During the past couple of weeks of summer-like weather the Tribune has been shown some tempting samples of fresh picked raspberries, but a few days ago Mr. Albert Lehman, the harness maker on Main street, picked from his garden a supply of black raspberries sufficient for a serving at the tea hour. While the red berries are becoming fairly common in small patches, the black variety is something of a rarity.

The narrow culverts so dangerous to traffic on the roadway between Ringwood and Markham on the 8th concession were all widened out last week, so that cars and trucks are no longer in danger of striking the cement sides if they had occasion to pass at the particular point. These culverts were all constructed before the roadway was widened to its present width in the days when traffic was not the problem it is today.

On Sunday afternoon Miss Pearl Styles, teacher in our Continuation School was removed to St. Michael's hospital suffering from typhoid fever. Her condition is said to be very favorable but she will require to be off duty at least a month. The vacancy on the staff is being filled by Miss Duncan of Brandon, Man., a recent graduate of Toronto University. Miss Duncan was in Toronto last week and was secured through Inspector Mills on Sunday so that she arrived here on Monday morning for school opening.

Word was received here this week of the death at Strathcona, Alberta, of Mrs. Benj. Madill, formerly of Stouffville. The deceased will be better known to the people of Stouffville as Mrs. Lloyd, who lived in the east half of Mr. George Urquhart's house on Main street. Her maiden name was Elizabeth Brown and after her marriage to the late Mr. Lloyd they moved to the U.S.A. where they spent long years or until his death. Then Mrs. Lloyd located in Stouffville again, and two years ago last August she married Benj. Madill of Strathcona, formerly of Uxbridge, when the couple soon after went to his western home. Death was due to a stroke and the remains were buried at Strathcona.

The death was announced from Toronto on Sunday last of Mrs. Walter Renfrew which took place at the family residence, 54 Inglewood Drive that evening. The late Mrs. Renfrew with her bereaved husband were residents of Stouffville 25 years ago living in the house now occupied by Dr. Ball at corner of O'Brien Avenue and Main street. Mrs. Renfrew whose maiden name was Elizabeth Miller, sister to our citizen Mr. Robt. Miller, was a woman of very fine qualities, and was highly regarded. Owing to ill health she came to Toronto about a year ago, prior to which Mr. and Mrs. Renfrew lived near Vancouver. Two daughter's survive in addition to the bereaved husband. The funeral on Tuesday afternoon to Stouffville cemetery was attended by many old friends of the family.

No business in any town should allow a newspaper published in his town to go without his name and business being mentioned in its columns, says the American Banker. This applies to all kinds of business or professional men. It does not mean that you should have a whole, half or even a quarter page advertisement in each issue of the paper but your name should be mentioned, if you do not use more than a two line space. A stranger picking up a newspaper should be able to tell what business is represented in the town by looking at the paper. This is the best possible town advertiser. The man who does not advertise his business does an injustice to himself and the town. The life of a town depends upon the live, wide awake and liberal advertising business man.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Kelly and baby of Sunderland, were recent guests with Mrs. Kelly's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Brodie, west of town.

After going about with a painful arm for almost two weeks, Mr. Morley Symes, the Goodwood carpenter, consulted a physician, only to discover that he had a fractured right arm. The Junior Women's Institute will hold their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. O. R. Tranmer on Wednesday October 14th at 2.30 p.m. Roll Call—Who's who and why in Ontario? Address—Rev. E. C. The capacity of the Mennonite church was scarcely able to accommodate the large crowd which gathered to attend the farewell sermon of the pastor Rev. S. S. Shantz on Sunday evening last. A young peoples' meeting opened at 7 when Mrs. Shantz spoke to the audience delivering an appropriate and soul-stirring address on "My Hardest Farewell." When the pastor took charge of the service at 8 o'clock many from other congregations in town had swelled the numbers in the audience, while a few failed to get in at all. Sanctimonious, malangholy faces in the pulpit do not help to win souls, said the pastor in his opening remarks. Ministers are apt to get this way from their daily experiences, but the sadness he encounters is not taken to the pulpit by the tactful minister. During his pastorate here Mr. Shantz said that he had endeavoured to extend his effort to win souls beyond the confines of Stouffville, and he paid a tribute to the church workers who made it possible for him to conduct evangelistic services elsewhere. Much had been done during his four years here, but much more is yet undone he said. He condemned the present day financial structure which permitted suffering all over over the world as we see it. Mergers, millionaires and institutions are amassing great wealth, savings are piling up in the banks, and yet people are starving. Wee unto them that gather wealth and fail to help the needy in these distressing days. The pastor based his remarks on the life of Moses and the patriars. He thanked God for their experiences which are a guide to us, and he aptly pointed out that what made Moses a great man was what he gave up. Your success may be measured by the sacrifice you make for others. Christ, the greatest of all men, made the greatest sacrifice. In the great struggle for souls Pastor Shantz declared that sectarianism sinks into nothing. His chief ambition was to win people for Christ.

Mr. and Mrs. Shantz and family left on Monday for their new charge at Owen Sound.

It was the duty of Janet, the maid, to tie up Jeff, the house dog every night before she retired. One night she failed in her duty, and next morning found Jeff loose. He had played havoc with the contents of the larder. When the mistress heard the news, she inquired: "Has he eaten much Janet?" "Every blessed thing," replied the maid, "except the dog biscuits."

During the heavy rain storm on Wednesday morning this week there was just one heavy crash of lightning, all unexpected, that flashed over the town, striking the residence of Mr. Thos. Williamson and tearing off a few boards as well as damaging the electric lighting system and the radio. The Stouffville Creamery was also struck, with minor damage, while in all parts of the town radios were burned out and telephones put out of commission. The storm did not give any indication of lightning accompanying it, consequently people did not take the precaution to disconnect their radios.
