Brooklin Office Robbed

Walking into the post office at Brooklin village late on Monday afternoon last week and impersonating an "Inspector of Post Offices", a well dressed stranger made a clean getaway with a book of two hundred money orders. The man was driven to Brooklin in a taxi-cab, the driver being Richard Heard of Brooklin, who waited outside while his passenger went into the post office, and then drove him back to Whitby, where he took the train for Toronto.

Entering the post office, the stranger introduced himself to Postmaster S. Rodd by handing him a card marked, "Inspector of Post Offices." He checked over the money orders issued, complimented the postmaster on the excellence of his records, and then said he would have to take the book of money orders to Ottawa with him. There were 200 orders in the book, numbered 4801 to 5000.

After the stranger had gone, the postmaster became suspicious, and telephoned to Toronto only to find that he had been victimized. Notices have been sent to all post offices and banks, informing them of the numbers of the stolen money orders. The bogus inspector is described as being about the average height, about 40 years of age, clean shaven and wearing glasses.

MINNESOTA PLAN URGED FOR CANADIAN FARMERS

Income of Average Farm Raised By $1,679 Per Year in Three States

Canadian farmers and business men may well study the results of the Minnesota Plan, which raised farm income in Minnesota, the Dakotas and Montana by $700,000,000 in eight years, an average of $1,679 per farm, according to Frederick E. Murphy, sponsor of the plan, and publisher of the Minneapolis Tribune, now directing an educational effort from New York to interest the business leaders of the country in agriculture.

"Our particular cure in the North-west was in getting away from dependence upon cash grain, and into dairying, live stock and general farming, obviously, this cannot be the solution in all regions. But the gist of the Minnesota Plan can be applied to Canada as well as the several States where similar plans have recently been launched.

How It Got Under Way

"We started in 1921 by studying the methods used on the 200 most successful farms in each region. Then we urged the spread of those methods to the rest of the farms. Because the farmers were unable to get money, we organized a $10,000,000 loan fund, and the Government promised $100,000,000 extra credit from the War Finance Corporation if we needed it.

"In 1921 Northwestern banks were failing in waves. The fund stopped the failures. Then it financed individual farmers in the purchase of cows, live stock, sheep, and enabled them to shift over from old-style cash crops to farming which paid them income every month through the year.

We loaned the farmer money with the live stock and its increase as our sole security. Yet from the live stock the farmer earned the money to pay off the loan. Fourteen thousand farmers have been helped by loans already. And when the country banks saw the loans were safe they began making them, and thousands of additional farmers were helped over the slump to businesslike farming."

Mr. Murphy, himself operator of a 6,000-acre dairy farm in the Red River Valley, formerly devoted to wheat, specializes in Holstein-Friesian cows and his herd hold world records for production. "One of our first steps in the Northwest," he continues, "was to get the farmers to raise their own food. Thousands of our wheat farms were without cows, pigs and chickens. And they didn't even have a garden. Yet the average grocery bill was $300 a year. That's all changed now.

Eight Years' Results

"In eight years our four States gained 228,000 cows. The rest of the country put together gained only 233,000 cows. We've raised our dairy income 55 per cent. since 1921 until it's a three-hundred-million-dollar income producer. Our cow-sow-hen income hoisted farm profits 71 per cent. since 1921 an average gain of ninety-five million dollars a year. And in 1930, in spite of low farm prices, our farm income held 34 per cent. above 1921.

"Today in spite of grasshoppers and drought in 63 per cent of our area, the farm prosperity of the Northwest has held the whole business tone of the Northwest high. The Federal Reserve Bank survey of retail business the first six months of 1931 shows the Northwest second highest in the nation, and only 2 per cent. behind the leading district centering at Richmond, Virginia. Out of 185,475 farmers in Minnesota last year, only 135 went bankrupt, according to the last year book of the Department of Agriculture and Industrial failures of firms worth $5,000 or more were only 0.96 per cent. in Minnesota, 0.39 per cent. in South Dakota, 0.49 per cent. in North Dakota, as against such figures as 2.24 per cent. for Illinois and 3.70 per cent. for New York.

"What is no longer the index of our prosperity. In Minnesota, known as the bread basket of America, our wheat acreage has been cut down for over four years so that wheat has only yielded one-fourth of what the chicken crop brings in. "The beauty of the Minnesota Plan is that the farmers, instead of being paid unskilled labor's wages, represented by wheat growing, get skilled labor's pay, represented by proper breeding of live stock, scientific farming, and proper marketing. And instead of taking the beating which the varying price of raw crops, such as wheat or cotton involves, they get the relatively steadier and much higher prices for finished products, butter, eggs, meats, fruits, vegetables and general crops.

"Because our farmers own most of their creameries the farmer receives 91 cents out of every dollar paid for wholesale butter. Compare that with the wheat farmer who gets 25 cents out of the bread dollar. "Just having cows, isn't the whole answer. There are 21,000,000 cows in the United States, and if the farmers butchered 7,000,000 of them they'd save $350,000 a year in feed bill alone. Those cows don't earn their keep. Government statistics show that a farmer milking ten scrub cows giving 100 pounds of butterfat a year earns only $135. If he milks one good cow giving 400 pounds of butterfat, that cow earns him $135."

Farmer Gets the Break

"Dairying and scientific farming enrich the soils by natural fertilizers and crop rotation. So even where we still raise wheat and cash crops, we increase our per acre production and cut per bushel costs way down. So the farmer gets the break all around.

"In the Northwest we've seen the results of this plan in the 300 per cent. increase of our market for automobiles, and in increased sales of all manufactured goods. If the business leaders of North America but stop to realize it, this undeveloped purchasing power of our millions of farms offer them much bigger and more important markets than any export trade outside national borders. It's about time the country found the only real road back to prosperity. That road is on the farms of America."

The above article in Saturday's Globe might well be considered by the Parent Industry Conference.

Council Meeting

A three-hour session marked the November meeting of the municipal council on Monday evening. Reeve Morden presided with every member present. The determination of the council earlier in the season to cut short the discussions and to have matters formulated before coming to the Board was somewhat ignored, hence the discussion rambled along without any check, as the members considered various items.

Messrs. Harry Peacock and Ambrose Stover requested a street lamp on the lane at the rear of the stores from Schell's butcher shop to Strong's garage, on the ground that it is more or less a public thoroughfare.

Council through chairman Watts said that a couple of lamps had been shifted in an effort to light the lane better.

The revee said the lane was no darker than some places right on east Main street.

Messrs. George Saunders and Del. Jennings made a request on behalf of the local veterans for permission to sell poppies on Saturday Nov. 7, and also for a grant of $15 for wreaths. Requests granted on motion of Councillors Watts and Weldon.

Unlimited talk took place on the duties of the hydro lineman N. E. Byer, and surprise was evidenced when it was learned there was no written contract under which Mr. Boyer is engaged.

In order to secure a better working agreement a cancellation of present verbal contract was made to take effect Nov. 30, and in the meantime efforts will be made to draft a suitable contract. John Gower came in for consideration also. On motion of Councillors Watts and Dowsell the revee and chairman of committees will meet to draft the proposed agreements for all workmen under contract.

Councillors Rusnell and Weldon introduced a resolution to have all corporation material returned to the store house. It was stated that a great deal of material connected with the water works and other departments is here and there over the town, but when assembled an inventory will be made.
