2 for meals and $1.65 travelling expenses. Most people would travel anywhere on their own expense to secure a job at $12 per day, but the Department of Education sets the rate of pay and school boards are forced to come across.

Two accounts were laid over until further information can be secured. Walter Scott sent in an account for $6.87 and James Stewart one for $8.57 for reading 16 entrance papers. The local board have never been called on to pay this charge before, and will allow the items to stand until they know the law on the matter.

It was decided not to meet in August hence adjournment was made until early September.

MRS. THOS. HARDY

The sudden death of Arminta Elson, came as a great shock to her many relatives and friends on July 1st. She was the dearly beloved wife of Thomas Hardy, and daughter of the late Phoebe Jane Miller and Hry. Elson, the latter who pre-deceased her two weeks ago. The late Mrs. Hardy was in her fifty-eighth year, she was a kind and loving wife and mother, not only to her own but to every one who knew her, was always willing to lend a helping hand whenever needed. Besides her sorrowing husband left to mourn her loss, are four sons and two daughters. They are Mrs. Howard Pugh (Mildred), of Glen Major; Edgar of Whitby, Walter, Percy and Elwood at home. Also four brothers and three sisters: Sylvester, of Glasgow; John of the 7th concession; Henry, of Toronto, Albert, of Stouffville; Mrs. Morgason, of Stouffville; Mrs. Thompson of Toronto; Mrs. Davis, of the 4th concession; Pickering and eight grandchildren.

PRESENTED WITH GOLD WATCH

On Friday evening July 3rd a highly pleasing event took place at the home in Whitchurch of Mr. and Mrs. George Talbot. It marked the occasion of Mr. Talbot's 73rd birthday. Tea was served on the lawn, the tables being commemorative of the event by the decoration of a big birthday cake, bearing 73 candles, banked by decorations of roses on all sides. During the tea hour Eldon Staley the eldest grandson read a short address to the honored guest while Jean Talbot the eldest granddaughter presented him with a gold watch, a gift from the family. Mr. Talbot was greatly surprised and spoke feelingly on the kindly way in which his family and friends had remembered him. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. Shackleton, Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. Russell of Bedford Park, Mr. and Mrs. Martin of Churchhill, Mr. and Mrs. K. Brown of Lemonville, Harry Woodland of Uxbridge, and Dr. Cockerill of New York.

BAPTIST LAWN SOCIAL

The Ladies' Aid of the Goodwood Baptist church, are holding a lawn social at the home of Dan. Waggoner on Tuesday July 21st. Good program provided for which the talent will include Miss Fallowdown, elocutionist, of Sunderland. A collection will be taken. Everybody come.

GOODWOOD Mr. and Mrs. F. Tomlinson of Henry White's.

Wm. Whittleton has received his new grain separator. Now for business.

Miss Annie Curtis of Rochester, N.Y. spent a day with Mr. and Mrs. Howard Harper.

Floyd McDonald received a nasty bump last week while at work on Uncle Disten's new house. Carrying lumber he fell through the joist, striking his head in the fall on the cement wall. Picked up in an unconscious condition he soon rallied, but was unable to be about some days after the accident.

Rev. Arthur Harden was called back from New Lowell to officiate at the funeral of the late Moses Norton. The Harden family are visiting in the district for a few days.

Decoration Day on Sunday next at Goodwood cemetery at 3 p.m. Rev. Mr. Barry the new United pastor; Clifford Pugh (the prince of Toronto University debaters) and others will speak. Goodwood orchestra will be assisted by talent from Uxbridge and Beaverton.

Mr. and Mrs. F.F. Saunders, Herbert Saunders, Mrs. Taylor and daughter, also Miss Dickson, all of Toronto spent the weekend with Mrs. Joel Nendick. Other recent guests at the old home were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nendick (and of course the Poodles).

On Friday evening a joyous event took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Baker when their four children came together to mark the 30th wedding day of Mr. and Mrs. Baker. It might go without saying that what seemed an all too short evening passed in happy enjoyment.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Dutton and son John motored to Orangeville on Sunday accompanied by Mr. E. M. Still where they spent the afternoon and evening at the latter's summer cottage in Dufferin County. Mrs. Still and son Billie are spending the summer at the cottage.

Mrs. R.V. Hastings and daughter Miss Louise were here from Toronto this week visiting at the home of the former's son Mr. S.W. Hastings. Other guests with Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Hastings were Mr. and Mrs. Vogal who motored from East Orange, New Jersey, a distance of 640 miles, in two days. Mrs. Vogal was here last March to accompany the remains of her deceased mother (Mrs. Robinson) to Cashel cemetery for interment.

STORY OF WESTERN TOWNSHIP CLERK Mennonites

A Graphic Pen Picture of Life Among a Group of New Canadians Now on the Throes of the Conflict Between Orthodox and Modernism.

"In passing down the single street which separates the two long rows of white houses forming the old style Mennonite village, one cannot help but note the striking similarity between these dwellings as they lie huddled among trees and shrubbery, each with its quaint old-fashioned flower garden in the foreground. One is not surprised therefore, on entering the various homes, to find here too a sameness of color and furnishings. But those of us who are better acquainted with the Mennonite know that it is not lack of originality or progressiveness, but his belief in humility and equality that causes him to live in such modest surroundings and keep him on an equal basis with his neighbors.

The original houses were long, low, one storied log structures, with barn adjoining the house by means of a hall or passage. Opening up from this hall, and separating it from the barn, were store rooms where the winter's supply of food and grain was kept. The walls of house and barn alike were whitewashed. A thatched roof and blue shutters on the windows gave them a quaint Dutch effect. Of late, however these buildings have given way to frame houses, shingled and painted white, but otherwise the architecture has remained unchanged.

The houses inside are very plainly furnished. The walls and ceiling are generally whitewashed or painted white or pale blue, and floors bright yellow. The furniture, which is usually homemade, consists of beds, tables, chair, cupboards and benches, and is invariably painted yellow or a wine color, edged with plain black borders. Often good workmanship is displayed, and every boy receives his manual training at home.

The house is usually divided into three or more rooms, of which the kitchen is by far the most important. It is here that many savory dishes are cooked. It is here that the family gathers three times daily to consume its hearty meals, to say nothing of the coffee served every afternoon at four, when not infrequently friends are present, especially on Sundays, to share the zwieback, peppernuts, and jam which are always served with the coffee.

Next comes the living room, spacious large and shining with its freshly painted furniture and floors. If the family is large it may contain a bed, besides chairs, tables, benches, and often a wardrobe. One is struck on entering by the bareness of its walls and curtainless windows. Not a picture or ornament of any kind is used to break the monotony of the large white spaces, but, on enquiring, your host will explain this by quoting, "Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image or likeness of anything." Consequently you find neither pictures, photos nor mirrors in the Mennonite home. If you find a mirror at all, it is a very small one which our host uses for shaving, then turns to the wall lest constant use should foster vanity.

A unique object in every room is its huge brick or clay oven which occupies one corner of the room. It is about four by nine feet, and reaches right up to the ceiling. It is heated from the chimney room by either straw or manure bricks, a huge pile of which are prepared and dried every summer. A long bench placed alongside one of these ovens makes a very cosy seat on a cold winter evening.

Opening up from the living room are several other rooms which are used as sleeping quarters. Each of these rooms contains one or two beds piled several feet high with great feather ticks and pillows encased in cotton print covers. A goodly supply of such bedding is given to every girl at marriage. A chair or two, with perhaps a table, complete the furnishing of the bedroom.

No matter how much wealth a Mennonite accumulates his mode of living remains practically unchanged. But although it is hard to detect signs of wealth among them, abject poverty is unknown.

Mennonite Dress

The dress of these people is supervised as carefully as the building of their homes. The predominant color for both men and women is black. The men wear their coats fastened up closely about the neck in the absence of collars and ties. The women usually wear plain black cashmere or lustre dresses on festive occasions, though on week days they wear browns and dark greens.

THE REVIVAL GROWING

The revival services in the Arena are growing in interest and attendance. The blessing of the Lord has been upon the services from the very beginning. The messages by the Evangelist are sane and scriptural and are reaching hearts.

The Ladies' Quintette is being used of God in bringing messages that are both inspiring and heart searching.

Quite a number have already bowed at the altar of prayer and have obtained definite answer to prayer.

We are trusting God for a great revival. Time is passing rapidly, let all who can attend every service possible.
